HALIFAX, N.S., March 3.

The condition of the Crown Prince is alarming, and arrangements are being made for his return to Berlin.

Lord Salisbury told the Russian Ambassador at a recent interview that England would oppose the deposition of Prince Ferdinand unless the Powers agreed on a successor.

The published protocol shows that the British and Canadian commissioners proposed to settle the fisheries difficulty on a commercial basis. The American commissioners absolutely refused to consider the subject of reciprocal trade with the British.

The committee to consider the defences of the colonies have published a report in which they suggest an expenditure of five millions sterling. They regard the defences of Halifax as extensive but out of date.

Chamberlain has been dined by the Canadian Club of New York. Wiman said an overwhelming majority of both countries favor the treaty.

(Special to the Evening Telegram.)

CAPE RACE, This Evening.

Wind E.N.E., blowing fresh, but weather hazy. The steamer "Mastiff" passed west at 11.20 a.m.

TWILLINGATE, To-day.

Wind N.E., smart breeze, foggy and mild; ice running in the bay.

Fogo, To-day.

Wind N.E., fresh; foggy, with rain; few old hoods seen yesterday along the shore when the ice slackened.

GREENSPOND, To-day.

Wind N.E. by E., with heavy rain and snow-storm; Bay filling with slob ice; barometer steady, 29.45.

BONAVISTA, To-day.

Wind N.E., strong; foggy; raising; Bay filling.

LOCAL VARIETIES.

"BENEVOLENT" practice at 7.30 this evening in Methodist College.

The tug boat "D. P. Ingraham" is being sheathed with green heart to protect her against ice.

The coastal boat "Curlew" went west this morning, completely filled with freight and taking a large mail and several passengers.

The following steamers will prosecute the Gulf seal-fishery this spring, viz.: the "Nimrod," "Leopard," "Panther," "Kite," "Walrus," "Polonia," and "Mastiff," from Harbor Grace, making seven ships in all, the largest number yet sent in that direction.

MAILS by the s.s. "Newfoundland" close at 9 o'clock on Monday night. Why not twelve o'clock, as the steamer does not leave till a late hour on Tuesday morning? Such an extension is desirable by those who find it easier to compose their correspondence after tea and are then free from the interruptions incident to active business hours.

A very charming programme has been prepared for the Readings and Music at the Athenaeum Hall on Monday evening next, as will be seen by a glance at the list of talented performers, viz.: Mrs. O'Dwyer, Misses Rowe, Fisher, Jardine, Murphy, Harris, Messrs. Corner, Flannery, Neil, Rennie, Hennessey (New York), and Simpson. Select pieces will also be read.

The tea-meeting in Methodist College Hall last evening was certainly a very great success. Notwithstanding the wet snow and general unpleasantness outside, there was nothing to complain of as regards the attendance. Indeed, the spacious hall was filled, if not crowded, and "the fathers and mothers in Israel," as well as the young people, had a good representation in the audience. The tea, too, was excellent; and you who were not present ought to have seen the smiles that illuminated row upon row of happy faces, when the delicious fragrance of Messrs. Shirran & Pippy's newly-imported Hyson began to permeate the circumscribed air. One old gentleman who kept moving about among the tables, taking "here a little and there a little," made a clean breast of it just before the benediction was pronounced, and openly confessed that, somehow or other, he had managed to get away with sixteen cups during the evening. "And I think," said he, with a comical expression on his face, "I'll succeed in getting home without feeling any the worse for it." What do you think of that for a man close on seventy summers? Obviously tea must be a wholesome beverage, after all! However, it only remains to add that the tables were wonderfully well furnished, and the speeches and music—vocal and instrumental—all that could be desired.
