CLOSE CALL IN STORM IN BAY

Fishermen Have to Abandon Sloop Off Point Lepreau, Hard Time Getting Ashore.

CRAFT SPRANG A LEAK

Martin Nelson and Andrew Young, of St. John, Had the Experience—Little Snow in Friday's Gale Here, Big Downfall in Southern Nova Scotia.

In Friday's storm a fishing sloop manned by Norton Nelson and Andrew Young, of St. John, was lost in the Bay of Fundy, off Point Lepreau, and the occupants had a hard row against wind and heavy sea before they reached shore at the point and their dory, on the crest of a great wave, swept up on the beach and was seized by men of the Lepreau station.

The sloop had put into Point Lepreau. She started for home Friday afternoon but when about a mile from shore in the heavy gale she sprang a leak. Seeing that nothing could be done, her crew of two took to their dory and abandoned the sloop which drifted away from land and about 4 o'clock was seen six miles from shore.

In the gale and heavy sea the men had a hard row before they reached Point Lepreau. There they were cared for at the home of Frank Frutley, engineer, and will come here by N. B. Southern Railway.

The storm yesterday brought the first snow of the season. It was a marked change from the pleasant weather conditions which have prevailed for weeks past.

Rain fell all day, and the wind at times reached thirty-six miles an hour here, while forty miles velocity was recorded at Point Lepreau. The wind, at first from the east, shifted into the north and then north-west, and was blowing thirty miles an hour at 9 o'clock Friday night. Not sufficient snow fell to mark the streets, but there was a little. The rainfall was nearly an inch and a half.

A wireless message received at the Marconi station on Saturday morning, Friday, reported that there had been a heavy snow storm all day on the southern coast of Nova Scotia and that the snow lay deep in the ground.

TRAGIC DEATH AT LOGGIEVILLE

Mrs. Wm. Gillis Stricken at Funeral Service of Friend

GRIEF KILLED HER

Milton Mowatt, Formerly of Chatham, Passed Away in British Columbia—Mother and Brother Died a Short Time Ago—Wintry Conditions on the North Shore.

Chatham, N. B., Nov. 1.—Just as she was entering the house of death to attend the funeral of her young friend, Mrs. William Gillis, of Loggieville, was stricken suddenly on Saturday evening and died a few minutes later.

The sudden death of the two young women under such circumstances has cast a gloom over Loggieville and messages of sympathy are being poured in upon the bereaved husband.

Less than a year ago, Dr. J. B. McKenzie brought his bride home to Loggieville. She was a Miss Moffatt, of Tide Head, Restigouche County. On Thursday she gave birth to a child which died the same day. Mrs. McKenzie sank gradually and passed away at 2 o'clock on Saturday morning.

The sad news spread rapidly and expressions of sympathy were heard on all sides. One of those most affected was Mrs. Gillis, who lives next door to the McKenzies and she took the loss of her young friend very much to heart. The neighbors gathered at an evening service at the home of her mother, and the body lay in state until Tuesday.

About 7.45 o'clock Mrs. Gillis entered the house and before she got through the hall into the room where the body lay, she fell dying. Never in robust health, she suffered from grief and sorrow since the death of her only child, and the loss of her husband.

A telegram to Miss Margaret Mowatt, of the west and conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of her only brother, Milton Mowatt, in British Columbia. No particulars have been received but Miss Mowatt received a letter from her brother less than a week ago. His death must have been very sudden.

Miss Mowatt telegraphed to have the body sent home for burial and it is expected in a day or two. Within a short time Miss Mowatt's second brother and mother have died and it remains to her to perform the sad task of burying the sole surviving member of her family. Last spring her brother, Milton, came on from the west with the body of his mother, and this was his last visit here.

Rain, snow and extreme cold have succeeded the exceptionally fine weather prevalent here for some months.

HON. THOS. GREENWAY, OF THE RAILWAY COMMISSION, DEAD

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 30.—(Special).—Hon. Thos. Greenway died at the Windsor Hotel here this morning. He has been ill for some time.

