RUSHED TO MAKRET

Over 10,000 Tons of Anthracite Reached New York and Vicinity Sanday.

New York, Oct. 27 .- With tracks comparatively free from passenger traffic, all the anthracite roads rushed trains eastward on Sunday to fill the gap in the coal marts caused by the great strike. More than 10,000 tons reached the receiving yards and piers in Jersey City and its neigh-

That coal will be divided into small lots and then put on the retail mar-ket to-day with the understanding that consumers shall not be required to pay more than $6.50 a ton for it in any instance. Some dealers even went so far as to promise they would sell it to the poor at the rate of 10 cents a bucket, which really would

Many dealers who still have coal bought at high prices during the strike will still charge $2.50 a ton more than the dealers who are handling the new supply.

Railroad officials declare that the indications of a serious car storage throughout the country are becoming more and more pronounced, and the outlook is causing no little apprehension. The termination of the coal strike and the resumption of mining has resulted in an abnormal demand for cars of all kinds and the heavy coal shipments are expected to severely tax the hauling power of the an-

WILD EXPERIENCE

A Maddened Steer Nearly Pinioned Little Joe Schneides to a Door.

Detroit, Oct. 27.-Joseph Schneider, living at 605 Dix avenue, last Friday afternoon saw his young son come running toward the house pursued by an angry steer. The beast was bellowing and making frantic efforts to reach the fleeing boy. The young-ster was crying at the top of his voice and made straight for the front

The steer was followed by a crowd of excited men and boys. No one ventured to go to the boy's assistance and he was allowed to hunt his own place of safety. The front door of the Schneider home was closed and the boy collided with a crash. The animal was close at his heels and when the youngster struck the door attempted to gore him. The beast also came in collision, and when the animal stabbed its horns at the trembling boy it was supposed at first he had been killed. The horns, however, struck on either side of the boy and entered the wood of the door.

SQUIRMED OUT OF REACH. While the beast was struggling to escape from the broken door the boy squired out of the maddened animal's reach and ran into the house. The steer broke loose from the pieces of door and again started down the street. He met a man who had alighted from a street car and another chase through the streets followed. The fleeing victim sought a place of shelter behind a telephone pole and the beast pierced the wood with one horn and in struggling to get away three inches of the point was broken off.

A block away the animal attacked Mrs. Katherine Duggan, of 265 Sixteenth street, and tossed her several feet in the air. The animal was captured by its owner, "Teddie" Bresnahan, who lives on a cross street intersecting Dix avenue.

WOMEN WHO WEAR WELL.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm the brilliance vanish like the the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Preecription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Wonderful Case And One Which Goes to Show The Wonderful Advancement Recently Made in the Science of Medicine.

This town has furnished a case which fitting coat and wearing a last year's has caused considerable talk in the hat with a rooster stuck in it. But

Mrs. John C. Huffman had been troubled for over six years with female weakness and kidney trouble. The pain was so great that she could not bear it and her kidneys gave shadow, a faint echo of the charming her so much bother that she could not entertain any company in her home or take any social pleasure whatever. Her urine was very much discolored and gave her great trouble in passing.

In addition to these symptoms she had all the pains, headaches, and weakness of Female Trouble. Mrs. Huffman tried physician's treatment and many other medicines, but instead of getting better she was gradually growing worse and was very much discouraged.

Many of her friends thought she would never get better, but one day she picked up a newspaper and read an advertisement which said that Dodd's Kidney Pills would cure Female Trouble.

As she had tried so many other things without being able to get any help, she was very doubtful, but concluded to try this remedy.

She used six boxes and was completely cured. She is to-day sound and well, without a single symptom of her old trouble left. She was cured nearly five years ago and is to-day as sound and well a woman as there is in Napanee. She savs:

can confidently recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to every woman in Canada for they cured me completely and mine was a very bad "They are certainly a great medi-

CUPID'S WORK

Fireman Frank Says he Was Keeled Over When he Met Ada in Her Finery.

