Chicago. Brokers, No. 10 Masonic Femple, received the following despatch over their private wires yesterday from Kennett, Hopkins &

Co., Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 15.— Wheat—The cholera scare induced timid holders to unload, and while this buzbear hangs over us it's best not to expect bull markets for anything The buying has been by parties who believe the causes which depressed the market for months are fast wearing away. The flood of receipts has passed. The beginning of the end is now in sight and can be determined with reasonable certainty when it is found what the foreign requirements will be. Exports for the past two months are within six million of the very heavy outward movement in July and August last year. Corn and cats—The continued absence year. Corn and cats—The continued absence of frost and the cholera scare enabled bears to cover their shorts at a profit, and weak holder were shaken out. Provisions yielded to som influences that weakened other markets.

Fabrics at Manchester. Manchester, September 14 .-- The Guardian, in Its commercial article, says:-- Business is based on the lowest previous prices. The inquiry from India is exceedingly quiet. The dealings in shirtings are quite exceptional. There are some calcutta offers for jaconets and mulls at the lowest level of prices. Printing cloths are slow. Heavy goods are quiet, although there is better inquiry for small lots. In colored goods the dealings are fair. Quotations do not vary. Yarns are quiet but firm.