In the death of Honorable Thomas Greenway one of the foremost men in the life of Western Canada is removed. He was born in Cornwall, England, the son of Thomas Greenway, Sr., and Elizabeth Heald, his wife, on March 25th, 1838. Early in his life his parents recognized the wider opportunity offered in Canada and they came to this country, settling in the township of Suptin, in Huron county, Ontario. There young Thomas was educated in the public schools, and served for ten years as reeve of the township. He was defeated in his first political venture, being an unsuccessful candidate for the representation of South Huron in the House of Commons. Later, however, he was elected at a bye-election, caused by the unseating of the sitting member, and sat in the House of Assembly in 1887, and was called on in January 1888 to form a government. He held the office of premier until Jan. 6, 1900, when his government was defeated by the Conservatives under Hon. R. F. Roblin. In 1902 he was elected Premier of Ontario. He was twice married. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Annie Hicks, who died in 1875, and his second wife, Miss Emma Esery, in 1880.

strongly advising that they make over to the city the foreshore rights on Courtney Bay, which would be on the western side, not to the G. T. P. HAS WON DAY OF BEST FOR 80,000

Rev. W. G. Hanna Tells of What Lord's Day Alliance Has Done in Canada

IS EASTERN SECRETARY

Greatly Cut Down Sale of Newspapers from United States in Canada on Sunday—Action in Dealing With Violators of the Sunday Law—Nova Scotia Moving Into Line.

Rev. W. G. Hanna, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance for Eastern Canada, was in the city Sunday and preached in St. Paul's Baptist church in the morning and Centenary church in the evening. At both services he delivered eloquent sermons setting forth the work of the Lord's Day Alliance.

He said that the aim of the alliance was mainly to secure a day of rest for every person in Canada. To effect that aim the law was secured and through the operation of that law in six of the nine provinces of the dominion the following results had been secured through the work of the alliance.

First—Of the 150,000 seven-day-in-the-week toilers, who had no rest when the law went into force, 80,000 had been set free. There still remain 70,000 for whose emancipation the alliance was seeking and striving.

Secondly—When the law went into force, about 150,000 American newspapers were sold in Canada on the Lord's Day. This had been reduced by about 130,000 and the 20,000 remaining were distributed in provinces where the law was not in effect.

Thirdly—A very large number of cases of the law were made to the effect of the Lord's Day Alliance. When a complaint was brought to the office, correspondence with the violator of the law was entered into by the secretary in Toronto. Through this correspondence, 94 per cent of the violators had been brought to cease in the provinces where the law was in force.

In the case of those who had not yielded the matter was laid before the attorney-general of the province and through correspondence from his office 4 per cent more were stopped, making 98 per cent in all.

It was a matter for gratification, said Hanna, that the attorney-general of Nova Scotia had been brought to investigate a number of cases and it was hoped that in the future there would be public enforcement of the law in that province, an object that has been earnestly sought by those who have been seeking for liberty for the toilers.

Only about 10 per cent of all the cases complained of had been brought to court. The Alliance did not prosecute. This was the function of the officers of the crown. It was important in this case, said Hanna, that none had been prosecuted until two fair opportunities had been given to cease from violation of the law.

The Alliance sought to secure not that the people shall be prosecuted, but that the violations should cease. Its method was to secure this by remonstrance and persuasion at all possible. It is believed the law should be used, not as an instrument to educate the public so that they would understand its equitable character and beneficial effects.

In this way, unnecessary alarm lest the law should be enforced too drastically had been allayed and the confidence of the law officers in the methods of the Alliance had been secured. This is a very important consideration.

The Alliance desired to have the co-operation and support of all the people in Canada who believed that every person in this dominion should have liberty to rest on the rest day. It did not confine in any way with the sphere of worship, but confined itself entirely to civil rights and the matter of religious observance with the churches.
