TEACHERS STUDY ART AT NORMAL

Two Hundred From Ontario Take Advantage of Daily Classes.

ALL BRANCHES TAUGHT

Painting, Drawing, Clay-Modeling and Stenciling Form Courses.

When Ontario teachers take holidays? The public generally would tell you that the teaching profession starts in to have a long vacation somewhere about the last week in June. Anyone knowing something of the inwardness of things, however, would tell you that quite a number have little or no holidays this year. A change of work may be called such. Just now there are about 200 taking the summer course for teachers' certificates in art at the Ontario College of the Normal School, and next week the number will have increased by another forty, the backward members being no delinquents, but members of the profession, who are and will be for the next few days, hard at work examining papers and who will at the close start to work anew on the five or six weeks' art course.

When a representative of The World took a walk thru the department yesterday, the eight different sections into which the students are divided, were every one quietly but busily engaged. In the first room a class of twenty girls had just risen from long tables upon which stood their blue or yellow specimens of iris, which were evidently the object of their study. A copy in water-colors of the same hung upon the wall, and Mr. Holmes, the instructor, was seated before an easel upon which he was just about to begin work.

The girls surrounded their director, who busily prepared his utensils while he talked.

In addition to mixing plenty of color, have plenty in your brush and have blotting paper in case of an accident.

"If you make a mistake, or think you do, don't go back to do your work over again. Any patching up to be done had better be left until all is dry."

Such was the substance of the lesson one learned in the few minutes spent with this class.

Stenciling occupied another section, working under the direction of Mr. C. Madden, himself a graduate of the college and now an assistant in communication from the minister of militia that the gun had been accepted. The presentation will be made at the annual picnic of the association at Queenston Heights on July 28.

The World, and a bright face looked up for a moment while a somewhat dubious affirmative was given. But the worker had no reason to be ashamed of her attempt, for, considering the lessons had only been in progress three days, the resemblance to a foot was by no means remote. A class engaged in drawing from the antique with the assistance of models was working under Mr. Manley.

Mr. Reid, who for a number of years has been at the head of the school, was giving a lesson in object-drawing, but found time for a few words of praise for the teachers who are taking the various courses in the summer school.

"We have over two hundred here," he said, "and there must be about a thousand altogether in attendance at the kindergarten commercial classes, domestic science and others now going on."

There is a staff of ten engaged in teaching in the art classes. The course lasts about six weeks, the last week being devoted to the examinations which end about Aug. 14, and upon the results of these examinations the holders to teach the subjects taken during the term.

Notes of Women's World

Dreadnought Chapter, I.O.D.E., bandage meeting takes place this morning at 9:30.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a meeting at 594 Jarvis street of the United Empire Loyalist Ladies' Red Cross committee.

The Parkdale Soldiers' Aid are asking for clean old cotton and linen for dressings and ask that they be sent to 102 Jamestown avenue.

The Botanical Gardens, 11 Queen's Park, will be the scene of the garden party this afternoon under the auspices of the Canadian Society for the Protection of Birds.

The treasurer of the Red Cross has received $30 from Norland, Ont. The proceeds of a picnic recently held by the "Young Peoples' Club. Also a cheque for $100 from the Barrie branch of the gift of the baseball team of the Village of Knock.

On Saturday the St. John's Ambulance Society will send fifteen nurses to the front.

They are all outfitted by the Red Cross, the headquarters of which at 77 East King street, has been a busy scene during the past few days when the nurses were being fitted for their uniforms and other equipment.

For the patriotic dance to be held this evening at Hanlan's Point under the auspices of the Sir Henry Bellair Chapter, I.O.D.E., the Solman of the Ferry Company has placed the hall at the disposal of the committee. There will be a special late boat.

The patrons are Mesdames Ambrose Small, H. C. Tomlin, Reginald de Bruin Austin and J. P. Fitzgerald. The proceeds are for the Italian Red Cross and University Base Hospital.

Those who wish to send articles to the fighting men are asked to send socks, colored handkerchiefs, candy, tobacco, to be money to buy. Pull and clear directions are in "Suggestions for Work" in the monthly bulletins, which are supplied free of charge from provincial and local branches or from the Canadian headquarters at "The East," Mrs. Plumptre adds: "We all want to help, but those help most who will work according to the instructions issued by those to whom the recipients of the supplies."

That the employment bureau in connection with the Women's Patriotic League is by no means inactive is shown by the statistics of a late issue. Since opening, which was practically the date of the commencement of hostilities, the bureau has had 2957 registrations, of which 966 were by charwomen. Thru the office 447 have been placed in positions in the city and in out-of-the-districts 147 have been found work. Odd jobs and odd days of work given in the city amount to 1429, and days given in the working room of the number 3866, while in the knitting department 201 women were given employment.

A headline in a long copy book reads, "Obedience is the First Duty of the Soldier." Experience would seem to teach that the soldier who is good in relation to those who are fighting for soldiers. Mrs. Plumptre, the corresponding secretary of the Canadian Red Cross Society, emphasizes this in a circular just issued, in which she asks the assistance of the women workers the need for a certain degree of discipline, even in carrying out the work of patriotism and love, which finds expression in knitting and otherwise laboring for the soldiers.

