Interest is Challenged by a Question—Daily Problems for Standard Readers.

Answers to Wednesday's Questions.

1. Published records of the debates of the Dominion Parliament so called because the debates of the British Parliament were originally published by the Messrs. Hansard.

2. "To have the floor" is to be recognized by the presiding officer and thus have the right to speak or address the meeting. When a speaker who has the floor gives way to another speaker, thus forfeiting his own right, he is said "to yield the floor."

3. A debate is the orderly, dignified discussion that may take place on any question before the meeting.

4. A unanimous vote is a vote without one dissenting voice. It is sometimes stated that a certain member withdrew his name in order to let another member's election be unanimous or by acclamation. This is unparliamentary. You cannot take away one member's vote and give it to another, even if this vote is cast in your favor. You may decline it but you cannot transfer it. In a case like this a subsequent motion may be made to make an election unanimous.

5. A delegate is a member of a society appointed to represent it at some specified gathering.

6. The salary paid to a member of parliament is called an indemnity, which means an allowance or compensation.

7. An Attorney-General is an official whose duty it is to represent the King in legal cases where the rights of the crown are involved. Usually the attorney-general is a member of the provincial cabinet.

8. The Attorney-General of the Province of New Brunswick is the Hon. J. P. Byrne, Bathurst.

Today's Questions.

1. In forming a cabinet, what are the initial steps of the Premier?

2. What is required of a member of Parliament who is asked to enter the cabinet?

3. Is it always a member of Parliament who receives an invitation to enter the cabinet?

4. What is a quorum?

5. Can you name six of the many exemptions from municipal taxation?

6. What New Brunswick man has been called to a cabinet very lately and what department will be his charge?

Study problem. Should juvenile courts, presided over by women as well as men, be established in every town and city?

Cleaning Brass.

Our Travelling Salesmen Enjoy Selling Red Rose Orange Pekoe Tea

Travelling salesmen work very hard as a rule. They put in long hours, and the pleasure of travelling is not so great as to those of us who mostly live at home.

Naturally, therefore, these men must get a great deal of their pleasure and satisfaction from their work—they like to sell the finest of products and represent a good "house."

Our travelling salesmen are exceedingly critical of the products which they are asked to sell, and when we told them last January that we wanted them to sell a new tea of extra quality—much finer than has usually been sold in Canada—they were keenly interested, put the new tea to many tests amongst their friends, and gave it a lot of time and thought.

Having convinced themselves of the extra fine quality of Red Rose Orange Pekoe Tea, they started on their trips full of enthusiasm.

Their satisfaction, however, has been much greater on their later trips, because of the splendid renewal orders which are following their first sales.

Like good merchants, our salesmen enjoy selling the very finest tea—Red Rose Orange Pekoe.

Try the tea which has met with so much success.

What Would You Do?

Ten-to-one, you too would use Zam-Buk! Every day mishaps by the score, and most forms of skin and scalp disease are "doctored" quickly and efficiently at home by this highly concentrated herbal balm. Zam-Buk's rapid antiseptic healing and wonderful soothing and pain-killing power has been a world revelation.

Here's evidence from Canadian homes:

SCALDED FOOT. Mrs. Small, 274, Harbour Avenue, Elmwood, Moncton, writes: "A man of boiling water upset over my foot. The blisters scalded raw and bled freely. When my husband applied Zam-Buk, it soothed the inflamed surface, speedily and surely Zam-Buk brought perfect healing."

GASHED HAND. Mr. Austin, 104, York St., St. John, writes: "I gashed my hand severely in the kitchen. My wound was infected. I treated it with Zam-Buk. The great herbal balm worked a complete cure. I am putting it on my wife's hands."

CHILDREN'S ECZEMA. Mr. W. D. Love, 11, Kent Street, Central Falls, U.S.A., writes: "My children had dreadful eczema on the face and scalp. We used Zam-Buk. The eczema disappeared and the children were cured. I continued treatment balmed every part of their bodies."

