MOTORISTS GIVEN CHANCE TO PAY BICYCLE BILL

Magistrate Calls Actions of G. Grant and C. Mallott Cowardly.

BOTH REMANDED

George Grant and Cecil Mallott, two London motorists, whose cars crashed on Richmond street, near Piccadilly, on Oct. 6 last, and demolished a bicycle owned by Charlie Musson, one of the youngsters at the Protestant Orphans' Home, both appeared in police court today on a charge of reckless driving. According to the evidence of both men they were to each pay half of the damages done to the boy's bicycle, but neither have paid any cash so far. Mr. Graydon adjourned the case till Monday to give the men a chance to pay the repair bill for Musson's bicycle, and stated this would have some bearing on his decision.

Musson told his "bike" being smashed, and said Mr. Grant told him it was his car that struck his bicycle as it stood against the curb on Richmond street. Witness had his bike fixed, the bill being $22.30. He also had to pay $2 rent for another wheel.

Grant stated he turned the corner of Richmond and Piccadilly streets to north at about ten miles an hour, and noticed a street car and a motor car approaching from the north. The west side of the street was torn up or paving purposes, and he pulled his car close to the curb. He had almost stopped when Mallott's car struck his machine, and the bicycle was smashed as a result of the accident.

Questioned by the magistrate, Mr. Grant said Mallott refused to pay for half the damage to the bicycle, but he had told the boy he would pay his half. Later on he decided he was not to blame for the affair and wouldn't pay his share.

Mr. Mallott claimed Grant was to blame for the accident, and that the latter's car had struck his. "We told the boy to take his bicycle to Wenige's and get it fixed," said Mallott. "I went to Wenige's that afternoon with the boy, but Grant did not show up. Witness said he was still willing to pay for the wheel, although he didn't think he was to blame for the occurrence. "I think Grant was more to blame than Mallott," said Mr. Graydon. "I think both men acted very badly toward this boy, and I am going to adjourn this case till Monday to give them a chance to settle. It is a very cowardly thing that this boy at the Orphans' Home should have his bicycle broken and nothing done about it. I suggest they get together right now."

E. W. Flock appeared for Mr. Grant.

AGAINST MORE TAXES IN ANNEXED DISTRICT
Max Lerner Declares That City Should Live Up to Agreement.
"An agreement is an agreement and should be lived up to," declares Max Lerner, Ward 3 candidate for the city council, who insists that the municipality should not attempt to quash the annexed agreement and levy additional taxes upon the people of that district. "The agreement should be lived up to," he stated. "If the city received the worst of the deal, it cannot be helped. What would the agreement done about it had the agreement given them the best of it. There would have been no attempt then to upset it."

KIWANIS MINSTREL SHOW PROMISES ONE RARE TREAT

Proceeds of Follies of 1923 Will Go in Aid of Under-Privileged Boys.

SAM AMERO, TOO

The minstrel show of the season—that's what the Kiwanis Follies of 1923 is going to be. Fifty minstrel boys, members of the Kiwanis Club, will hold forth in song and jest at the Grand on December 7 and 8, and the offering promises to be even better than the Follies of 1922, and last year's show was surely a hummer.

The proceeds of the minstrel show will be used by the Kiwanis Club for the benefit of the underprivileged boys of the city. The Kiwanis Club acts as "daddy" to some 50 youngsters who through no fault of their own have not had a proper start in life. These boys are watched over and looked after by members of the club.

Heading the list of black-faced end men is the one and only Sam Amero. There is only one "Sam," just as there is but one "Ken" Murray, who will hold down a seat directly opposite his friend Samuel. This minstrel pair have some brand new jokes, locally flavored, that alone will be well worth the price of admission.

Sam and Ken, however, are not alone in the laugh-producing business. They will be ably supported by Bill Connors, Joe Isaacs, Vince Colgan, Rev. Hay, Neil Stryker and Jack Paulids.

Tom Yull, Frank McLachlan and other noted warblers will sing old-time ballads that are always associated with a minstrel show, while the chorus of 50 voices is rapidly rounding into shape. The boys have several fine skits that are sure-fire hits and the show will undoubtedly deserve the large patronage it is sure to receive. Tickets may be purchased either at the Grand Theatre or from members of the Kiwanis Club and may be reserved at the Grand on and after December 3.

PROMISES TO SHOW WENIGE IS WRONG

Edwin Smith Declares Bill For $700 Was Filed by Council.

Edwin Smith, secretary of the Old Boys' Association, and candidate for the city council for ward four, states that at a public mass meeting tonight at the Lorne Avenue School he is going to show the mayor where he is wrong. Mr. Smith submits that the council filed an account from the Old Boys' Association for $700, and he stated today that it was done at the 28th meeting of the council, Nov. 5. "It is on page 472, clause 21," he stated. "I am going to read this tonight at the Lorne Avenue School."
