

THE BEE.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 8, 1837.

This week, we had a whole dish of Canadian politics prepared for our readers; but, the British mail having arrived here on Saturday last, bringing London dates to the 6th ult., has enabled us to copy such of their contents as appeared to possess any interest.

Next week we intend to present them with a mélange of all sorts of matters, in the shape of gleanings, from the late papers, which we have no doubt will be agreeable to many.

The Orangemen of Dublin, have been at the pains to send their Sheriff all the way to Hanover, to present an Address to the King, their late Grand Master; to which he, as a matter of course made a most gracious reply.

A British subject, (Mr Hoscoe,) was lately most barbarously murdered in the streets of Rome, in the face of open day; and the authorities denied him in his last moments, the satisfaction of seeing a Protestant clergyman; and have also refused to punish the murderers. We hope this will call forth British interference.

Her Majesty's assent to the New Brunswick Civil List Bill, has been officially announced.

Ireland remains unusually tranquil, and free from crime.

On Wednesday last, the 1st instant, Mr JOHN CAMPBELL, Preacher, was solemnly set apart, by the Presbytery of Pictou, to the pastoral inspection of the congregation of St. Mary's. The Rev. Angus M'Gillivray commenced the services of the day, by praise and prayer; the Rev. David Roy preached; the Rev. Hugh Ross proposed the usual "Formula of Questions;" the Rev. John McKinlay ordained; the Rev. James Ross gave the charge to Mr Campbell; and the Rev. Thomas Trotter addressed the people. Mr Campbell has before him an excellent field for ministerial usefulness, and it is hoped, that the great Head of the Church will give efficacy to his labors. The people of St. Mary's have for some time been destitute of the regular dispensation of the ordinances of religion, and therefore hail, with evident pleasure, the settlement of one among them, who will break to them the bread of life.
