

Got Divorce

Edinburgh, Scotland, March 10.—John Alex. Stirling, laird of Kippendare, Perthshire, to-day won his divorce suit against his wife, Clara Elizabeth Stirling, who was formerly a Miss Taylor, of New Jersey. Lord Guthrie, in the court of sessions, granted Stirling's petition awarding him the custody of the child, and denied the cross petition of Mrs. Stirling.

CONFERRED RE CAR SHED.

Plan Will be Prepared for Mass Meeting To-night.

No Exclusive Franchise for the Radial on Wentworth St.

The Technical School Deputation Went to Guelph To-day.

Yesterday afternoon a sub-committee from the Board of Works conferred with the officials of the Dominion Power & Transmission Company about the application for permission to lay tracks on Wentworth street, north of King, giving the company connection with the new car shops. The company wants running rights on both streets for its suburban lines, and is pressing for an exclusive franchise on Wentworth street for the radial. The aldermen say they will not consent to this. A plan will be prepared for the meeting of property owners to be held to-night in the Board of Trade rooms to discuss the matter.

The following building permits have been issued:

William Phillips, frame stable, Head street, between Sophia and Dundurn streets, for Thomas Hyslop, $200.

A. C. Havill, brick cottage, on Hunter street, between Hess and Caroline streets, $1,000.

Charles Mills, five brick store buildings at the corner of John and Hunter streets, for Stanley Mills Company.

Alfred Moore, brick cottage on Fairview avenue, between King and Wilson streets, $1,200.

R. Spicer, brick house on Holton avenue, between King and Main streets, for Mrs. R. Birdsell, $2,500.

Schwartz Brothers, frame stable on Railway street, west side, between Cannon and Mulberry streets, $200.

A deputation representing the Technical School Committee went to Guelph this morning to inspect the machinery department in the institute there.

KING'S HEALTH.

Report From Biarritz That His Majesty is Seriously Ill.

London, March 10.—There is absolutely no confirmation in London of the reports emanating from Biarritz that King Edward is seriously ill.

King Edward was reported yesterday as being in good health and he had quite recovered from the signs of fatigue noticed at his arrival at Biarritz. He walked through the town and visited the golf links in the afternoon.

It was announced from Pau last night that King Edward was planning to go there from Biarritz at the end of the week to witness a series of aeroplane flights by Wilbur Wright.

This Season's New Maple Syrup.

The first run of this season's maple syrup arrived yesterday from Mr. Gurett's maple bush at Binbrook, bright, thick, fine-flavored, every drop absolutely pure. We are getting a very limited quantity. Are filling small quantity orders only. Large quantity orders booked for future delivery. Don't delay ordering. Bain & Adams, 89, 91 King street east.

It is all right to hitch your wagon to a star, but it is just as well to have a parachute attachment.

ITALIAN SHOT IN GUELPH ROW.

Cousin of a Noted Brigand May Have to Stand Trial on Charge of Murder.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)

Guelph, Ont., March 10.—A shooting affair, which may mean murder, for the victim is not likely to recover, occurred last night in St. Patrick's Ward, as a result of which Giuseppe Mosolino is in the police cells, charged with shooting a fellow countryman, Mike Silvestro, the bullet penetrating the body within an inch of the heart and going through to the shoulder. The shooting occurred about ten o'clock last night and threw the whole Italian section into an uproar of excitement. In the excitement Mosolino and a companion, Tony Prince, got away. The police were thrown off the trail by being unable to get to the bottom of the affair. The town was secured perfectly, as well as the Italian houses, but no trace of the fugitives could be found. The wires were then kept hot and at 5 o'clock this morning word was received from Berlin that the pair had been captured within a couple of miles of the town. From what can be learned of the particulars of the affair, Mosolino seems to be a cousin of a noted brigand of Italy.

LIGHT TO-NIGHT OR MYSTERY FOR ALL TIME

DR. JAS. ANDERSON, Coroner, who has taken over the Kinrade inquest.

