163rd Drew in Last Moment of Game Against Parkhill.

Last night, at Mewata Park, a large crowd saw the 103rd Regiment score a goal in the last minute of the Internediate Soccer league against Parkhill, which tied the game. Parkhill scored in the first half, when they were playing a fine game, and it was not until the very last kick that the soldiers were able to put on the equaliser. Although having a good share of the game in the first half, the Parkhill team were lucky to keep out the Regiment, and it was only the timely kicking of McLaus and Suttle that saved the situation. McLeay scored for Parkhill with a good shot, and after that the game became more interesting than ever. Lindop and Nash tried hard to get the equaliser all through, and it was only a mixup between Suttle and Bodman that led to Lindop being able to head the bail goalmands. Indeed, it had only enough momentum to reach the net, and immediately after the referee's whistle blew. Bodman ought to have saved easily. Best for Parkhill were McLeay, Johnston and McLaus; and for the Regiment, Roberts and T. Nash; C. Roughton: Lindop, Nash, Vaughan and Jacobs.

Louisville, June 5.-E. C. Cowan's Sannanoa again surprised the crowd at Portland, Ore., June 5—Jimmp Britt, the California boxer, who gave Battling Nelson the fight of his life several years ago and who at one time was considered one of the most scientific boxers in the ring, is today of the opinion that Bud Anderson is the legitimate lightweight contender and is heir apparent to the throne now occupied by Willie Ritchie.

"Pin your faith in Bud Anderson," said Britt. "He's the kind of a man to will be right in the lightweight champion sing from willie Ritchie if the title is to win the lightweight championship from Willie Ritchie if the title is to win the lightweight champion unless he shows remarkable in the near future."

Britt believes that Joe Rivers has to many natural handicaps to defeat the champion unless he shows remarkable speed, including a shorter reach, lack of height and poundage.
