Womanly Troubles

SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO UNDERMINE HEALTH AND BEAUTY, BUT SHOULD BE TREATED AT ONCE BY FER-ROZONE.

It is impossible to go into details on this subject, but the experience of many a poor woman who is crippled for life, just because she didn't use good remedy in time, should be a warning to others.

When the first stages of womanhood appear in a young girl, a great deal depends upon getting her over this critical stage, so that in years to come she will not develop green sickness or consumption.

As soon as she complains of flushed face, headache, bearing down feelings, give her at once a course of Ferrozone treatment, which will carry her past the crisis.

In the adult woman if any irregularities occur, Ferrozone will be found a remedy of remarkable potency and power.

Ferrozone is the ideal regulator for the monthly period and causes all the organs of the body to perform their work properly, and at just the expected time.

It purifies the blood, tones up the nerves and vital energies. The stomach is strengthened, and digestive and assimilative processes are improved by the good work of Ferrozone. It regulates the bowels, a rosy tint to the cheeks, whitens the teeth and develops a well-rounded, plump and handsome form.

Ferrozone is the ladies' favorite, and should find a place in every household. The dark circles from under the eyes, removes and cures all manner of skin eruptions, gives brightness and brilliancy to the eyes, a rosy tint to the cheeks, whitens the teeth and develops a well-rounded, plump and handsome form.

Ferrozone is the ladies' favorite, and should find a place in every household. It is prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet, convenient and pleasant to take. Price per box 50c, or three boxes for $1.25. Sold by all druggists, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

EAST LONDON WILL STAND BY LEYS

capitulates the enormous sum of over $85,000,000. The main purpose of government should not be the building up of a surplus. It should be the careful and honest expenditure of the province's revenue for the public good. Notwithstanding the opportunities that the Conservative opposition has had for objection to the expenditures of the government, said Mr. Hyman, they had only objected to about $400,000 of it, or less than 1/2 of a cent on every dollar expended.

Speaking of Mr. Adam Beck's speech at the East End hall on Monday night, Mr. Hyman said he had read the speech from beginning to end, and though it had been a tedious operation. It was a speech remarkable rather for its omissions than for what it had in it. Mr. Hyman said that if he himself was in Mr. Beck's place he would try and have something good to say of his leader and his leader's policy. Why did Mr. Beck keep silent on that point? Mr. Hyman said that because he now thinks himself a better man than Mr. Whitney, and does he himself intend to step into the shoes of his leader? Mr. Beck's speech did not contain one word showing the possession of a constructive policy by either Mr. Whitney or himself.

Mr. Beck had shown himself unwilling to give anybody but himself credit for anything. He would not give Col. Leys credit for the building of the Normal School, or the fact that he was in Mr. Beck's place he would try and have something good to say of his leader and his leader's policy. Why did Mr. Beck keep silent on that point? Mr. Hyman said that because he now thinks himself a better man than Mr. Whitney, and does he himself intend to step into the shoes of his leader? Mr. Beck's speech did not contain one word showing the possession of a constructive policy by either Mr. Whitney or himself.

Mr. Beck took serious objections to the Ontario Government's policy regarding timber limits and pulpwood. Here, Mr. Hyman thought he had been ill-advised, for if there was any one thing for which the Conservative government deserved untainted praise, it was its timber policy. Since the government assumed power, not one mile of timber land had been disposed of to the public, and that, too, after being widely advertised in Canada and the United States. From 1841 to 1871, when the Ontario Government took office, said Mr. Hyman, the average price per square mile of timber land was $61 per acre. In 1872, the price rose to $117. From 1873 to 1891 the average price was $124 per square mile. At one sale in 1891 the price paid was $1,665, at an 1899 sale $2,010 was paid, while at the last sale in 1901 $3,835 was paid. Mr. Hyman contrasted this with Quebec, where from 1873 to 1900 the average price has been $62 per square mile.

