FOR YOURSELF

After this last strenuous month you must allow yourself some leisure reading-time. We suggest three titles below. They are the newest books of the season and you will be delighted with them. Get them stowed away in your suitcase when you go on your holiday trip.

THE FIRST HUNDRED THOUSAND. Ian Hay (The Junior Sub.) $1.35

The story of how a rough battalion of civilians with no knowledge of soldiering were turned out into a splendid fighting unit and did their "bit" in France. The sensation of the current book season.

WITH FRENCH FROM MONS TO YPRES. Frederick Coleman 1.50

Mr. Coleman was with the Headquarters' Staff in France for the first ten months of the War. His experiences are thrilling and are excellently told of the War zone, where he drove the members of the Staff from place to place in his own motor, volunteered to the War Office at the outbreak of the War.

AN ENGLISHMAN IN THE RUSSIAN RANKS. J. Morse - - 1.35

Mr. Morse was visiting friends in Germany when the War broke out. His efforts to get to England and of his joining the Russian army is a record worth preserving. The German atrocities as seen by this "eye-witness" are proved beyond question as realities.
