LIKE THE GREAT "NANA CHRISTIE"

Another big drama of sells and sacrifice. And the sea that lashes at the faith of the girl who waits and the man who wanders. Made by Edwin Carewe, who directed "My Son." Adapted by Lois Leeson from Willard Robertson's famous play, "The Sea Woman."

As big as the seven seas, as surging as the currents that sway the tides of human emotions.

REGINALD DENNY

"WHERE WAS I?"

"A racy, amusing comedy, action, speed, much excitement."—N. Y. Daily Mirror.

"Good for a row of laughs. Fast, bright, gay comedy."—N. Y. Sun.

"Moves rapidly. Many funny situations. Amusing, interesting and well produced."—N. Y. Morning Telegraph.

"Denny is an artist. One of the screen's best comedy bets" N. Y. Evening World

And that's what all the New York critics said when this mirthquake hit Broadway. Audiences rocked with laughter at Denny's farcical troubles with a fiancée and a would-be-wife. It is a brilliantly funny picture that will keep you in continual merriment.