Detroit, Oct. 27 .- "Say, when she slid her mit into mine and said "Hello. George," in a voice as sweet as a nightingale, I felt something like quicksilver in my veins and the thought went through my brain, 'It's all off with you, George, old sport; Cupid's dart has shot a big hole in your heart.' I just had the voice to to say 'Hello, Ada,' then I was led into the parlor, and for the rest of the evening I was in a trance dreaming of birds of paradise and flowers and purling waters, and every blank thing like that you could think

This was the first experence of Geo. D. Frank, day fireman in the Oriental hotel, in his quest for a wife. Two weeks ago he inserted an "ad." in the News which set forth that he was lonely and wished a wife. According to George's statement this morning be received a stack of letters a foot thick in answer to the "ad," but somehow or other the one from Ada struck the right heart chord and he called on her week ago.

George D. Frank was found this norning in the fire room of the Orienal. His face was covered with the grime from the furnace. He is a handsome chap, of athletic build, and not more than 28 years old. He was brimming over with good nature and he whistled as he hurled the shovels of coal into the furnace. THE RIVER OF DISAPPOINTMENT

"Great Jerusalem, captain, I don't vant you to put anything in the paper about this affair of the heart, for it might queer the whole business. I vouldn't care a dash if I wasn't stuck, but I'm all in, I tell you and if it comes out in the paper, she may go up in the air, and then there'll be boy in their trials. The funeral will nothing for Georgie but the cold, damp river. If you come round later when everything is cinched, I'll give you the whole thing, and you'll find it the sweetest blank romance you ever bumped up against.'

The fireman stopped talking long enough to hurl a few more shovels of coal into the furnace, and then he returned to the subject.

"I've knocked about in all quarters of the world, and the only hobby I ever had was women. I've had blonds, brunettes, red-headed fairies, peroxides, southern girls, northern girls, eastern girls, western girls and Spanish dancers, but of all the girls that I have run across. Ada is the one for m.e. When I opened Ada's letter and devoured its contents I felt that she was my affinity, whatever the hades and Mr. and Mrs. Stenlake left last that is.

"The other letters I laid aside came from all parts of this state and adjoining states. Some were written in postoffices, as could be told by the dooming government ink. Others were from widows recently bereaved, some from young girls who were unhappy at home while a few were from old maids and these I laid reverently aside, blessing the senders for their

BELLE OF THEM ALL

"But, say ,were you ever in love? Were you in love in your old school days and your mother called it 'pup love? I was in those old days, but never since that time until now. Say 's wonderful how beautiful the moor looks to me now, and the stars never seemed so bright as they do lately The moon and stars are beautifu things when you're in love aren't they? Lord, I never knew how much nappiness there was in this world un til I met Ada. I thought as I strolled up to her home for the first time that I'd find her waiting for me to take Napanee, Ont., Oct. 26 .- (Special) .- her to the theatre dressed in a bumdarn me if she din't knock me twister. -but say, I told you about that. I didn't tell you, though about her make-up. There she was, my make-up. queen, in silks and diamonds, and an automobile coat that would put crimp into any Jefferson avenue fairy that ever swung out of a coupe From that moment I loved her and she loved me. She isn't a graduate of Vassar, neither am I, but we under stand each other, and in a short time I hope to be tied up for fair. It was peculiar how I took to that letter of hers. She said that if she did not suit, that she had some sisters who might suit me, and if they did not he could introduce me to some of her dy friends. Her sisters now call me George, just like she does and her brothers call me Uncle George.

"It's peculiar to know how many ender hearts there are in the world. Just that single word 'lonely' in the ad' I placed in The News, caused many hearts to go out to me. It pulled on very many heartstrings and it brought to me the sweetest woman on earth, the woman that I am going to make my wife. It may seem foolish to some the way I am talking to you, but I'm dashed if I didn't feel sort of foolish myself.

Just then the steam guage on the boiler showed that the fire was getting low, so Frank jumped to his feet, seized the shovel, and, whistling a snatch from "Cavalleria Rusticana," shovelled coal until large beads of perspiration stood out on his forehead and running down the sides of his face cut furrows in the grime on his cheeks.
