HORSES IN TRAINING.

The old snowshoer will recognize the peculiar import of the word "tramp," as used in this instance, and the exhilarating effect of this sport on the participant, when taking a run over snow-clad hill and valley with a party of the 'boys' and at the end of the tramp sit him down in a warm suburdan inn to a little refreshment ordered for the occasion. Then how the merriment does' wax! It is runored that all the 'boys' are going in for snowshoeing this winter and will surely call on Messrs. H. P. Davies & Co. Si Yonge-street, and select their outfit from the farfed stock of snowshoes, moccasins, toques, ashes and sundries.

IT WAS A TRAIL OF DEATH. Kineston, Dec. 10.—The body of Daniel Kanealy of Calabogie, who had been missing several days, was found by his brothers on the banks of a small creek. It is supposed he had been following an otter trail through some thick underbrush and had accidentally shot himself. The ball entered the eye and came out of the back of the head. His hat was found on a small tree twelve feet from where the body lay. He leaves a wife and two children.

The Wanderers' Second Tramp.

The Wanderers' Snowshoe Club held their second tramp of the season on Tuesday evening. About 25 members turned out under the guidance of Capt. D. Merrick. After an enjoyable trip through Rosedale the members called upon and were hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foster, returning to the clubhouse about 11 o'clock, everyone well pleased with the nights outing.

Runs will be held on Tuesday and Friday of each week, starting at 71% o'clock, from the clubhouse, Youge and Alexander-streets.
