Rugby Gossip.

Dr. W. B. Hendry and W. A. Hewitt have been agreed upon by Varsity and T. A. A. C. as officials for the semifinal Dominion championship game, at Rosedale. on Saturday. The seats for the game wil be the same as in all Varsity games. Each club have been allotted half the grand stand, and the Varsity management will give the season tickets for their games this year the first chance to buy seats, they opening the plan for them at 183 Yonge co-morrow. Of course these ticket holders will only be able to take seats in Varsity's half of the stand, while the plan for the general public will go on sale Thursday. For this game the clubs are going to reserve the automobile section, that is, the places will be numbered and those owning assoline wagons can sesserve whatever section they want, at the usual price, with them paying the usual amount per-occupant on the day of the match. section they want, at the usual price, with them paying the usual amount per-occupant on the day of the match. Up around Hamilton way they had if figured out that Dundas would give Versity a great battle for the right to so into the finals, they overlooking T.A. A. C. altogether in the dope, and for T.A. A. C. to win right in Dundas makes them a pretty strong aggregation, especially when some Hamiltonians have gone on record as saying Dundas was just as good a team as Hamilton. Both Varsity and T. A. A. C. are young and very fast teams, and the game should be about the best exhibition seen at Rosedals this season, that is, so far as speed, kicking and tackling are concerned.

Parkdale Canoe Club will practice to-night at 7.30 on the Brock-avenue grounds. The Paddlers will play their return game Saturday with Hamilton Alerts on Varsity field.

THE THIRD DEGREE Gruesome Attempt to Extort Confes sion From a Negro.

ASBURY PARK, N.J., Nov. 14.—Thomas Williams, the negro arrested following the discovery of little Marie Smith's mutilated body in a clump of woods yesterday, withstood a gruesome third-degree test this evening. Police Chief Smith, who had earlier had a long talk with the prisoner, inclines to believe him innocent. In an attempt to wring a confession from the prisoner the child's body, mutilated and still clothed in the blood-stained garments, was brought into the jail corridor this evening. The black was led forth and halted beside it.

Stepping close to the shrunken figure, Williams gazed at it a moment, then said firmly: "I swear to God I did not harm the girl. I had nothing to do with it."

"Get down and look into her eyes and say that," he was commanded. Williams leaned forward until he was gazing straight into the dead eyes. His gaze did not waver, and he exclaimed: "God is my witness that I did not kill this girl. I did not touch her. I did not harm her. I do not know who did."

Again and again he repeated this while his leand lay on the body. Then he added: "I thank God I can say I did not do it. I am sorry for her and sorry for her family, but I had nothing to do with this."

SCENE OF YESTERDAY'S SHOOTING IN EAST KING-STREET.

Negotiating for the T.E.L. Co.

The Toronto Electric Light Co. must expect to deal with the city in a businesslike way, especially since it rejected the overtures of two years ago. The company must not expect the city to pay cash for the watered stock, for the effete plant, for the new plant built at inflated prices, four, five and six times what were justifiable.

According to the costs that the city has figured in its recent expenditures, the plant of the Toronto Electric Light Co. could be replaced with a better plant, modern in every respect, and far more economical in use, for a million dollars. The company's proposals and ambitions soar so far beyond this amount that the city has no option about being brutal.

The agreement with the Electrical Development Co. need be no bugbear to the city. The Toronto Electric Light Co. is welcome to it. Whatever the price agreed upon, it is higher than the rate which the city gets from the Hydro-Electric Commission. At present that rate is $18.10, but as soon as the Windsor power proposals are consummated power can be delivered in Toronto, and will be delivered, under $16. The cost of distribution by the company is double that of the city's cost. And the company must pay dividends while the city is only con-cost. And the company must pay dividends while the city is only concerned to supply its customers at cost.

It has been proposed to pay $135 for the 40,000 shares of the company, or $5,400,000. Mr. Blain wants $160, or $6,400,000. At $80 the shares would be worth $3,200,000, and this is double their worth and more to the city. It almost looks as the the Electric Light Co. and its admirers wished to load up the city so that the plan of selling power at cost to the people would be nullified by the heavy capital charges placed against it without any possible return.

The city, at the outside, could afford to pay $2,500,000 for the plant and goodwill. It could scrap the plant, which will have to be done in any case, and put the goodwill in the profit and loss account, and consider a bad debt disposed of, but the people ought to be considered in the matter, and there is not a business man in the city who would content to a similar transaction in his own affairs.

would consent to a similar transaction in his own affairs.