In the matter of making and packing of supplies, Mrs. Plumptre asserts that a change for the worse has appeared during the past few weeks, due to doubt in the competence of new and inexperienced workers. So necessary is it that everything meant for shipment should be made and packed according to instructions that neglect in either respect in many cases renders the gift of no use. Surgical dressings so-called have been received which have proved of no earthly service and are but a vast waste of valuable material. A stream of colored mitts and tiny Balacava caps fit only for small children" are other things mentioned in the circular. Socks it seems are the only things upon which women should busy themselves in the knitting line, but for these there is and will be an unceasing demand.

MAJOR BECKETT GIVEN A HEARTY SEND-OFF

Mississauga Horse Honor Officer About to Take Up New Duties.

At the weekly drill of the Mississauga Horse at the armories last night, Major Beckett made his last appearance on parade with the regiment prior to taking up his duties as commanding officer of the new infantry battalion, now being organized. This is the fourth time that the strength of the regiment has been depleted in order to make up the quota for an overseas contingent, in addition to numerous smaller drafts from time to time in response to special calls. Up to the date when recruiting commenced for the fourth contingent the regiment had sent on active service nearly three times the strength of its peace establishment, including forty-five officers. Major Beckett referred to some of these matters in a neat farewell speech and as he closed men and officers joined in giving three hearty cheers.

PROFITS ON DRUGS SEEM EXCESSIVE

Fifty Per Cent. Made in One Transaction With Government.

War Contracts Inquiry Will Make Trip to Maritime Provinces.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 8.—At the close of today's sitting of the war contracts inquiry, an adjournment was taken until Monday afternoon, when Major D. A. Thomas, who supervised the purchases of the mechanical equipment of the second contingent will be examined.

The commission will commence an inquiry into the purchase of horses for the first contingent in the maritime provinces.

H. W. Brown, director of military contracts, was examined this afternoon in regard to the purchase of hospital boxes from Brownlee, an Ottawa retail druggist. Mr. Thompson, government counsel, pointed out to witness that Brownlee sold boxes to the department at a much higher figure when he sold direct than when tenders were called for. Witness said that Brownlee's prices were certified to by Justice Davis and Co., who could have filled the job as quickly," remarked counsel.

Mr. Brown did not think so. "Mr. Brownlee was in a position to devote his whole time to the market."

Divergence in Profits.

"The importance of this matter," remarked government counsel, "is that on these boxes Brownlee made a profit of 49 or 50 per cent, whereas when he had to compete in the open market he made only 19 per cent."

Mr. Brownlee, re-called, presented a comparative statement as to the profits on goods he had sold to the government with and without tender. Goods sold without tender amounted in value to $22,808. For these he paid $16,010, making a gross profit, allowing for overhead charges, of 20 per cent and a net profit of 16 per cent.

On tender he sold goods bought for $11,487 to the government for $13,611, making a gross profit of 16 and a net profit of seven per cent.

"To Sir Charles Davidson witness said that he considered he had made a fair profit."

"You will call 49 or 50 per cent. a fair profit?"

"Surely we should take the average," said the witness.

"Yes, on a general business, but in case of this kind the profits on the individual transactions should be considered."

Italian Cruiser Was Sunk Nearly All Aboard Saved

Amalfi, Carrying About Seven Hundred Men, Fell Victim to Austrian Submarine in Adriatic—"Long Live the King," Shouted Crew.

ROME, July 8.—The Italian armored cruiser Amalfi was torpedoed and sunk at dawn Wednesday by an Austrian submarine while taking part in a reconnaissance in the upper Adriatic. The admiralty statement follows: "A reconnaissance in force was accomplished Tuesday night in the upper Adriatic. The Amalfi, which took part in the reconnaissance, was torpedoed at dawn Wednesday morning by an Austrian submarine and soon listed heavily to port.

Nearly All Saved.

"The commander, before giving orders to the crew to jump overboard, cried 'Long Live the King—Long Live Italy.' The entire crew, drawn up along the stern, echoed the shout, giving a remarkable exhibition of courage and discipline.

The commander, who was the last to leave, slipped overboard shortly before the Amalfi sank. Nearly all the officers and crew were saved.

Under Pola Starts.

"The naval general staff was informed that the Austrian fleet attempted to repeat the feat of bombarding the Italian coast by night. The Italian fleet, therefore, advanced in battle formation, with lights out, its cruisers exploring the Dalmatian coast.

"A heavy sea favored the operations of the submarines. In the dim light of dawn the Austrian submarine evaded our destroyers and torpedoed the Amalfi. Italian torpedo boats chased the submarine under the forts of Pola."

Carried 700 Men.

The Amalfi, which was completed in 1908, had a displacement of 3955 tons and was 426 feet long. Her complement in times of peace was 684.

Pola is the Austrian naval stronghold, is situated in the upper Adriatic at the extremity of the Istria Peninsula, about 55 miles southeast of Trieste. It is probable the reconnaissance referred to in the Italian statement was in this section of the Adriatic.

This is the second allied warship to fall a victim to an Austrian underwater craft. The French cruiser Leon Gambetta, having earlier in the war, been caught in the Ionian Sea. It is reported that the loss of the Italian warship is only one of the incidents which must be expected where fleets keep to the sea, blockading enemy ports or protecting commerce.

All the belligerent powers are rapidly building submarines, and it is reported that Austria has nine at Pola serious risks in moving about the waters of the Adriatic, which are well suited for these craft.