ST. JAMES'.

Rev. S. B. Russell the Speaker Last Evening.

The opening services at St. James' Presbyterian Church were continued last night by the Rev. S. Burnside Russell, of Eskine Church. He spoke from Col. iv. 2-5, pointing out that the Christian life had an inward and an outward side. There was first an exhortation to a life of prayer—to a constant life of prayer. He referred to the different elements in prayer, viz. aspiration, communion, submission and gratitude. Then he dealt with the precepts affecting the outer life. Christians are to walk in wisdom towards those that are without. Many see Christ only as He is manifested in the lives of Christians. Special singing by Miss McMannus, Mr. John Porter, and Miss Elford and Miss Bessie Goddard was enjoyed by all. The service to-night will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Fletcher. Erskine choir will take charge of the music for the evening.

SKIRTS CUT SHORTER

Cleveland Alderman Advocates Step in Fashion Reform.

Cleveland, O., March 10.—Passage of an ordinance prohibiting women from wearing skirts that touch the ground when they walk was urged to-day by Councilman Flower at a meeting for the consideration of a resolution calling for the purchase of anti-spitting signs for street corners. "Women should not wear skirts that touch the ground," he said. "Reform in this direction is in line with the steps the city has taken in an effort to prevent the spread of tuberculosis."

EMPEROR JOSEPH

Sued For Money Loaned to His Father in 1848.

Budapest, March 10.—Julius Geney, a rich apothecary, has sued Emperor Francis Joseph in the Royal Courts here for six hundred thousand francs ($120,000). He has deposited papers and documents showing that his grandfather, in 1848, loaned to the Emperor's father, the late Archduke Francis, six thousand ducats, and he asks for the principal and compound interest.

—Dundas Street Methodist Church, London, is endeavoring to secure Rev. W. F. Wilson, formerly of this city, as its next pastor.

Such is the View of the Police Authorities in Regard to the Kinrade Murder Case.

They Have a Strong Chain of Circumstantial Evidence But Lack the Essential Connecting Link.

Body of Ethel Exhumed Yesterday; New Autopsy Made and the Inquest Begun Over Again.

Light will pierce the pall of mystery that envelops Hamilton's most sensational murder to-night or never. That is the honest opinion of the police.

If Ethel Kinrade's slayer is not made known at the investigation to-night, this shocking tragedy will be chalked up in the police ledgers with the other sensational mysteries the records of which are stored away in musty vaults, with no hope of ever solving them.

The statement may surprise the public, which has been led to believe that the authorities have trump cards up their sleeve and will play them to-night, but it is a fact. The police have no surprises to spring. They admit it. They have a chain of circumstantial evidence, but one good tug may break it. They have a theory, but it will practically require a confession to sustain it.

In brief, witnesses who have so far failed to throw any light on the mystery must talk to-night if Ethel Kinrade's murder is to be explained or avenged. The authorities are practically pinning their faith on George Tate Blackstock, the lion of the Ontario criminal bar, as he is called at times, to bring out the facts with which the police hope to solve this crime.

For two weeks the papers have published the usual number of conjectures, the usual reports of the detectives' movements, and the usual statements of what witnesses will have to say, but the news, real light upon the Kinrade tragedy, must develop at the inquest to-night.

Florence Kinrade, sister of the murdered girl, regarded as the chief witness, will be the first witness to take the stand to-night. Although she will not be compelled to face the stares of the back benches who usually pack the court room when a case of importance is being probed, she will be obliged to tell her story in the presence of a staff of newspaper correspondents, witnesses and officials, numbering in all about one hundred people. She has an ordeal to go through to-night which may cause her to break down in the witness box, although the authorities have been assured by eminent physicians, who have examined her, that by to-night she will be prepared to tell her story. She will be closely examined as to the shooting of her sister, a subject that threw her into hysterics every time the detectives approached it while she remained in Hamilton. She will be obliged to go into details in connection with the police say they find in the different stories she has told them. They expect that she will be able to go on the stand to-night and tell a story that cannot be shaken.