In 1882-84 a question arose between the Dominion Government, under Sir John A. Macdonald, and the Ontario Government as to the possession of certain portions of New Brunswick. At this time much of the timber limits which came to Ontario after the award was made, and which have been disposed of at high prices by the Ontario government, were under the control of the Conservative Dominion Government. Mr. Whitney says he would put not only timber limits but also pulpwood concessions up to the Ontario government at a price of $5, instead of the $1,224 which the Ontario Government has been receiving for them.

Mr. Beck had tried to make capital of the government's policy on the scrap iron assessment. Mr. Hyman proceeded to deal with this question at length. He explained that the bill, which has given currency to the term "scrap iron assessment" arose out of a decision of the Court of Appeal in the Bell Telephone Company and the City of Hamilton, in which the court held that in assessing by wards the poles, wires, etc., of a telephone company, such property cannot, under section 28 of the Municipal Act, be valued justly, according to its actual value, having regard to the purpose for which it is used, but must be valued as merchandise, and on the basis of a just debt from a solvent debtor would have to be removed and taken away by the creditor. Section 28 has been in force since the year 1852 without particular attention having been called to its true meaning and had continued in force and property under it been assessed as other property without any question.

When the Supplementary Revenue Act was passed in 1899, it was provided by section 6 of the act that the telephone companies, water companies, etc., should continue to be assessable and taxable for municipal purposes as heretofore, that is to say, as they were by law assessable and taxable on the 1st day of February, 1899. Therefore no change was made in the assessment law applicable to these companies. The change in the assessment law resulting from the decision of the Court of Appeal caused dissatisfaction and so in the session of 1900 two bills were introduced, one by Mr. Macdonald and one by Mr. Carson, by which it was proposed to amend the Assessment Act so as to do away with the effect of the so-called "scrap iron" decision of the Court of Appeal. These bills were referred to the municipal committee, and after a brief discussion the committee declared against the scrap iron assessment. As the system of assessment has for years been considered anomalous and incongruous and the decision of the Court of Appeal gave prominence to one side of its many defects, the government thought best to consider a complete revision of the whole act and so appointed a royal commission with

SHE PATIENTLY BORE DISGRACE

A Sad letter from a lady whose Husband was Dissipated.

How She Cured Him with a Secret Remedy.

"I had for years patiently borne the disgrace, suffering misery and privations due to my husband's drinking habits. Hearing of your marvelous remedy for the cure of drunkards, which I could give my husband secretly, I decided to try it. I procured a package and mixed it in his food and coffee, and as the remedy was odorless and tasteless, he did not know what it was that quickly relieved his craving for liquor. He soon began to pick up flesh, his appetite for food returned, and he was able to work regularly, and we now have a happy home. After he was completely cured I told him what I had done, and he acknowledged that it had been his saving, as he had not the resolution to break off of his own accord. I heartily advise all women afflicted as I was to give your remedy a trial."

Instructions to consider such improvements in the assessment law as would secure a more equitable assessment in the case of all classes of property than then existed. The commissioners sat at Toronto and received and considered every class of property to which the Assessment Act applied or to which it was thought it should apply. The question being so comprehensive, however, the commission was unable to submit a bill dealing with the act in detail, but in view of the urgency of the demand for an amendment to the law as to the assessment of property, a short bill was reported for the purpose of disposing of that particular anomaly in the Assessment Act. This bill was submitted in the usual way by the premier, and on the second reading was very freely discussed by both sides of the house. In the course of the discussion it appeared that the bill proposed more extensive changes in the assessment law than were required in order to dispose of the decision of the court in the Bell Telephone Company and the City of Hamilton. The bill of the assessment commission, however, adopted, the effect would have been to greatly increase the assessment on real estate used for any purpose whatsoever, and the house did not seem to be prepared to acquiesce in. Accordingly the bill was withdrawn and another bill submitted, embodying the recommendations of the Provincial Municipal Association. The government, while admitting its full responsibility for the measure, felt that an amendment to the Municipal Act, which would have the effect of increasing the assessment on real estate used for any purpose whatsoever, and the house did not seem to be prepared to acquiesce in.
