

to the study of Canada? Would we not in that way put ourselves in a better position to work intelligently and efficiently for the welfare and advancement of the people? Would we not thereby become more enlightened and useful citizens, better Canadians?

The Ottawa Social Science Club, whose representative I have had the honour to be on this year's lecture course of the Literary and Scientific Society, has decided to take up, as a primary feature of its programme of work, the systematic observation and recording of social types and conditions in and about the Capital.
