Guess Wetzel is glad to get his team away from London. The Saginaw play-ers didn't have much success here, and as a result of their two-day visit their

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

[Hamilton Spectator.]
The Fourth of July fuss at Toledo meant considerable to William Stroud of this city. "Billy" did not have a cent bet on the big fight, but he purchased a green pacer a few days before, and came to find out the pacer was registered un... ar the name of Jess Willard. The horse started for Willard. The horse started for the first time in a mile race at Port Huron a few days before the fight and made a very good showing in the 2:24 class, getting as close up as fourth in the second heat. Jess Willard is a dark brown colt, and was purchased from a Dresden horseman, but now that Jess is no longer a champion, Mr. Stroud figures that the name might be a "Jonah."

The Hams have signed up "Hick" Ferrell, who deserted the Bay City club. Bay City has apparently waived all claim to him, and Shaughnessy was quick to grab him. Ferrell has a good arm, but they say his head isn't worth much due to pitch, while Scott is also in line

Yim, the Chinese ball player, has been released by the Bay City club. The new Bay City manager is making a clean sweep and shaking up the team a lot. He has signed up a new shortstop named Shaw. Grodick, formerly with London, is playing right field in Yim's place.

Lotshaw gets a home run every day at Brantford. Guess he wishes every ball park in the league had a short right field fence. He put one into the river yesterday, and the splash was so great the umps nearly called the game on account of rain

BEAVERS AND WOLVES PLAY LONG AND HARD

KITCHENER, July 9 .- The Kitchener Beavers and the Bay City Wolves played baseball for four hours and thirty-five minutes this afternoon, with ten minutes' intermission between the two games. The Beavers won the first by 6 to 3, the visitors scoring only 7 hits off Chaple. Wheeler was hit in bunches by the Beavers, who kept safe distance from their opponents in scoring runs. The second game was called at the end of the ninth on account of darkness. Both teams started off with new pitchers, Kitchener trying out O'Rourke, who lasted for five innings and was replaced by Ross, and the Wolves tried out Campbell, who only lasted part of the first inning, and Cook relieved him. Bay City came from behind and tied the score in their half of the sixth, and gained a lead of one he two games. The Beavers won the of the sixth, and gained a lead of run in the seventh. Kitchener t up again. No runs were scored by either team in two extra innings. Scores of the games;
