The visit of Mr. Bogart and Mr. Lewis took them to the Kaministique river which flows into Thunder Bay in Lake Superior, in the Province of Ontario. The object of the visit was to look over the location of the Kakabeka Falls, with the idea of building a large pulp and paper mill, one of the largest, if not the largest, in Canada. Mr. Bogart found the falls to be 40 feet wide and 125 feet high and suitable to develope a remarkable water power. The region abounds in spruce and other woods. The parties who are back of this scheme are from Philadelphia, New York, and Bangor, Maine. It is the purpose to build a mik on dollar mill for the manufacture of paper for shipment to the English market. Among the gentlemen interested are E. J. Done'sas, F. Douglass and J. F. Lewis, of Philadelphia; F. J. Clerque, of Bangor, Ma; and A. P. Bollern and Join Bogars, of New York. The product of the new mill if built will be exported.

for divorce against his wife, whom he married in 1884 whilst she was in her 16th year.

Mr. Taylor had a lively time at his home early on Friday morning. He was suspicious of the fidelity of his wife, and telling her that he intended going to Dundas, he hid in a closet in her bedroom. While there he claims that he discovered evidence sufficient to justify him in his intended action for divorce.

The co-respondent will be Dr. Frank J. Dawson, of 5½ Brunswick avenue, whom Mr. Taylor accidentally shot at in the excitement of finding his suspicions apparently verified. Taylor says he fired his revolver twice at Dawson, that he did not try to shook him, but that he thoroughly seared him. He says Dr. Dawson was in the bedroom with his wife, and that he was listening to their conversation when Mrs. Taylor opened the closet door and in groping about put her hand on his head, He had to come out, and he commenced the fusilade that made Dr. Dawson act as if he had an urgent call to see a patient on the street.

Dr. Dawson says he was called by Mrs. Taylor to see one of the children, who had been taken suddenly ill.

Mrs. Taylor denies the all gations of her husband, and says he is of a jealous and suspicions disposition.

Cancell-g. Their Risks.

Ottawa, Sep. 3.—There has been considerable comment in the city in connection with the cancellation by several insurance companies since last Sunday's big lamber fire of risks held by them on properties belonging to J. R. Booth, the lumber king. Mr. Booth has paid on the average about $10,000 a year in insurance, and this has been going on for the past thirty or thirty-five years without any returns until the recent fires. His returns for this investment has been the losses on the four fires he has had during the past year.
