

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

ix

FACING
PAGE

- "What is Wilmot doing with himself these days?" "He went away," said Barbara, her eyes troubled (Double page) 258-259
- He caught her by the wrist, drew her to her feet, and into the room (Double page) 280-281
- "I twisted the truth out of him, and then flung him over a cliff" 290
- "Climb out of that chair, and let me out of this house". 298
- "I've seen that man. I was writing notes in the summer house when he came". 306
- "Read that, father" (Double page) 308-309
- The engineer made generous terms across the dinner-table (Double page) 340-341
- "You will," said Barbara, "when the things dry" . . 342
- They were much amused with Bubbles, who came out to them for Christmas vacation . (Double page) 344-345
- "And when you think," said she, "that some women spend the best years of their lives making statues!" 346