ORN FINGER. Mrs. J. Randall, of Silver Street, St. John, writes: "My daughter tore the top of her finger in the washing machine. As we are right-handed from the doctor. I could not sleep. I used Zam-Buk. The wound healed and the finger was saved."

SCALDING. Mr. D. J. Shaw, Belfast, N.B., writes: "I had a bad scalding on my leg. I used Zam-Buk. The scalding healed and the leg was saved."

QUEBEC PREMIER'S DAUGHTER MARRIED

Miss Gabrielle Taschereau and Captain Cortland Fages Wed by Cardinal Begin.

Quebec, Oct. 20.—The most important social event of the present year took place here this morning, when the daughter of the Premier of Quebec, Miss Gabrielle Taschereau, was married to Captain Cortland Fages, son of Brigadier-General Fages, former commander of the Fifth Military District.

The nuptial ceremony was performed by His Eminence Cardinal Begin in the chapel of the Franciscans on Grande Allée, and was attended by the elite of the society of the ancient capital.

After the ceremony, a breakfast was given to the close relatives and members of the two families at the residence of the Premier, and later the newly-married couple left for their honeymoon, which they will spend at Lake Huron and Atlantic City. On their return they will reside in this city.

Reflections of A Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

The old-fashioned marriage was a heart-ache, the modern marriage is fast becoming a labor-ache.

Lo, two pay-envelopes blossom, where there used to be only one! "I'll clean your safety razor, if you'll hook my frocks," is no longer the slogan of domestic reciprocity.

"I'll turn the typewriter down-town and help you with the meals," there used to be two kinds of feminine hands; those that "rocked the cradle" and did all the cooking—and those that wore diamonds and got all the kissing.

Nowadays, "the hand that rocks the cradle" also drives the fire-irons, kalamines the kitchen, plants the garden, and sometimes brings home a pay-envelope.

And the hand that wears diamonds probably runs a tea-room or a dressmaking establishment.

At present, there are three varieties of wives. Those who cook seven breakfasts a week for their husbands; those who meet their husbands at breakfast, now and then, when they have the time; And those who lie a-bed and let their husbands bring their breakfasts to them.

Most wives, who insist prettily on breakfasting with their husbands every day, could get the same thrilling effect, by standing the newspaper against the opposite side of the coffee-pot and carrying on an animated dialogue with the P.M. edition. Woodwork!

And as for the man—breakfast-a-tout, seven times a week, MAY be his ideal of marital bliss.

But we suspect that, if it's "the empty-chair across the dinner table" that drives many a man into matrimony, it's the cheerless full of early-morning peevishness across the breakfast table, that drives many a one out of it, again.

The "fifty-fifty marriage" is fast becoming the ideal marriage. But it is not running on oiled wheels yet. It is merely creaking along, hopefully, with many joints, jars, and surprises.

It will be a complete and dazzling success, on that bright day, when men are willing to admit that if a woman is good enough to do a man's work, a man is not too good to do a woman's work. Hand him the dish-towel, Susanne!

Nowadays, the marriage service should read, "Love, honor and HUSTLE!"

WAR MEDAL FOR FAMOUS ACTRESS

Montreal, Oct. 20.—Henry V. Esmond, noted British dramatist, arrived at Quebec today on the liner Victorian from Liverpool. Mr. Esmond was accompanied by his wife, Miss Eva Moore, who received word on landing that the King of the Belgians had awarded her the Queen Elizabeth medal for war work. Mr. and Mrs. Esmond will make a tour of the Dominion in a series of Mr. Esmond's plays.

To Slip a Plant.

To grow a house-plant from a slip, take a half-ripe branch and cut a slip three inches long. After taking off all the leaves except the upper two, plant it in wet sand, exposing only half of the slip. The sand should be kept moist. When the roots begin to grow, transplant the slip into a pot with ordinary soil. Plants such as oleander and ivy will root in water.

