Germany's Efforts in the United States.

Germans in the United States are most active in their attempts to injure Britain and her allies. They have been most industrious in endeavouring to free Germany from blame in starting the Great War and to throw it on Britain. In this campaign they have met with scant success. They have also followed up their old game of inflaming those Irish in the States with revolutionary tendencies, with a view to turning Irish sentiment there against the Allies and in favor of Germany. The endorsement by the regular Irish societies in the States of Mr. John Redmond's attitude is a sufficient answer to this inflammatory attack on the allies. Another method of attack is the effort made by them in Congress to get a law passed to stop the export of munitions from the States. Richard Bartholdt makes no disguises of it. He declared that by permitting such exports "the United States is in effect waging war against Germany." He of course ignores the other side of the case that by permitting exports of contraband to neutral countries for re-export to Germany, the United States by a parity of reasoning might quite as justly be accused of making war on Britain. Indeed, so one-sided is the special pleading that they back the Copper Kings in their objections to the seizure of copper of contraband by Britain, as it handicaps Germany in the war. In other words they are using all their efforts to wage war against Britain by causing trouble in the States and they do not mind how they do it, so long as they do something against Britain. They are "agin Britain" anyhow, and their business is to harass her. The fact that the export of contraband is recognized by International law as legitimate for the subjects of a neutral State does not weigh with them. The fact that Great Britain, Germany and the United States have always insisted on such a right in their subjects is of no moment. The fact that Germany is coming out badly in the business is enough to set their propaganda going. Great Britain and her allies have command of the sea, and as belligerents they have a right to seize contraband by International law. It is telling against Germany, as her navy has been practically driven off the seas, and what the German Navy has failed to do on the seas, German agitators hope in some measure to accomplish by the propaganda they have started in the States.

VICTORY Not Built Upon Falsehood.

New York Evening Post.—That the whole effort (of the German professors to enlist American sympathy) has come to nothing is obvious. American opinion remains what it was. Nor was it built upon falsehood. All this mighty attempt to set us right has not produced a single fact, a single document, a single argument which was not known in the United States from the beginning. The trouble was, as Maximilien Harden now states, not that we did not have the truth, but that we were "unable to think as Germans do."

Entertainment at Daniel's Cove.

On December 20th the people of Daniel's Cove, B. D. V., gave a little entertainment, the proceeds to go towards the completion of the new R. C. School there. The entertainment commenced at 7.30 and refreshments were served, after which the younger members of the gathering "tripped the light fantastic toe" until 11.30 when the ladies of the place served a soup supper which was partaken of by all, and to which ample justice was fully done. The affair was kept up until the "wee sma' hours" when the gathering dispersed in search of a much needed rest, and very much pleased with the night's enjoyment. Messrs. Michael Kelly, Jeremiah Howard and Misses A. M. Howard and L. M. Kelly presided at the refreshment table. Three very nice cakes were also "raffled" and were won by Mr. Thomas Martin and Miss Marcie Duggan, of Grate's Cove, and Mr. Robert Howard, of Daniel's Cove. Mr. Martin Kehoe, the able violinist of Red Head Cove, furnished the music. Many people from surrounding settlements were present, including people from Grate's Cove, Red Head Cove, Low Point, Caplin Cove, Job's Cove and Old Perikan, all of whom felt very grateful to the people of Daniel's Cove for their kind treatment, especially dear old Mrs. Kelly, who attended to the wants of the strangers with the untiring energy and great hospitality. The proceeds amounted to $30. We congratulate the people of Daniel's Cove on their very attractive entertainment, and hope they will organize others in the not distant future, which we assure them will be just as largely attended and greatly appreciated as this.

INCOGNITO.

Fighting Against Exportation of War Munitions.

Washington, Jan. 4.—The two largest German-American and Irish-American societies in the United States joined before the House Foreign Relations committee to-day to fight for the Vollmer-Bartholdt resolution to prohibit exportation of war munitions to Europe.

Representing 2,000,000 German-Americans in this country, Dr. C. F. Hexamer, Philadelphia, President of the National German-American Alliance, declared their plea is for "real neutrality and American fair play."

Speaking of the effects the success of President Wilson's note to Britain will have upon United States commerce, Doctor Hexamer declared: "Great Britain's agreement to no longer harass our shipments to Italy, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden will be of no value unless these countries have lifted the embargo on the re-exportation of about 400 articles mostly imported from the United States. It is the undeniable right of the United States to ship to and through neutral countries any and all articles not used in war."

"Britain's attitude on the seas, Doctor Hexamer said, 'has absolutely demoralized our legitimate foreign commerce.' He declared Britain forced the neutral European countries to place embargoes on all articles imported."

"Every dollar gained by our business in war munitions," the doctor added, "is tainted with the blood of those who have fallen on the European battlefields."

The Irish-American society, the Ancient Order of Hibernians, was represented by Joseph McLaughlin, of Philadelphia, the national president, and Francis G. Clark, of Philadelphia. The foreign relations committee room was crowded by the German-Americans who came here from large middle western and eastern states.

VON BUELOW'S MISSION TO ROME A FAILURE.

Paris, Jan. 2.—According to a special correspondent of The Temps who has just returned from Italy, Count Von Buelow's mission to Rome has failed. "It is untrue," says The Temps, "that Von Buelow offered Italy any concrete compensation for intervention in Germany's favor, or, at least, disarmed neutrality. He only made vague promises to induce the Italian Government to show a less friendly attitude to Britain, as 'Britain is the sole enemy of Germany.' His mission was principally to convince Italy that her interests should be with Germany as once Britain was ousted from the Mediterranean Italy might become a large Empire."

The Temps adds that the Kaiser sent Von Buelow to Italy charged with such a difficult mission with only a vague hope of success. The Emperor's idea was to exploit Von Buelow's popularity in Rome in case it might lead to the actual benefit of Germany, or should he fail, to let Von Buelow bear the whole responsibility and thus deliver a blow at his political party, which is notoriously antagonistic to the Kaiser himself.

NURSES ENTER A PROTEST.

Say That Untrained Women Went With First Contingent.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 5.—In a letter sent to Sir Robert Borden the Canadian National Association of trained nurses has declared that incompetent and untrained women have been sent to the front as nurses to accompany the first contingent, and has protested against the selection of nurses to accompany the second contingent on the basis of political pull. Miss Gunn, Secretary of the National Association and Superintendent of the Toronto General Hospital, states that "A non-committal reply has been received from the Premier."

MAY GOD PUNISH GERMAN PER- FIDY.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—An indication of American feeling in the European war is furnished by the letter received by William Murray, a former Montreal man, and at present a guest at Freeman's hotel, from Sydney B. Vincent, former general manager of the Associated Press on the Pacific coast.

The letter reads as follows:—

"Here I am in eastern Oregon. The Christmas season is here, and we are reminded of distant friends, so here's to you for a merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year. I hope things will go right for you, but above all things I hope for the triumph of the allies, and especially for the success of the British arms. May God bless her soldiers with success and punish Germany for her perfidy."
