Luke's Hospital. He was standing at the end of one of the coaches, making some tea, when the crash came, and the next thing he knew he was struggling in the water. How he got there he cannot tell, but surmises that he must have been thrown thru the win-dow. He sustained a severe gash two inches long under his right eye, and was badly shaken up. The blow he received in the derailment of the train stunned him and the cold water brought him to his senses sufficiently for him to get out of the river.

He is resting quietly at St. Luke's Hospital. He was on his way to meet his cousin, John McBride, No. 22 Laly street, Winnipeg.

Another passenger, Mrs. Robert McCallum. received a badly lacerated forearm, while the children came out free from injury, aithe they were hadly free from injury. free from injury, aitho they were badly scared. This woman is from Greenock, Scotland, and was on her way to Calgary to join her husband.

Escaped Thru Window.

Mr. Frank Stafford, storekeeper at Burry's Bay, who was a passenger on the wrecked train from Ottawa, gave a graphic description of what occurred when the ill-fated train was derailed. "I boarded the Winnipeg train at Ottawa at 1.30 at the Central Station, intending to the Penfront I was intending to go to Renfrew. I was seated in the smoker with a number of my friends, and when about four miles out of Ottawa the train gave a series of joits and started to cant in an alarming nnanner. I was flung nearly the length of the car.

"The car was canted to such an extent that I tent that I was unable to make my way out of the door, so I jumped out of the window. In the car with me were a lady with four children and four gentlemen. I shouted to them to get out of the car, because I was afraid that it would topple over. The gentlemen manged to get out all right, but the lady and her children were so frightened that they were unable to help themselves, and I had to assist them in getting from the car.

Searched for Dead Father.
"Two of the bodies of those who were killed were taken from under the car in which I was traveling, and I consider myself lucky that I escaped as I did with a slight injury. When I got out of the car the scenes which met my eyes were heart-rending in the extreme. There was a foreign woman with her two children, who were frantically searching the wrecked train to find their father, who, I learned afterwards, was among those who lost their lives. Then, again, two little children and their mother, all dead were taken from the cars which toppled into the river, and a doctor who was administering to the wounded broke down and cried like a child."

When three tons of earth fell into the excavation for the Dominion Bank at Yonge and King streets about 11.30 last night one man was badly crushed, a dozen others had narrow escapes from being injured and a horse was partly buried. James Ross, an Italian laborer, is in the General Hospital with two broken legs as the result of being knocked down by the landslide. His recovery is doubtful.

The men were working near the site for the north wall at King street, about twenty-five feet below land level. Without any warning whatever level. Without any warning wnatever the massive quantity of earth fell Ross was unable to escape. He was practically buried. The police ambulance rushed him to the General Hospital. The horse was also rescued. It is thought that a sudden shock caused the earth to cave in. the earth to cave incidental Death Without Leaving Seats.

"That Harold Worth came to his death on June 21 by being struck by an eastbound passenger train between Scarboro and Port Union, at about 6.40 in the evening, death being due to internal hemorrhage; the fatality was purely accidental, and no blame is attached to anyone.'

Without leaving their seats Coroner McCullough's jury, enpæneled last evening, to investigate the death of Harold Worth, who was struck and killed by the Grand Trunk passenger train, eastward bound for Belleville, last Saturday, returned the above ver-The general theory that Worth, while in an apparently safe position, was drawn into the train by the suction of the onrushing train was exploded by the evidence of C. P. Grant, brakeman on the freight train which was standing on north track. Brakeman Grant, in response to Crown Attorney Greer's query, pointed out that there is n suction whatever at the engine, and it was the buffer of the engine which struck Worth. His theory was that he simply lost his head in being so close to a fast-moving train, and swayed too far to the south. The passenger train, he estimated, was traveling 30 or 35 miles an hour.

H. Umbach, the man who accompanied Worth on the trip from the camp to the station to get the butter. detailed their course after leaving the camp until the accident.

Fireman Saw Accident. We McTigue, the fireman of the passenger train, was the only man who actually saw Worth struck. He saw the boys separate, but Worth seemed city, will start a week hence from to lean toward the engine, and the Prince Rupert, B.C., accompanied by buffer struck him and knocked him backwards. He could not explain why he should be struck. He thought there was plenty of room for him to stand. The autopsy evidence was to the tains and southern British Columbia effect that death was caused by hemorand who was one of the two women rhage from a ruptured spicen and a ruptured right lung.

Afterwards, he said, he had told the company they would have to give some admission that they would cease operations on the expiry of the club's lease. He admitted that their admission amounted to nothing but a verbal statement that it would be all right.

"In making this contract with the company, calling for the removal of at least 15,000 yards of sand every year, did you realize that it would amount to about 225,000 yards in fifteen years?" asked Mr. McMuster, "I am afraid I did not," replied wit
