George Diamond, 80 John street south, a poor peanut vendor, was charged with obstructing the street, and paid $10 into the city coffers.

Joseph Carson, MacNab street north, was charged with refusing to pay Fred. A. Lewis $63 wages. A. M. Lewis appeared for Carson, and pleaded not guilty. The evidence showed that Carson had hired Lewis to bring the steamer "Tempest" here from Sarnia, but that a Mr. Moore was to pay the wages, he being Carson's partner. The Magistrate gave judgment for the full amount, ruling that the man who hired Lewis should pay him.

Judgment was obtained against the Smart-Turner Co. for $10 wages, by M. Walsh. The evidence showed the money to be pay for a week, which was kept back when he started.

Residents Protest and City May Make Public Osculation Unlawfu

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 10.— Kissing that sounds like a battery of gating guns, and which can be heard a block away, has aroused some of the exclusive and aristocratic residents, and a protest which is expected to lead to the presentation of an ordnance making it illegal to kiss in public was made to the meeting of the City Council on Wednesday night. It is claimed by those who object to of the City Council on Wednesday night. Allentown, Pa., Sept. 10.—Many bears have been seen in the North Mountain region during the past month, and passengers on the Lehigh Valley's Bowman's Creek branch trains have had the pleasure of gazing at several of the animals. In each instance only the excessive tooting of the engine whistle frightened them off the railroad tracks. The other afternoon, while a passenger train was bound for Wilkesbarre, Engineer Miller noticed a monster black bear on the track shead of the engine. He blew the whistle and rang the bell, until finally the monster bruin ambled slowly from the track, clambered up the steep bank and made his way into a mearby apple orchard. Engineer Miller claims that the bear was the largest he ever saw, and must have weighed about 500 pounds.

What Rockefeller's Daughter Says.

What Rockefeller's Daughter Says.

So much is still being said against John D. Rockefeller in certain quarters that it is well for every American citi-zen to ponder the characterization of that it is well for every American citizen to ponder the characterization of him recently made by one of his daughters, Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, of Chicago. Mrs. McCormick said: "My father is a much persecuted man. It seems the more remarkable inasmuch as he is not an enemy to anybody in the world. He is one of the most genial, great-hearted men in this whole world. He lives in the clouds with his God rather than with Worldly things. It is his great pleasure to promote happiness among those with whom he comes in contact." In such filial affection as these utterances disclose, and in the constant devotion of all the members of his family, Mr. Rockefeller must find vast compensation for the bitter attacks on him by outsiders—Leslie's Weekly.

Mrs. Catharine Noble has three cases of typhoid in her family. It is believed to have been caused by using water from a well. A meeting of the Board of Health is called for this evening to find, if possible, why the village has so many cases of this disease.

What might have been a serious accident was, by a miracle, avoided on Sunday afternoon. A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wardell, Mr. and Mrs. Lumsberk, Roy Woolworth, Jean Matheson and a couple more, were in a conveyance near Vineland, going east, when automobile No. 1351, owned by E. S. Skinner, of New York Terrace, Yonge street, Toronto, came speeding down the road, and when near blew the horn as a warning that they were going to pass. The driver at once turned the horses out of the way, but the auto, coming so close upon them, was forced to turn, and in doing so the steering gear did not act quickly, and the machine plunged over the bank, damaging the head to the extent of about $100. mother to write an account of how Grape-Nuts food had helped their family.

She says Grape-Nuts was first brought to her attention on a visit to Charlotte, where she visited the Mayor of that city who was using the food by the advice of his physician. She says:

"They derive so much good from it that they never pass a day without using it. While I was there I used the Food regularly. I gained about 15 pounds and felt so well that when I returned home I began using Grape-Nuts in our family regularly.

"My little 18 months old baby shortly after being weaned was very ill with dy-pepsia and teething. She was sick nine weeks and we tried everything. She became so emaciated that it was painful to handle her and we thought we were going to lose her. One day a happy thought urged me to try Grape-Nuts soaked in a little warm milk.

"Well, it worked like a charm and she began taking it regularly and improvement set in at once. She is now getting well and round and fat as fast as possible on Grape-Nuts.

"Sometime ago several of the family were stricken with LaGrippe at the same time, and during the worst stages we could not relish anything in the shape of food but Grape-Nuts and oranges, everything else nauseated us.

"We all appreciate what your famous food has done for our family." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Well-ville," in packages.

IN THE WORLD OF AMUSEMENT

preciative. Nearly all of the acts were up to expectations, which is saying a good deal. Two of the big acts stood out as about the best of the kind ever seen here. They were the Grandschmidt Brothers, European comedy acrobats, and Josephine Sabel, the singing comedienne. The Grandschmidt duo's turn was a wonderful one, and elicited loud applause, was from these precess who are not even from these persons, who are not partial to acrobats. The pair were as-sisted by two French poodles, who did funny and difficult stunts. Miss Sabel, funny and difficult stunts. Miss Sabel, another of Klaw & Erianger's European importations, aang new songs, displaying a rich soprano voice to advantage, and dances new steps, displaying dainty ank-lets and rich lingerie. Miss Sabel's costumes were a revelation to the ladies, her dress being a dream.

Billy Van, the minstrel man, was given as warm a reception as any of the appearing artists, and he deserved it. Van had a good line of talk and he told new stories in his own inimitable way. He also sang a little and delighted the audience.

also sang a little and delighted the audience.