In carrying on the negotiations with the company the mayor and controllers and the other officials, engineers, lawyers and experts must remember that power for the people at cost is the city's aim. There can be no possible excuse for loading up the city power scheme with a worthless plant at an impossible price, when the company and its sup-porters assure the public that they are not afraid of competition. When they come asking charity from the city, the city may be disposed to be charitable, but if it is to be a cold business deal, with legal suits and all sorts of expensive litigation, then the city can best afford to go along with its own capable and comparatively inexpensive plant and deliver power at cost to the people.

SECOND WARD CITIZENS ENDORSE THE VIADUCTS

Largely Attended Meeting Shows Its Sympathy With the Bloor-Danforth Proposal,

Two meetings last night, one over the Don in the First Ward, and one in the Second Ward on this side, agreed to work together for a combined viaduct bylaw, giving the main viaduct on Bloor-Danforth and a projection south to Parliament-street. The general feeling was that the improvement was absolutely necessary for the expansion of the city to the east.

The meeting in the Second Ward in Prospect Hall was large and enthusiastic.

The chair was occupied by Ald.

Prospect Hall was large and enthusiastic.

The chair was occupied by Ald. Rowland, who outlined various plans brought before the city council to open up the northeast section of the city over the Don. The Bloor-street viaduct was the most feasible and economical solution.

"If what The Globe says is true," said W. F. Maclean, "that I am working for this project with a personal interest in view, and in order that I may make myself rich by the increased value of my property, which is five miles away, how much more to your advantage would it be to you, who are in the immediate vicinity? But I am not promoting this public benefit with any such selfish idea. I have studied the situation, and am firmly of the opinion that wherever you bridge the Don you are bringing success."

Great benefit had been derived from the bridges over the Don at Queen and Gerrard-streets. Queen-street was the first concession line in Toronto, and Bloor-street the next.

Original Concession Line.

"There is not one man in a thousand, who is opposing this proposition, that knows that Bloor and Danforth constituted the original concession line," said Mr. Maclean: "I have allways been a strong supporter of the hydro-electric policy, and the two constituted the original concession line." said Mr. Maclean. "I have always been a strong supporter of the hydro-electric policy, and the two papers that raised the strongest objection to that movement are the two papers that are back of all the opposition that is being raised against this Bloor-street viaduct."

A great manufacturing centre had developed a Toronto of late years and the city and been expanding rapidly. In such that it might be allowed to grow athle further, he believed that such an outlet as the viaduct would provide should be located at this place. In the next ten years Bloor-street would be the centre of the city, and there would be as many business firms locating on Bioor-street as there are now on Queen. He spoke of Rosedale as the inglenook of the residential district of Toronto, and pointed a convincing finger at the viaduct across the Rosedale ravine as the prime eause of such a desirable affect.

Will increase Values.

"The property here in the Second Ward," he continued, "that has for so many years been stagnant, will be vivified the minute the people from and Yorkville without murmuring. The way to go about getting this much desired improvement was to lay the situation fairly before their friends in the west end of the city.

Mr. Maclean recalled his efforts in getting Sunday cars for Toronto, and how it had only been after three elections that the end had been achieved. He believed that if the same continued efforts were made in the interests of the viaduct, there was little doubt of the eventual result.

the viaduct, there was noted that the viaduct, there was not that he had controller Church said that he had always been a supporter of the east end of the city. He lamented that we had not, like many European cities, jurisdiction over towns and villages within three miles of the city.

Railways Show Faith.

Railways Show Faith.

"When the viaduct, proposition was up before," he said. "it was loaded up with other issues. Otherwise, I believe it would have carried. Jarvis-street is dead because it has no outlet. This is not an improvement for the cest and is not an improvement for the east end alone, but with an outlet north and south, such as the extension of Parliasouth, such as the extension of Parliament-street would afford, it would be of general benefit. The railways realize that this is to be an important part of the city and will likely put viaducts in this district. They know what they are doing in their own best interest. Thomas Mounce claimed that the plans submitted by Engineer Rust were wrong, and that his estimate of $280,000 for the extension of Parliament-street horth to meet the viaduct was too high.

was too high. Various suggestions were made by others. Some were in favor of the viaduct starting at Wellesley and others at Winchester-street. Speeches were also made by R. M. Yeomans, Joseph Johnston, ex-Ald. Davies, Frank C. Bruce, James Greer and James Brown.

Endorse the Combination.

A resolution endorsing the works eximittee in combining the viaduct bylaws was unanimously carried. A deputation of the business men of the district will go before the board of centrol to-morrow morning when the others. Some were in favor of the via-
