SGT. MAJOR STRECHAN IS NOW MEDAL MAN

Honored With Distinguished
Conduct Medal—Wounded
While Carrying Wounded
Officer To Place of Safety.

Mrs. J. Erickson, of 179 Britain St., has been advised that her son, SGT. Major James Strachan, had been slightly wounded and has been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal for gallantry on the field of battle.

He was struck by shrapnel while carrying a wounded officer of his battalion to a place of safety through a region swept with shot and shell, and it is believed that his action in risking his life to save that of his officer is responsible for the decoration.

Sergeant Major Strachan comes of a military family. His father, Sergeant James Strachan, of the 42nd Black Watch, saw twenty-five years' service with the Imperial forces, fighting through the Boer War and other campaigns during his long period of service.

When the Canadian government took over the garrison at Halifax, late SGT. Strachan, who was stationed there at the time, came with his family to St. John. Through a series of fate, a man who had seen so much service and passed unscathed through such perils, lost his life while engaged in the peaceful occupation of a pulp mill employee, by being drowned in the reversing falls six years ago.

When the great war broke out, James Strachan, the eldest son, was working as a chauffeur in Boston. He returned to St. John to join the overseas forces, and enlisted with the 104th Battalion.

A younger brother, Alexander, 19 years of age, is with the C. E. F. in England, and the next boy, only 16 years old, already has seen two years' service in the British navy and now is engaged in the dangerous patrol service.

Mrs. Erickson's second husband also is overseas. He enlisted here with the 236th MacLean Kilties and was transferred on the other side to another Canadian killed battalion.

GOVERNMENT MEETS.
Fredericton, Oct. 2.—The Government met here tonight. Among the business on the programme is the coming visit of the Duke of Devonshire.

Boston Ship Avon Joins Her
Mate, the Timandra.

Boston, Oct. 2.—The Boston ship, Avon, with a crew of sixteen, long overdue on a passage from New York to Buenos Ayres, with case oil, has been given up as lost. The conditions surrounding the disappearance of the Avon are almost identical with the disappearance of the Boston ship, Timandra, which was lost while on a voyage from Norfolk to Buenos Ayres two years ago. No tidings were received from either vessel after they passed the Virginia Capes. Both ships were owned by the Export Lumber Company, and were worth $200,000 each.

TENTH ANNUAL BENCH SHOW BEST HEED IN PROVINCE

Crowds Were Delighted in St. Andrew's Rink
Yesterday—Large Number of Dogs Entered and Quality Is Better Than Previous Years—
Local Dogs Defeat Entries From Upper Canada Kennels.

The tenth and best show yet held under the auspices of the New Brunswick Kennel Club opened yesterday afternoon in St. Andrew's Rink. The show is the best both from the number of dogs entered and the quality of the animals exhibited. The local dogs have shown especially well and in many cases have beaten entries from famous Upper Canadian kennels. In the pointer class more dogs and better stock are shown this year than ever before. In point of numbers the Alredales take the place and some show great quality. Cocker Spaniels and English Bulls are present in large numbers. The wire-haired terriers are few in number, but the quality is better than the average. The Scotch Terriers have the largest number of entries of any show yet and some splendid specimens of this breed are shown.

Among the local men who did well in the judging yesterday might be mentioned James Laidlaw, with his pointer "Princess Patricia," who captured four firsts and winners; J. W. Cameron, who took three firsts and winners with his Collie "Ormskirk Squire"; W. H. Golding, who won two firsts and winners in the St. Bernard class with "Barney"; and G. B. Taylor, who cleaned up in the Irish Setter class with "Barney II."

Several complaints were made by spectators last evening regarding the absence of dogs from their kennels. One lover of dogs said: "I came here to see all the dogs, and particularly the prize-winners. Tonight I went to kennel after kennel, only to find the dogs empty, and dogs being led around the floor. Over many of the kennels were tickets denoting the prizes won, but as the kennels were empty I had no chance to tell what the prize-winning dog looks like. I am unable to be down in the morning and afternoon to see the judging, therefore I so expecting to see all the dogs, except those being judged, in their kennels. The Kennel Club allows certain holders for dogs to be exercised, and these should be adhered to, in the interest of the club, the exhibitors and the spectators."

The Standard asked Judge C. H. Davis how the dogs behaved and showed up, and he complimented the Club on the excellence of the stock. "It is much better than I expected to find," was the way he expressed himself. Judging will be resumed this morning at ten o'clock when the trophies, with the exception of Boston, will be in the ring. The Irish Terriers will be the first class called. Judging will be continued during the afternoon, and in the evening the special classes will be judged and the prizes presented to the winners. Following is the result of yesterday's judging:

GALLANT DEED OF LIEUT. T. M. BELL

Decorated With the Military Cross—Killed Fifteen Germans, Captured One and Drove Remainder Into British Barrage.

A despatch on the press wire yesterday told of the gallant deed of Lieut. Thomas Moffett Bell while in action. He has been decorated for bravery during raids, and the cablegram states that he killed fifteen Germans, captured one, and drove the remainder into the British barrage.

Lieutenant Bell, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bell of St. John and who has graduated from the Rothesay Collegiate School and entered upon his studies in King's University at Windsor, N. S., when war was declared. He lost little time in returning home to enlist and promptly enrolled in November, 1914, with the now famous Fighting 26th Battalion, in which he was assigned to the signal section. In order to be with Jack Brook of Rothesay, an intimate friend, who since then has given his life on the battlefield, he transferred to the C. A. S. C. and left St. John with that unit in April, 1916. While in England he secured his commission but, moved by a desire to get into the real fighting, sought his transfer to the infantry. When this went through and after a period of training in England, he went to France as a subaltern in the 25th Nova Scotia battalion. He received a shrapnel wound in the shoulder at Passchendaele but remained on duty.

It was at the beginning of last August that the raid in which he so distinguished himself occurred and in which he won the military cross. He was given leave, already overdue, and left for England on August 7. The first news that he received on his arrival was of the part his battalion had taken in the beginning of the big drive when his unit bore its full share of the fighting and paid the price in heavy losses of officers and men. Cutting short his holiday, he returned to the firing line and only a few days later was wounded with shrapnel in the chin, which necessitated his removal to a base hospital. Dr. Stannum Bridges, son of Dr. H. S. Bridges of this city, and who went overseas with a Harvard medical unit, happened to be attached to the staff of a nearby hospital and soon came across Lieutenant Bell, who had been his pupil while he was acting as instructor at the Rothesay College a few years ago. In a reassuring letter to Lieutenant Bell's mother, Captain Bridges says the wound is slight and has nearly healed.

Lieutenant Bell enlisted when barely of military age and is now but twenty-two years of age. His sister, Miss Katherine, also is overseas, having devoted the last two years to voluntary work with the Soldiers' Field Comforts Commission in England.

SERIOUS TROUBLE AT OMSK, RUSSIA

Minister Refused To Resign From Cabinet and is Shot To Death.

Vladivostok, Sunday, Sept. 22. (By The Associated Press).—Serious trouble has occurred at Omsk between the cabinet recent organized there a job or leaders. An attempt was made under the leadership of Minister of War Michaelov to force a resignation of the cabinet. The Duma was then declared dissolved by the administrative council which had been organized by Michaelov to succeed the cabinet. The members of the Duma refused to dissolve that body and declared the administrative council abolished. They released the ministers who had been arrested and imprisoned Minister Michaelov. Democratic organizations in Omsk and Tomsk are supporting the cabinet.

During the trouble Minister Novikoff refused to resign and was shot to death.