Florence Modens, an old favorite here, and Thaddeus Grey put on a bright skit entitled "Bargain Mac," in which the trials of a husband who has a wife with the "bargain bee," were depicted. There was not a little irony in the play, which made a hit. The act was well staged.

Harry Tate, the famous English comedian, made a hit in a travesty, entitled "Fishing." The act made a tremendous hit in England, but the full humor of the situation was not grasped readily by the audience. The act was one of the biggest and best of its kind seen here, but at that it did not make as big a hit as one might expect.

Murphy and Donn, Irish comedians, did a good song and dance turn and made many friends. The pair were more refined than the general run of knockabout Irish comedians.

The De Fay sisters, expert mandolin and banjo artists, did a good novelty musical act and established themselves in favor with the audience. They promise to be among the week's favorites.

in favor with the audience. They pro-mise to be among the week's favorites.

The Hurleys, hand to hand balancers, were above the average of that kind of performers. The show closed with new motion pictures. The same bill will be presented all week and big audiences should rule, the same as last week.

At Bennett's Theatre. There is an exceptionally strong bill at Bennett's new theatre this week and big crowds were present at the opening yesterday. The bill is strong in music and comedy, but is sufficiently varied to please all tastes. Carroll Johnson presented an elaborate production entitled "Louisiana," being a condensed version of new and original minstreley. There are three magnificent scenes in the act; they may truly be said to be gorgeous, and they depict life on a plantation in anti-bellum days and on a Memphis levee. Mr. Johnson is assisted by fifteen pickaninnies who dance and sing well. Johnson, of course, was given a hearty reception and he danced as skillfully as ever. His singing was not what it used to be, but the choruses were good.

Another really good act was the farce, "Imposter," presented by May Duryea and William Mortimer. The playlet is from the pen of Edmund Day and is a bright, clever sketch. It went with a dash that was refreshing and brought down the house. Miss Duryea's personation of Helen Devenport was rich and the emotional acting of Mr. Mortimer was of a high order.

Gus Bruno, the dialectician, who appeared here in the "Evil Eye" and other big productions, told some exceedingly good and new dialect stories and kept the audience in roars of laughter. Grace Cameron in "Dollie Dimplea."

A performance as wholesome as can be produced, yet really funny and intensely dramatic, is surely an innovation for a musical performance; nevertheless, such is the big musical drama, "Little Dolly Dimples," which the dainty comic opera star, Grace Cameron, has chosen to present to Grand Opera House Patrons on Saturday afternoon and evening. A good consistent story with a plot and refined comedy situations, with unique character drawings, is rare in these days of nonsensical entertainments. Miss Cameron is not alone in the amusement-making of "Little Dollie Dimples," for ahe has been surrounded by what is the strongest cast of players which have been in this city this season.

Incidental to the play are introduced the great musical specialty of the Criterion Musical Four, also the Elm City Male Quartette, and Olah Faber, the celebrated violinists. The entire company numbers sixty people, with a large chorus and augmented orchestra. Seats will be on sale on Thursday.

Red Mill Theatre.

"The Smoking Chimney," the fining vertex of the content of the c Red Mill Theatre,

'The Smoking Chimney," the funny, story of two young artists and the pranks they played on their landlady, is the comedy picture of the Red Mill this week. "A Trip Through Arizona" is also very interesting, but "Cinderella," or The Lost 'Slipper," is the feature picture. It is over 1,500 feet in length, and, while the story is rather old, the manner in which it is put on, together with fine scenic effects and beautiful costumes, interest the old as well as the young.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret McQuillan took place this morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Flynn, corner of Cannon and Caroline streets, to St. Mary's Cathedral. Father Savage conducted the mass and Father Weidner officiated at the grave. The pall-bearers were six grandsons. The remains of the late Mary Cusher Randall Harries, who is illustrating "Montana" this week with great success, announces something entirely new in the ballad line for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when he will introduce "Neath the Old Cherry Tree." Patrons are again reminded of the afternoon shows, which run continuously from 2 to 6 o'clock.

"The Top o' th' World," a new American extravaganza, will be presented by the Shuberts at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night, Sept. 17. The production is unusually elaborate. One hundred people will take part, among the most prominent of whom are Anna Laughlin, who created the part of Dorothy in "The Wizard of Or," William Rock, who made such a hit by his dancing in "The Orchid," and John McVelgh, formerly with "Humpty Dumpty."

Juhlke, Beamsville, passed away at the City Hospital last evening, following an operation. The remains were taken to Beamsville this morning and the funeral will take place on Thursday aftermoon.

SHOTGUN WAR ON TOURISTS.

Constables Take Grand Jury's Warning in Most Literal Sense.

Pittsburg, Sept. 10.—Shotguns in the hands of constables are being used so extensively in the country districts of Western Jennsylvania that automobiling is becoming unpopular. Two cases have been reported where automobilists have been fired at. John Morgan, of Carmichael. had his machine riddled and rained by large bird shot, and Wilbur Clyde, of Masontown, had his machine wrecked at Khedive yesterday, and, while in a prostrate condition, a constable emptied a cartridge of shot at him. Rails had been placed across the roads and his machine was thrown over an embankment.

The grand jury of Butler county yesterday warned the constables that injury to persons, cattle and horses by automobiles had to be stopped. As a result a dozen constables held an informal meeting at Butler to-day and decided to adopt the shotgun method of stopping the racing. This method has been tried by several boroughs in Allepheny county and the constables of Greene, Washington and Fayette counties go armed looking for game.