Then will follow the medical evidence and the testimony in rotation of those who were alarmed by Florence when she ran out of the house and who went to the place and found Ethel Kinrade's body, the hair soured with blood, and seven bullet wounds in her breast and head. Associated with Mr. Blackstock will be Crown Attorney Washington, Thomas Hobson, of Lees, Hobson & Stephens, will act for T. L. Kinrade. Mr.

R. B. SPIERA, Foreman of the Coroner's Jury in the Kinrade case.

Blackstock has been here consulting with the crown and police, and has been put in possession of all the facts and information they have.

One feature of the case that has been played up by the newspapers and which gave promise of opening up a new line of investigation was the time at which the crime was committed. The police received the report at 4:03. They were told that ten minutes before that Ethel Kinrade was shot. Then came the story of Motorman Stone, who thought he saw the girl dash across the tracks in front of his car at 3:25 and the reports that she was shot in the witness box.

After being sworn anew the jurors adjourned to the morgue to see the body again. Coroner Anderson pointed out the wounds and showed them that eight bullets had struck the girl. An order was made to have Drs. Balfe and Edger perform a second post mortem, more complete than their last one, and they did so immediately after the inquest.

The jurors had all had the wounds explained to them on the previous inquiry, which ended so abruptly, and were not long in examining the body.

The inquest was then formally adjourned till to-night, and the time was changed to 8 o'clock. The jurors who have acted on both inquiries are:

R. B. Spiera, 239 King street east, foreman.

John Noble, 3 Elgin street.

John Brown, 318 Jackson street west.

Ald. W. Ellis, 136 MacNab street north.

John Work, 51 Erie avenue.

Fred Skerritt, 156 King street east.

John Wells, 197 King street east.

(Continued on Page 5.)

story that the murdered girl was sitting in a chair when shot. From the direction of the bullets the doctors say it is possible, but not probable.

The sensational reports about the finding of the revolver, which were circulated a week ago, were revived yesterday afternoon. The police declared they have not got the revolver. They took W. D. Smith, a plumber, to the house yesterday and the plumbing was opened, but the revolver was not found.

THE BODY EXHUMED.

As announced by the Times yesterday afternoon in a special edition issued immediately after the application had been made at Crown Attorney Washington's office by the Provincial authorities, an order was issued to have the body of Ethel Kinrade exhumed and a new jury empanelled to conduct the inquest. This was done to permit Coroner McNichol, who was first on the scene of the tragedy, to testify at the investigation to-night. Had he presided as coroner it would have been impossible for him to have told his story, and the police regard him as a very important witness.

While the doctors were instructed that no useful purpose would be served in further mutilating the body, to search for the bullets in the breast, in view of the difference of opinion over the number of shots fired, it was decided, when the body was exhumed, to make a second post mortem.

CORONER ANDERSON RETAINED.

Shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the undertaker who buried the remains of Miss Ethel Kinrade got an order to exhumate the body, and within an hour his men had opened the grave and lifted out the body.

The body was taken at once to the City Morgue at the Hospital. It was once more laid out on the marble slab.

Constable Lentz was called to Crown Attorney Washington's office, while the three detectives were there making the application. It was his who summoned the jury previously, and he was instructed to notify the same jury to attend the new inquest. Coroner Anderson was retained as coroner by the Crown and is issued the precept calling the jury to meet at 8 o'clock last night.

After being sworn anew the jurors adjourned to the morgue to see the body again. Coroner Anderson pointed out the wounds and showed them that eight bullets had struck the girl. An order was made to have Drs. Balfe and Edger perform a second post mortem, more complete than their last one, and they did so immediately after the inquest.

The jurors had all had the wounds explained to them on the previous inquiry, which ended so abruptly, and were not long in examining the body.

