CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant; it contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its base is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. GOMPERS PLEADS FOR A MINIMUM WAGE TO WORKERS

NEW YORK, April 7.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, pleaded for a minimum wage for workers in an address at a ten-day conference of New York trade and technical papers yesterday.

"No employer should be allowed to continue unless he is in a position to pay his employees a minimum standard wage," said Mr. Gompers. "Such an employer ought to get out at once and give someone else a chance who can put the business on a paying basis."

COURTS ASSISTING 1,000 N.Y. TENANTS UNDER NEW LAWS

NEW YORK, April 7.—Nearly 11,000 evicted tenants were assisted by courts in this city yesterday under new laws against rent profiteering. In most cases either the landlords agreed to delay evictions until the tenants could find other apartments or the magistrates summarily granted stays of eviction varying from one to six months.

Many courts would handle nothing but rent cases. Streets in front of some courts were blocked and police reserves were called to handle the crowds, for whole families went to court, baby carriages and all.

Justice Morris of the Westchester court told a landlord that $10 a month was too much to pay per room for basement quarters and informed the tenant he could remain until the lease expired in October and pay only $6.

SPRING CALF FEEDING

How to Feed and Handle the Young Arrival.

The Dam's Milk the Best First Food—Skim Milk Should Gradually Replace Whole Milk—Grass or Stable for Calves?

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE calf that comes in the spring, comes just at a time when everybody is so busy getting the spring work done that he is very liable to be neglected to a certain extent. Young calves are very susceptible to disease on account of young cattle and a little lack of attention to spring calves is liable to cause serious trouble to them.

There are two menaces to calves in spring and summer, and those are extreme heat and flies, and one is on a par with the other. Arrangements should be made whereby the calves are kept in during the day and allowed to run out in a paddock at night. By this means they are afforded a liberal amount of exercise and good pure fresh air, and also they are allowed to get some of the nice juicy green grass, which is the nearest thing to a complete and balanced ration that can be found outside of milk.

When the calf is dropped it may be well to leave it with the dam for a few hours in order that it may get the first milk (or colostrum) which is so necessary on account of its actions on the digestive tract. When the calf has received sufficient colostrum to set up the necessary action it should be removed from its mother into a separate stall, or it may be put into a stall with other calves of the same age or nearly so. If, by any chance, the cow's milk is infested, the calf may be left for a few days because of the beneficial effect that the calf's punching has upon it.

For a few days the calf should be fed whole milk, but when it is two to four weeks old a change should be made, skim milk gradually replacing the whole milk, from eight to ten days taken for the change. When the whole milk is totally replaced the milk may be increased to eighteen or twenty pounds per day for a calf six weeks old. The best kind of skim milk is warm, just when it leaves the farm separator. However, everybody may not have a separator, and then this is not possible. In any event the system started with the calf should be followed as nearly as possible at all times, because radical changes in diet are sure to cause severe digestive troubles. This milk all feeding utensils should be kept very clean to eliminate any danger of disease from bacteria that might be lurking within. Skim milk feeding may be continued on as long as the calf is visible, up to eight or ten months old. Good thrifty calves may be weaned as early as three months old, providing good substitutes for the milk are used.

The most frequent trouble in raising calves is indigestion or common scours. This trouble is usually caused by overfeeding, feeding milk too cold, feeding milk heavily laden with disease germs, or by keeping the calves in a dark, dirty, poorly ventilated quarter. The calves should be watched carefully, and if they show signs of scours immediate steps should be taken to effect a cure. The ration should be reduced and a little lime water put into the milk. If immediate action is needed, about one-half cupful of strong black tea or some castor oil should be given.

As for meal for the calves, rolled oats are good, and if they are getting no whole milk, a little linseed oil cake should be added. The oil cake has a laxative property as well as supplying a little fat to the ration. A good meal for calves, 100 lbs. of ground oats, 50 lbs. of bran and oil cake (nutted) 25 lbs. Good clover hay is essential at all times, giving enough to allow the calves to pick out the nice succulent parts, and still not be wasteful.—J. G. McBeath, O. A. College, Guelph.

Should Calves Go Out to Grass or Remain in the Stable?

Generally speaking, calves are better kept in the stable during the first summer, except where the stable conditions are not good, and where there is not enough labor to look after them and keep them dry and clean. The only other exception is in the case of calves dropped in the early winter and which have had three to six months of milk and more or less dry feed. Such calves may be all right if turned out to grass as soon as the pasture is good and the weather warm and pleasant. Particularly in this case where milk and other feed is scarce on the farm.

The chief advantages of keeping calves in the stable, the first summer are:

1. They can be fed milk and other feed as required, which is often neglected when calves run with the cows, or are pasturing some distance from the barn.
2. Calves in a clean, well-ventilated stable are protected from the hot sun, storms and flies, which often prevent that good growth which is essential for a well-nourished thrifty calf.
3. If allowed to run with the herd, the older animals are likely to injure them, or deprive them of their proper share of feed.
4. Cases of sickness, such as indigestion or "scours" are more likely to be noticed, and properly treated, if the calves are inside where they are seen frequently.
5. As a result of this better care and feed, better cows are more likely to be reared, which means larger returns to the owners of cows.—Prof. H. H. Dean, O. A. College, Guelph.
