Loyal Orange

In view of the fact that the Grand Orange Lodge of Newfoundland is called to meet on the 28th inst to cele-brate its Golden Jubilee in St. John's, a few of the principles of the Association as set forth in the "General De claration," might possibly be of interest to the public. At all times nothing can be more natural than that those who have common rights to protect, and common interests to defend, should act together and know each other. It is by division that the benevolent objects of true patriots are frustrated, and their best and noblest efforts for the public good defeated In this distant but important appendage of our great Empire, it must be obvious to every loyal and reflecting mind that an union of intelligence, an increase of means, and a knowledge of each other are essential.

The Loyal Orange Association is formed by persons desirous of supporting, to the utmost of their power, the principles and practices of the Christian religion, to maintain the laws and constitution of the country, afford assistance to distressed members of the Association, and otherwise promote such laudable and benevolent purposes as may tend to the due ordering of religion and Christian charity and the supremacy of law, order and constitutional freedom. The Orange Association lays no claims to exclusive loyalty or exclusive Protestantism but it admits no man within its pale whose principles are not loyal, and whose creed is not Protestant. Disclaiming an intolerant spirit, the duty of every Orangeman is to aid and defend all loyal subjects of every religious persuasion in the enjoyment of their constitutional rights. The rules of the Association are open not only to the members of the Association, but to the whole community. The Association is general, not con fined to any particular plagerson or nation, but extends itself wherever a loyal Protestant Briton is to be found, to the remotest corners of the globe, for the establishment of Protestant faith and British liberty to the latest age of posterity. In many quarters, where the true nature of the Orange Association is not properly known, its designs and objects have by some been misunderstood, and by others misrepresented. The Association is constituted upon the broadest principles of national freedom. It takes its stand upon the glorious principles of the Revolution of 1688; it lays its foundation in the field of British liberty; it disdains the badge of faction, and knows no emblem save "The Altar and the Throne."

Apology to a Horse.

THE AMENDE HONORABLE.

182 Patrick Street March 18, 1922.

Harold Macpherson, Esq. Dear Mr. Macpherson,-Having unwittingly done your magnificent horse (Howard Mann) an injustice in thought anyway (possibly by word), I now wish to say that I admired him very much indeed in his proper element on Friday last. The understanding existing between you and your horse was an object lesson which I hope many of the onlookers took to

Dear Mr. Crowdy,-I thank you neartily for your tribute and accept your retraction of any prejudice you may have conceived. I am glad my behaviour on the ice merited your approval, but on a fine day and in my element I could not be anything but happy and gentle.

I am sorry you did not see my mate "Jessie Mac" who was there also. She comes from my birthplace, and is considered by the fraternity and sorority far better looking than I, and she knows it.

Regarding my overdraw, I find it very comfortable. It rests my head in the position I naturally carry it when trotting fast, opening my throat thereby enabling me to breathe more Paris, March 9.- Carpentier will be freely, steadying my gait when I ex-
