EVELYN.

Dec. 27.—The Christmas tree entertainment in connection with the 7th line Methodist church was held Thursday evening, Dec. 21st. Despite the fact that the weather was very disagreeable quite a large representation of the children and parents were present. On account of very disagreeable quite a large representation of the children and parents were present. On account of the absence of Mr. Livingston of London, who was expected to give a good part of the evening's programme, local talent were called upon forming quite an interesting impromptu entertainment.

Old Santa was in excellent voice and spirits and soon had the beautifu ltree dismantled and the children's rejoleing.

A meeting in the interests of "local option" was held in the same place on Wednesday evening. Able and interesting addresses were denivered by Messrs. Brown and Gleason of Lakeside, and others. Both sides of the matter were afterwards ably discussed, the general opinion being to abolish the bar-room.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldershaw of London spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Williamson.

Master Harold George is spending the holiday season with relatives on the 12th line, E. Nissouri.

The schools in this vicinity closed on Friday Dec. 22nd. The scholars in Evelyn school were treated to a talfy pull in the afternoon which was enjoyed immensely by all who were present.

many kindnesses shown her. She was pleajed to note the interest of the parents in her work, and felt assured of their hearty good-will, which she hoped would be continued throughout the coming year, for which she had been re-engaged. Santa Claus was then ushered in and presented the children and guests with the oranges and candies provided by the teacher. After a little time spent in social intercourse, the company dispersed all voting that the entertainment had been a marked success.

FOLDEN'S.

Dec. 26.—A Happy New Year in prospect.

The spirit of genuineness born of good endeavor, daunted not at the wrecking winds of adversity; nor could a dark night and howling elements prevent the patriots of the oterie of home students from gathering at their appointed meeting place, Mr. L. Bodwell's, on Friday night last. The object of the meeting beyond that of social intercourse, was the presentation and farewell to Miss Addy, one of our esteemed and foremost members. She resigns her position as teacher at S.S. No. 3, Dereham, and relinquishes her thoroughly appreciated membership of our society to accept similar connections at Lethbridge, Alberta. In token of our high respect we asked Miss Addy to carry away with her a Bible and beautiful opal ring as emblems of our good wishes for her future success. As we close in to fill up the repeated gap in our circle our thoughts follow those who have gone forth on their life's work to other parts of the world, and we sincerely hope that the happy memories and pleasant haurs of study we have spent together may not be in vain. And to all literary workers who are endeavoring to form like societies to our own, of whom we are pleased to know there are not a few, we extend our greatings, also our friendly sympathy, in their noble efforts, which may not always be attended with brightest skies, but nevertheless a step in the right direction.

The Methodist Sunday school entertainment was remarkably well attended for such an unlucky night as Dec. 22nd. The chief feature of the programme was a delightfully rendered stage performance in which Santa Claus figured up very prominently. The report of the year's work was very satisfactory, showing an encouraging degree of progress on previous years.

But just say "oyster supper" and your finish will be fujious, as far as the crowd is concerned. The annual Baptist oyster supper and Christmas tree Tuesday evening, did not prove to be a fact. The people of the programme, chosen from Ingersoll, Beachville, Sweaborg, and our own village, w and hope to hear soon of her speedy recovery.

Christmas festivities are the order of the day. Enjoyment should be evenly divided; those who remain at home may watch the other, drive by. It's all in the mind.
M. M. Wilson and sister, Mrs. (Dr.) McKay, will spend New Year's with their sister, Beatrice at Toronto.
Mr. Clark Almas of Toronto is the guest of his parents for the holidays. Be business-like and ask for your money's worth of good roads before you promise your vote for Monday next.
As the New Year's bells are ringing these glowing lines repeat:
