 That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.
 No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, small and bearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.
 To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.
 "I was ill for four months with catarrh in the head and throat. Had a bad cough and raised blood. I had become discouraged when my husband bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and persuaded me to try it. I advise all to take it. It has cured and built me up." Mrs. H. R. ROLPH, West Liscomb, N. S.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
 Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

 SEVERAL freight and coal piers of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company at Jersey City N. J., were destroyed by fire on Sunday. The loss is placed at one million dollars.
 COLONEL Matthew Stanley Quay Senator from Pennsylvania died peacefully Monday at his home Beaver, Pennsylvania after a prolonged illness which the doctors diagnosed as chronic gastritis.
 THERE was a fair attendance at the market yesterday and prices of staples were about as follows: Potatoes 30 cts; oats 30 cts; pressed hay $13, loose 70 cts; cow, eggs 13 to 14 cts; butter 2 to 24 cts.
 EXTENSIVE preparations are being made for a monster multitude at the Hope River tea party which is to be held at Hunter River Station on July 4th. No palisade is to be spared to make it a treat for all who may attend.
 TOMORROW is the Feast of the Assumption, one of the suppressed holidays. First Communion will be administered to the children of the Cathedral parish who have been preparing for some time, and the Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered by his Lordship the Bishop in the afternoon.
 REV. A. P. McLELLAN, St. Andrew's, is pushing forward great improvements to his Church in anticipation of the centenary celebration to be held on July 13th next. These improvements include the laying of hardwood floors and new up-to-date pews, as well as a new altar with marble top, a gift from the priests who are natives of the parish.
 At Burlington, eight miles from Berwick N. B. on Wednesday evening last, the house and barn of a Mrs. Robertson were destroyed by fire and Mrs. Robertson was burned to death. Suspicion attached to Robertson, the husband and he was arrested. It is expected the evidence at the preliminary investigation will be sufficient to send him up for trial for murder.
 An Ottawa despatch of Monday's date says: The cabinet had under consideration on Saturday the 5 supplementary Estimates. The balance of the work of the session is ready for enactment, and after the present week government business will have proceeded on every sitting day except Monday. The length of the session will depend upon the opposition.
 THE village of Fairville N. B. was threatened with destruction by fire last Friday evening and escaped with but the loss of five dwellings and four barns. The people were almost panic struck when the fire broke out at a large estate and recollections of fourteen years ago when the place was almost wiped out weighed on them. Many began packing their household effects to move out. Some who did remove the things from their houses courted loss by their fear in the early minutes of fire but seven special constables were sworn in and the looting ended.
 REV. J. J. McDONALD, Kinkora, lately purchased a very desirable property with a handsome residence for a parochial house for the mission of Seven Mile Bay. The house is surrounded by a beautiful orchard, and commands a view of Carleton Place, St. George Head, Cape Tormentine and Basil. The house has just been painted, fitted up and furnished and constitutes a charming complement to the beautiful little church. The church and parochial residence are located in an ideal spot and both priest and people are to be congratulated on the success that has crowned their efforts.
 A NORWEGIAN seaman, 38 years of age, named Carl Sylverstein, second mate of the schooner Severn, Captain Pickles, died very suddenly on board the vessel shortly after noon on Friday. The schooner had arrived that morning from New York, with a cargo of hard coal, for A. Pickard & Co., and was lying at the head of Peaker's No. 1 Wharf at the time of the occurrence. Deceased had shipped in New York on the 13, and appeared to be in the best of health right up to the time of his death. He ate a hearty dinner on Friday, as usual. After dinner he went to work on deck with the rest of the crew, in springing the vessel to the wharf. He hauled on a tackle with the others, all working forward. The mate noticed him let go the rope and walk aft. He did not consider this unusual; but about five minutes afterwards the mate turned round and saw the man lying on his back on the deck. He went to him and found him just alive and groaning, and in ten minutes he was dead. Dr. Conroy and Dr. Johnson, Coronor were called. The former made an examination, and the latter having obtained all the facts in connection with the sad affair deemed an inquest was unnecessary. The remains were buried in the Peoples' Cemetery on Saturday.

 THE Finance Minister has announced that the financial statement will be made on Tuesday, June 7th. Mr. Hackett has given notice of a question which he will put to the government asking if it is not intended to erect a statue on Parliament Square to the memory of T. D'Arcy McGee.
 EDWARD Blake, speaking at Longford, Ireland, said that the choice had been before him of giving up either the representation of his constituency or his professional work. He had decided to give up the latter, retaining their representative as long as they wish him to do so.
 A DISASTROUS fire occurred at Lickletter Road, about two miles from Summerside Monday afternoon. Mr. Adrian McClure's residence was completely destroyed with all its contents and $50 in cash. The fire started from a spark from the flue. There was a very high southwesterly gale blowing and the burning chimneys set fire to the roof of Mr. Eriehard about 40 yards distant. The barns were burned and the house was with difficulty saved. The loss is heavy, both parties being new comers in the settlement. Mr. McClure had $300 insurance on the house.
 A SAD drowning accident occurred on Richmond Bay on Monday evening, when Harry Best, of Lot 16, lost his life. He and his brother Arthur were returning from overhauling their lobster traps, a heavy southwest gale blowing at the time. Their boat sprung a leak, swamped and sank. The two boys clung to the top of the mast, Arthur holding his brother up. He became completely exhausted and had to let his brother go. He then sank. The boys were seen from the shore clinging to the mast, and a boat hurried to the rescue. It was just in time to save Arthur, who had become unconscious and was sinking. He was taken ashore and resuscitated after considerable trouble.
 YESTERDAY morning Dr. Conroy who it will be remembered met with a serious accident last winter and has since been confined in the hospital, but is now convalescent, was waited upon by a number of friends and presented with a beautiful and valuable horse purchased from Mr. F. W. Robins, together with the following short address:
 DEAR DR. CONROY:
 We the undersigned, wish to present you with this horse Medicus as a token of our esteem and friendship, and of our joy at seeing you out again.

 REV. DR. MORRISON.

 This gift was supplemented by the present of a beautiful set of harness from Rev. Dr. Gauthier.
 DURING the thunder storm of Friday morning, a home in the East End of Charlottetown was struck. The top was knocked off the flue which was also burst down to second floor. The covers on the stove rattled prettily. The house was occupied by Henry Gurney, farmer at the Asylum. His wife was in bed at the time and her mother, Mrs. McSwain, was in the kitchen. Both received a shock, but were not hurt. A dog lying at the end of the house was instantly killed. A house belonging to John Morris Donaldson, was also struck and greatly damaged. The lightning also struck the flue in this instance knocking it over, and went right through the house. The plaster was knocked down, windows were broken, the floor torn up and the potatoes in the cellar were scattered in all directions. Mr. Morris and his servant man live in the house alone and at the time were out milking, and thus escaped possible death. This was about six o'clock in the morning. At Misecoche the telegraph instruments in the station were burnt out and the telephone connection west of Summerside destroyed.

Correspondence.
 DEAR SIR,—As my name has been mentioned lately in and out of the Press regarding some trouble at Peake's Station, I would ask the favor of being allowed to say a word on the matter. In the first place, we know that contending parties speak, and unfortunately often speak very differently. It is wise then for a respectable journal of long standing to publish the evidence of one side, without one word of rebuttal from the other? This trouble arose last March at a debate in Ruskin School, where Daniel Grant, his brother, and certain McDonalds—having previously conspired, which will be proved—made an attempt to beat me. In this they failed, for which their chagrin knew no bounds. Daniel then claimed to have been my friend, but that would not work. He then determined to finish me somehow. He met me on Palm Sunday night in a place he knew I was to be—his brother being close by—called me back after I had passed. After some talk I turned my face from him when he struck me with a weapon, knocking me senseless. He admits he continued to strike though I lay as if dead. As the "guilty conscience needs no accuser," he then had recourse to threats of using his revolver, which he has been carrying for years. My father endeavored to have him arrested in Charlottetown that day, but the magistrate was out of town. He sent word to James Mooney and me to come to Peake's for that purpose. That snub was not carried out I alone am to blame. When I saw him, it being the first time since the laying, all reason left me. He claims and justly too, that in the scuffle on the platform, he and his friends had the best of it. And all who were present know that when it was decided that he and I should finish it he had little appearance about him of an injured man; that during the seven or eight rounds nothing could be fairer. And when he drew his revolver and said he would fight no more, being excited, I made for him, but was put back by a friend, who said, not one more blow, "he's beat and that settles it." All the punishment he received he got while in single combat with me. The correspondent failed to mention that Grant was fined at Georgetown for carrying a revolver. It is also untrue that anyone was bound over to keep the peace. I take this opportunity to most sincerely apologize to the respectable passengers, the train hands, the bystanders, and the general public, for allowing my feelings to master me, and being the cause of so alarming a scene. I also wish to express my deep respect for Mr. Blanchard's impartiality and gentlemanly conduct of the case.
 YOURS,
 SEBASTIAN J. MOONEY.