The inquest was then formally adjourned till to-night, and the time was changed to 8 o'clock. The jurors who have acted on both inquiries are:

R. B. Spiera, 239 King street east, foreman.

John Noble, 3 Elgin street.

John Brown, 318 Jackson street west.

Ald. W. Ellis, 136 MacNab street north.

John Work, 51 Erie avenue.

Fred Skerritt, 156 King street east.

John Wells, 197 King street east.

(Continued on Page 5.)

TOO MUCH FOR HIM.

Family Afflicted, He Ends His Life.

New York, March 10.—Discouraged by his own illness, the death of his mother and the fact that his daughter had to undergo an operation for appendicitis, Thomas J. Spain, of No. 500 West Thirty-second street, last night ended his own life.

Three times he stabbed himself with a penknife the blade of which was scarcely more than two inches long. Indications were that he had stabbed himself at intervals near the heart until his strength failed him. Coroner Harburger, who examined the body, thinks that probably five minutes elapsed between the first and last wounds.

Mr. Spain was of great bodily strength. Last October he was operated on for appendicitis and refused to take an anesthetic.

Last week his mother died and he was unable to attend her funeral. Yesterday his daughter Susan was operated on at the Presbyterian Hospital for the same trouble that had laid him low. These things, according to his son, John, weakened his mind.

About seven o'clock last night Mrs. Ellen Spain, his wife, heard him breathing hard, and summoned Dr. Robert S. Buckley, of No. 492 West Thirty-fourth street, who was unable to save the man's life.

British Navy Chewing Tobacco.

This tobacco is manufactured from the best burley leaf and makes a mild sweet chew, with a pleasing flavor. It is sold for 8 cents a plug at peace's cigar store, 107 King street east.

DR. W. J. McNICHOL, Coroner, who has become Crown witness in Kinrade case.

BEARINGS CO.

Shareholders, Outside of Directors Hold Only $26,000.

In connection with the assignment of the Canadian Roller Bearings Company, it is stated that the entire amount of paid up stock held by all the shareholders, outside the directors, was $26,000. Mr. Robertson, of Toronto, the chief financial backer, and the other directors, have put in $53,000 of their own money, besides guaranteeing the bank. The real cause of the failure is said to be that the cost of developing the concern was much greater than had been anticipated, and that, just as the company was ready to place its product on the market, the supply of funds, through outside influence, was cut off.

It is also explained that while the company voted the President and Manager, Mr. Jones, a salary of $2,600 a year, there is at this minute over a full year's salary unpaid.

Intercepted the boys, and asked them if they had been able to buy any candy. Upon their replying in the affirmative he entered the store, and enquired from the lady clerk if she sold candies on Sunday. She replied that she did, and that she had instructions to sell candies at all times and to every person who wanted them.

"That is what I want to know," said Gibbs as he left the establishment.

John Farmer, K. C., on behalf of the defendant, asked that the case be dismissed, contending that there was no breach of the Lord's day act, as candy is a food. "Parallel cases have been decided and dismissed by you," he said to the Magistrate.

"No," replied the Magistrate; "candy can be sold to those who are taking a lunch, but it is not permissible to sell candies on Sunday otherwise."

The Magistrate, at the request of the lawyer, postponed the case for a week to have him quote authorities on the matter.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

LIQUOR CASES.

Five of Them Will Come Up Tomorrow Morning.

The Government is behind the prosecution of five of the hotels in this city for selling liquor after hours. The spotter who claims he has the evidence is said to be the son of a local police officer. George Roach, of the American Hotel, will face two charges of illegal selling; John Staunton, Revere House, two charges; Thomas Kirk, Woodbine Hotel, two charges; Frank Post, White Star Hotel, and the Waldorf Hotel, one charge each.

Inspector Birrell claims that he knew nothing of the round-up till the evidence was turned over to him and he was asked to swear out informations. The cases will be tried to-morrow.

HIS BRACELET.

Kaiser Takes It Off as It Caused Comment.