Stage People Go To Church

Theatrical Broadway presents the idea that actors and actresses are pagan folk. "There are quite as many players who are conscientious Christians as you will find in any other walk of life," said George M. Colman, actor and playwright, who himself was the first president of the Catholic Actors' Guild. Other active members of this guild are Wilton Lackaye, Fritz Williams, Brandon Thomas, and Edmund Corrihan. All the Barrymores are Roman Catholics which faith embraces the attention, also Marie Cahill, William J. Kelley, Andrew Mack, Jane Grey and Eleanor Robertson who married August Belmont, Sr. Hartley Manners, the playwright was educated for the priesthood. His wife, Laurette Taylor, is a church-goer. Otis Skinner is the son of a minister. Mary Anderson was educated in a convent and was always intensely religious. Al Johnson is the son of a Rabbi. Others of the Jewish faith who try to live up to its tenants are Joe Weber, Lew Fields, Sam Bernard and Bertha Kalish. Irving Berlin, the songwriter also worships of a rabbi.

In the Christian science fold we find many thespians. Lillian Russell is one of these. Others who are followers of Mrs. Eddy are Ruth St. Denis, Francis X. Bushman and his wife, Beverly Bayne, Madge Kennedy, Milton Sills, the screen artist, William Farnum, Chik Sales, Johnny Hyams and Lella McIntyre. Nora Baye when ill some years ago came back, she says through "Science and Health" there are many who don't exactly profess the faith but claim to be giving it full attention.

Bright Clothes To Please Men

Prof. Hill Declares Love of Dress is Way Males Are "Captured."

(Special Correspondence of Cross-Atlantic News Service.)

London, Oct. 20.—"The flaming garb worn by women now are designed, perhaps instinctively, to attract the notice of the male sex."

This is the opinion of Prof. Leonard Hill, who has just published his book, "Science of Ventilation and Open-Air Treatment."

Just as the bower bird picks up every bright thing to form a bower for his lady, women decorate themselves with bright colored clothes to please the men. Red particularly excites the emotions; lips are red and cheeks are red.

In dressing with the object of winning husbands or wives we follow the instinct of all animals. But it is possible to combine beauty of dress with perfect hygienic qualities. The great error is lack of ventilation.

Like Light Clothes.

Prof. Hill says that clothes should let as light as possible, permeable to air, allowing free evaporation, and not clinging to skin when wet. For this cellular material is the best.

At a temperature of 59 degrees we should wear summer clothing; at 50 degrees summer clothing plus a light overcoat; at freezing temperature winter clothing, thick undergarments, and an overcoat; and when the thermometer is 10 or 5 degrees below freezing a fur overcoat.

Coolness without chilliness is what we should aim at for the highest of health. A man in sedentary employment is constantly trying to remove himself from the influence of cold, and his daily life is practically under the influence of a tropical climate.

Prof. Hill considers that in neck-wear women are more hygienic than men.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITORS MET

F. G. Spencer Elected President, and W. C. McKay, Secretary-Treasurer.

At the fifth annual convention of Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of the Maritime Provinces held in Halifax yesterday, F. G. Spencer, St. John, was president; H. R. Walker, Miramichi, vice president; W. C. McKay, St. John, secretary-treasurer; W. O. Fenety of Fredericton was chosen vice president for New Brunswick; and J. S. Salway, Miramichi, Nova Scotia, and C. F. Gaudet, vice president for Prince Edward Island.

A great amount of business was transacted and the session is said to have been the best yet held by the league.

FASHIONS FROM THE FOOTLIGHTS

The charm of simplicity was demonstrated by Miss Marie Lohr, in "Every Woman's Privilege," which was produced at the Globe Theatre, says the Daily Mail.

