ECONOMIC CAUSES OF WAR,

By Peter T. Leekie; price only 25 cents.

What a pity it is that more working men do not acquire the simple technique of writing their thoughts and investigations into shape for publication.

Philip Gibbs, a distinguished English newspaper man, wrote a large elaborate book on the war under the title "Now It Can Be Told," which we have to sell for $3.25, and yet he did not say more nor half so readably as this worker Leekie has done in a small volume which is supplied by our Book Service at 25 cents.

For any one not a student with an abundance of time on his hands the Leekie book "Economic Causes of War," is much the superior book. It is in 132 pages, 15 brief, well written chapters, and even the student would find it advantageous, so orderly and well arranged are the facts and the authorities.

We unhesitatingly recommend to all our readers a study of this book and that they pass it on to others. The war clouds are gathering for a still larger world conflict and due to precisely the same causes, i.e., the imperial aims of the various world powers in conflict.

At the Union Record counter 25 cents; by mail, postpaid, 28 cents.—Seattle Union Record.

To the Friends and Supporters of the Soviet Russia Medical Relief Committee

A short time ago a cable from Soviet Russia was received by the representative in the United States of All-Russian Jewish Public Committee, Dr. D. Dubrowsky. In that cable emphasis is laid upon the fact that in certain sections and localities in White Russia which were vacated by the Poles about the latter part of October, 1920, a fresh outbreak of epidemics is threatened. The people in those provinces are still living in dire misery, having been stripped of almost everything during the perpetual warfare of the past six years. Notwithstanding the energetic work of the Russian Public Health Authorities in the District of Borisov alone 11,000 adults and 88,000 children were registered as starving. In the south-western part of Russia there are over 500,000 war orphans, about 25 per cent. of whom are consumptive, and need immediate help.

The following cable appears in "The Nation," in its issue of February -6, as having been received by the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers):

"38,000 Moscow babies need milk daily; present supplies can only feed 7,000; infantile mortality 40 per cent.; 550,000 gross tins condensed milk urgently needed for feeding Moscow infants during March, April and May. We urgently require milk, cod liver oil and soap for 6,000 children between 3 and 8 years old, already known to Moscow health authorities as requiring sanatoria, need soap and fat. Clothing needs are for soft material for infants; sweaters, underwear, stockings, and boots for older children."

Among the things most urgently needed in addition to food, clothing, canned milk and baby food are, of course, medical supplies, particularly disinfectants and vaccines against tuberculosis and typhus.

It is the task of the Soviet Russia Medical Relief Committee to provide the needed medical supplies as speedily and as adequately as possible, for with the setting in of mild weather, epidemics and contagious diseases are beginning to spread. They are threatening not only Western Europe, but are already beginning to reach this country.

We appeal to all who are able to help in this campaign against disease and starvation to send in their contributions to the Soviet Russia Medical Relief Committee, Room 506, 110 West 40th St., New York City.
