BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 86, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment with full instructions. Send no money but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged persons troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

times the every-day layer takes a period of every-other-day work and again at times the every-other-day layer works every day, Sundays included. Others don't lay at all. However, this is the rule, and care and conditions influence the exceptions.

It goes without saying that the every-day hen is the hen we want to keep, as the twice-a-day hen has not yet been discovered, although the claims of some enthusiastic breeders encourage this belief.

This every-day layer is the only one that will produce the "high level" yields. While I believe her tendency to take periods of complete rest is greater than that of the every-other-day or periodical layer, extra feed and care will keep her "on the job" and I want to say right here that unless that is her nature you cannot get results with even care and feed. The time is past when the up-to-date egg producer can trust to chance for his results. Chance sleeps on his job.

If you have fifty hens and twentysnatch an hour or ten minutes or a day from her work for rest and recreation is healthier and happier and more prosperous in every way than one who keeps going from sheer force of will from early morning till late at night. It may be only the little walk after the cows in the cool of the evening, the trip to town for meat, the half hour's rest under the old apple tree while waiting for the men to come to dinner or the little nap while the baby is getting to sleep, but all the same it rests and refreshes a tired body, and makes the wife and mother far more comfortable to live with, than if she ignored these little periods of repose.

Then there are the little one-day excursions so popular in all sections, that are patronized by many country ladies and should be by many more. These little trips give glimpses of new country and yet allow time for the morning and evening chores, so necessary on every farm. They may be to some lake or summer resort, to some large city or some attractive spot near or far from home, but wherever they are they fur-live are of the every-other-day kind, sell them and buy twenty-five more. Isolate them and test them out and keep on with this testing-out process until you have a flock every one of which is a live wire, every-day layer. You will go wrong sometimes. A test is not always conclusive, so the testing should be kept up unless perchance you are getting an egg every day from every hen—the ideal of the egg producer. With this kind of systematic testing you will breed a lot of high-level layers from a proved and tested flock.

There are a lot of alleged layers running around loose to-day for whom there is but one proper treatment—and that is a removal of their tail feathers directly behind their ears, and the pot pie.

The Little Outing.

Blessed is the housekeeper who appreciates the little outings possible to the country woman, and thrice blessed is her family. The woman who can nish a delightful change from the summer work. Of course, next day the people who went on the excursion are "dead tired," to use their own expression, but it is a healthy tired and the mind is refreshed and invigorated. The dinner and supper that the housekeeper did not have to cook may be indifferent, and quite unlike the good meals of the farm, but it is a rest to eat such food occasionally, and home seems doubly dear after a little outing.

But best of all are the little driving trips about the country in a carriage or auto that take only a few hours. There cannot be any too many of these little trips all summer and fall, for they bring rest and refreshment and inspiration as nothing else can. If there can be one or two each week the mistress of the house and the children will soon show the effects of the outings in health and temper, and there will be nothing lost from the pocket-book because of the rest. Country ladies need more outings and more recreation, and if they take advantage of the little opportunities the larger ones will come in due time.

He's bought a Tobin Simplex

The simple announcement means that someone has at last found his way into the "Man's Class" of sportsmen and that his friends realize it. You may shoot well with a poor gun, but it is reasonable to suppose that your scores will pile up at the traps with greater regularity and your bag be better filled in the field, if you use a gun that is of the dependable kind. This apparent ideal is a tangible reality in the
