Child's Column. The Young Martyr.

A STORY OF QUEEN MARY'S REIGN. On a bright summer evening, about three hendred years ago, two young men-scarce-ly to be called men; the one sixteen, the other a year or two older-walked down Chespside, Loadon, together.

Cheape Business was over-people kept early hours then-the clumsy shutters were for the most part closed. Tradesmen lounged at their doore, pretty faces looked out of lattice windows, and apprentices played at clubs, quarter-staff, or single-stick in the road, and woke up quiet people with their clatter. While things were thus, the two young men I named before-Mark Lorimer were to die that day, and huge bundles of the younger, and Edward Dawmer the elder -- walked down Cheapeide together .-They were talking very earnestly; and did not seem to heed the boys at play, or the loud laughter that rung through the Cheap, They were exhorted by the priests to repent but remained true to the gospel ; were fast- deciare in its favor. and made the rooks upon St. Mary Arcu-bus come out of their homes to see what was ened by strong chains and iron rings to the stakes, the fagots piled about them, and at the matter.

"I am sorry that it should be so," th given signal fired. So the black smoke alder fad observed : " and sorry that our lot should be cast in such troublous times." "Would God," returned Mark, "w knew when they would end !" "I understand," went on the other, " that there is to be another burning in Smithfield the persecution of Queen Mary's reign. to-morrow, and that Queen Mary and her usband will be present."

"God pity them !" said Mark; "may they find more mercy in the last judgment than they have meted out upon the earth."

"Amen." "Why," said Mark, and his face flushed crimson, " I heard, and knew it for a truth, that they burned a child not many days old in the flames with its mother ; they drove another frantic, and then slew it for its mad words. They are crowding the streets with orphans, and offering up, in the fires that are dayly kindled, the best and bravest of the land."-

"Hush, hush !" said Dawmer ; "there are cars everywhere-be careful." "I am not afraid," Mark answered, with all a boy's heroism. "I say again that these things ought not to be."

"Yes, yes, that is all very well," Dawmen returned ; " but it is not a pleasaut thing to be tied to a whipping post, as more than a score of lads were, not many days ago, and lashed almost to death."

"I would not deny the truth," said Mark, " if the whips were scorpions, and the whipping-post the stake."

"Bat supposing now," Dawmer asked-O, so shiy and softly !-- " they were to come allowed to feed upon it." to you and say, " What do you think about the bread and wine in the Lord's supper ?' "What do I think of it ?"

" Yes, what is it ?"

" Bread and wine."

"But after the prayers of the priest ?" " Bread and wine.

"Why, don't you know," said Dawmer " that it would be flat heresy to say so?"

" Why ?" "After the priest has consecrated it it is IMPURE BLOOD! The blood is the life! and when any foreign or unhealful matter gets mixel with it. It is at once distributed to every organ of the body. Every nerve feels the poison, and all the vital organs quickly complain. The stomach will not digest the food parfectly. The liter cause to secrete a sufficiency of bile. The action of the beart is beene clogged with the poisonous matter ; hence, a cough—and all from a slight imparity at the fountain-head of life—the Blood! As if you had thrown some arin, for instance, in a pure spring, from which ran a sing rivulet, in a few minutes the whole course of the stream becomes disturbed and discoured. As quickly does impure blood by to every part, and leave its sing the obstruction is removed, the lamp of life soon dies out. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still ren-dered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are acgravited by the same cause. One quarter of all our people are scrofulous their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it.
