MR. DAVITT'S SPEECH

The following is an extract from the speech, delivered ... Armagh, Ireland, which led to Mr. Davitt's arrest. After explaining the objects and aims of the Land League he went on to say:—

"The movement which has been called into existence by the democracy of Ireland is ... which must triumphant over all opposing obstacles, as it is in line with justice, reason, and social progress, while resting on principles as indestructible as the evils against which it is directed are notoriously self-evident and perishable. This is a movement, then, Orangemen of Armagh, which your common sense and social aspirations have prompted you to come here to-day to support, and if you show in the intelligent resolve and earnest desire which now fills a place in the mind of every other Irishman who has to live by his sweat and labor from day to day, you will continue to give the land league that measure of active assistance which will be able it to win for you and your children the sole enjoyment of the fruits of that labor (cheers for the land league). The aristocratic drones who swallow your earnings in the past, and snatched from your families the food which your industry had produced, and now finding that you are no longer the tame and superstitious fools who fought for their amusement and preyed with your equally foolish and superstitious Catholic fellow workers, and allowed the landlords to pick both your pockets during the encounter (cheers). My friends, the landlords of Ireland are all one religion—their God is common and rack-rents, and evictions their only code of morality, while the toilers of the fields, whether Orangemen or Catholics, Presbyterians, Methodists, are the victims whom they desire to see flying themselves benefited the juggernaut of landlordism while shouting their own degradation and their country's shame (cheers). Let them read in this meeting to-day, in this gathering of Irishmen, no longer enemies because you worship your Creator in different ways, no longer strangers in the land which will ever harbor Protestant patriotism as well as Catholic fidelity, that religious feuds shall perish in just and moral struggle for common rights against the common enemy of Irish hearts and homes. Look across the undulating plains which stretch from this meeting to-day, and which the snow cannot hide, and picture the rest of our fertile country so blessed by Natures's lavish gifts, and say why poverty and misery should find a home where a generous soil, teaming rivers, and a genial clime should give assurance of a prosperous and happy existence. Ask yourselves if it be not human rather than natural agency which condemns our country to perennial des...
