Dodson Coming Monday A most important theatrical engage nent of the season is that of J. E. Dodson, the foremost character actor on the American stage, who will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Monday, Oct. 10, in "The House Next Door." Mr. Dodson is one of the most famous stars for whom we are indebted to England. He originated the greatest of Pinero's roles, supported Henry Irving and the Kendals, Squire Bancroft and Beerbohm Tree in their most ambitious productions, and has starred on his own account with great success. Mr. Dodson has a role in "The House Next Door" written to his measure. This comedy has a long

Member of the Big Firm of Whiskey Distillers Dies at Chicago.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Chicago, Ill., Oct. 5.—While two 658 DUNDAS ST. EAST brothers, Harry Corby, former member of the Canadian Parliament, and Charles Corby, wealthy distiller, of Belleville, Catario, were rushing to his bedside, James Corby died last night at St. Luke's Hospital. The brothers reached the city just a few minutes after he passed away. Corby was associated in business in Belleville with his brothers. He came to Chicago a few weeks ago for treatment for a chronic disease and stopped at the Hyde Park Hotel. Two weeks ago he became seriously ill and was taken

Certified Milk Owing to an impression or report circulated that certified milk would be dis-continued after the 1st of October, we beg to say that our dairy, being the only one in the London district up to the pres ent date which has been producing certified milk, under the inspection of the London Medical Milk Commission, we can assure our patrons that they will still continue to receive it, notwithstanding any report to the contrary, as long as our standard of inspection is satisfactory to said commission. See that caps and wrappers on bottles are printed "Certified milk, under inspection of the London Milk Commission, produced by J. H. Marshall." Phone orders 1994. JOS. H.