New York, March 10.—A cable despatch to the American from Potsdam says: It was noted at the recent festivities that the Kaiser no longer wore the gold bracelet that had adorned his right arm for the last 20 or 25 years. It is said that criticism of the habit, which was declared to be entirely feminine, caused the Kaiser to give up his pet decoration, which in late years was adorned with a tiny watch.

MR. T. L. KINRADE GIVES INTERVIEW.

Tells of the Doings of the Family Before and on Day of the Murder.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)

Toronto, Ont., March 10.—Mr. Kinrade gave the following interview to the Star at the Arlington Hotel this morning: "The Tuesday of the week of the fatality Ethel and I went to a concert, in the production of which we were both interested. I had wanted to go to the Canadian Club instead to hear the speech of a man from New York. However, Ethel wanted company to the concert, so I went with her instead. The next day, Wednesday, members of our family received two frights from unknown men. About 6:30 my wife heard a ring at the outer door. Inside the short entrance there is another door of heavy glass, like the outer door. As my wife opened the inside door she saw a man's face pressed against the glass of the outer door. Remembering the unwelcome visitor of the previous day, she hesitated about opening it. The man lurched against the glass, pressing his body close-

Five Drowned

Montgomery, Ala., March 10.—Five persons were drowned in the Alabama River here in the rising waters, which followed last night's storm. Three whites and a negro were drowned from a ferry and William Dillard, a white boy, fell in and was drowned.

Last night's rain was the heaviest here in twenty years. Five and a half inches fell in a little more than five hours.

SELL CANDY AT ANY TIME.

Such Were Clerk's Instructions at King Street Store.

Lord's Day Act Case Before the Police Magistrate.

Two Sociable Fellows Sent to Castle Osgive.

The proprietor of the Palms restaurant, 175 King street east, appeared before Magistrate Jeffs at the Police Court this morning, charged with breaking the Lord's Day act on Sunday, Mar. 7th, by selling candies. Two small boys, Harry Connells and David Cohen, testified that they had bought candy at this restaurant upon the date mentioned above.

P. C. Gibbs, who watched the place, intercepted the boys, and asked them if they had been able to buy any candy. Upon their replying in the affirmative he entered the store, and enquired from the lady clerk if she sold candies on Sunday. She replied that she did, and that she had instructions to sell candies at all times and to every person who wanted them.

"That is what I want to know," said Gibbs as he left the establishment.

John Farmer, K. C., on behalf of the defendant, asked that the case be dismissed, contending that there was no breach of the Lord's day act, as candy is a food. "Parallel cases have been decided and dismissed by you," he said to the Magistrate.

"No," replied the Magistrate; "candy can be sold to those who are taking a lunch, but it is not permissible to sell candies on Sunday otherwise."

The Magistrate, at the request of the lawyer, postponed the case for a week to have him quote authorities on the matter.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

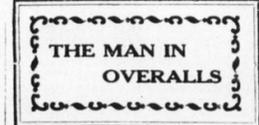

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

The case of Samuel Goldberg, who was summoned on a charge of breach of the Lord's day act, was adjourned until next Wednesday at the request of the defendant's counsel.

It would seem that Gladstone Davis and Frederick Thompson, two Bethel lodgers, are sociable fellows. When the police saw them yesterday they were stopping people on the street. Their sociability, however, did not appeal to the guardians of the peace, who accused them of vagrancy. "We are not begging," spoke up the twin with pride. But what they were doing they did not divulge. They may be a little more communicative by the time their three months' visit at the jail is finished.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS

Wait for the evidence.

Have your hat pin handy, ladies.

We can all do something to boost the city.

The band concerts will remind us of old times.

What about the new Y. W. C. A. building?

Allan Studholme knows how to make a grand stand play.

The level crossing must go.

Don't miss to-night's car barns meeting.

That's right, Mr. Jeffs. Support the police.

Never mind theories, rely on Miller.