Miss Lohr tripped on in the first act looking "sweet seventeen" in a shell-pink crepe de Chine, with insertion of point de venise, and a wide, soft, of clear ribbon of a deeper shade. Later she appeared in a dinner gown of ivory Spanish lace, with Greek drapery, and a ruffled collar. Her hair was to feet. Diamante dewdrops gave a delightful touch to the flowers.

In the last act she appeared in a semi-direclore frock of natter blue. The skirt was of blue and white striped silk, accordion pleated, the cross-over bodice being all blue, with shirred white facings. A little husar cape of natter blue cloth, and a smart little hat with brim of the same striped silk and crown of blue lace, surmounted by a cockade, made Miss Lohr the embodiment of girlish charm.

What Secret Scandal Made The Wealthiest Old Family In New York Adopt A Pretty Bookstore Clerk?

On Monday a poor sallow in a bookstore. On Tuesday, she was living in a Fifth Avenue mansion, surrounded by every luxury, with jewels, autos, costly clothes and a maid of her own. Why did the wealthy Melrose family bother about an obscure girl like Norma Sheridan? Was it the secret of her birth, that had been buried for eighteen years? Only two women knew and they would not speak. Two men rushed blindly on, both loving her and yet both completely mystified. One the cultured society man, the other a simple earnest young mechanic. Which would she choose? Which would give her happiness—this girl with the conflicting blood of two worlds in her veins? This brilliant society story is the most absorbing romance Mrs. Norris has ever written. As you read her description of life in New York Society it is as vivid as if you were mingling with the Four Hundred yourself. You will be entranced with this story from the first page to the final chapter. It is beyond all doubt the most delightful novel of love and mystery we have ever published. Don't miss "The Beloved Woman," a mystery story of New York Society, by Kathleen Norris, beginning in Pictorial Review for November.

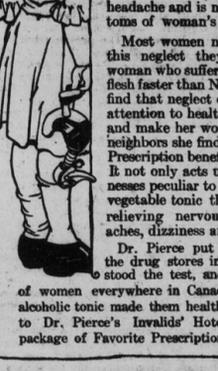

World's Biggest Woman Is Dead

London, Oct. 20.—"Lovely Lucy Moore" reputed to be the world's biggest woman, is dead at Bristol. She was born of an English father and American mother at Lexington, Ky., 43 years ago, and although about average weight at her birth, her subsequent development was abnormal. She weighed 668 pounds, was five feet tall, her waist measurement was 83 inches, neck 25, and calf 25. After a world tour Miss Moore settled in England 21 years ago, and after a brilliant exhibition career, four years ago, went into retirement, living with her brother and niece in Bristol. When recently removed to the infirmary it took nine men to get her from her bedroom to the ambulance.

MRS. R. GUILMET GAINS 30 POUNDS

Montreal Woman Says 20 Years Younger Taking Tanlac.

"By taking Tanlac I have not gained thirty pounds in weight, but all of twenty years young. I was the only remarkable student of the other day by Mrs. B. Guilmot, of 824 D'Arbois Street, Montreal.

"Six years previous to the taking of Tanlac was just one month of suffering for me. My stomach was so disordered there was no food in my stomach. I never dared eat, even from bread and vegetables. I had a heavy feeling and an unbearable pain in the pit of my stomach, and gas formed which pressed on my heart and made it beat. I tried everything I could, but I had no appetite, and even small things cooking made me ill. My liver was badly out of order. I suffered constantly from awful headaches. My nerves were so weak I had no constant pain in my back and couldn't sleep over about without intense pain.

"This went on till I just had to myself on a rigid diet, and in for nine weeks took practically no food whatever. In seeking for a relief, I tried everything I could, but I was going down in health. But, I declare, it's just wonderful. My nerves are steady, I sleep all night, and my back and head have left me. My friends who have seen me since I have taken Tanlac, say I'm as splendid, and I can eat of any kind of vegetables, or, in fact, anything I want, and never even the least inconvenience.
