The long-felt want for a moderatelypriced roadster roomy enough to carry three, with a spacious driving compartment and possessing the smart appearance usually associated with this particular type of body design, has now been met.

The Buick Four, a replica of the famous Buick Six, presents a Roadster which in appearance and finish is superior to any car in its class, and in which in price offers a value that is truly remarkable.

Ample storage space beneath the rear deck, inclined wind screen, real leather upholstery—these are only a few of the exceptional qualities of this roadster.

"When Better Cars are Built, Buick will Build Them."
