

BE your object of pursuit
 Fragrant flowers, or luscious fruit—
 And to these, a trusty guide,
 One in whom you can confide—
 You'll perhaps not find a doughtier wight, Than he who's known as Henry Slight.
 His lilies fair, and roses rare,
 Their charms combine
 Beneath the vine,
 And oglantine.
 His "Gipsy Queen" displays her sticon,
 While Jessamine,
 With sweet "La Reine"
 An "Elsley Jean"
 Enhance the scene.
 The new, the rare,
 The debonair,
 With odorous incense
 Scent the air—
 And should you wish To view their shrine,
 (And sit beneath the Prontias vine)
 Repair to the city of Catharine.
 If you should please to affirm you "don't want to,"
 Then call at the corner of King St., Toronto.

OAK HALL.

"One price" is the motto of this establishment, and it reduces its principles to practice, as they best know, who have tried to obtain a reduction, Oak Hall is the only house which challenges criticism in the following fashion—"We make no false representations"—"All goods marked in plain figures! We do not deviate" —"Our principles are Truth, Honor, and Square dealing!"—"All goods warranted as represented"—"Our clothing is made of the best Scotch, English, and Canadian Tweeds." A free advertisement in the CRITIC will be given to anyone who can disprove the foregoing assertions.

Buyers seek the Oak Hall store,
 Because they've purchased there before;
 Again they come, and yet again,
 Like chickens to the parent hen.
 Come they for Pants, or for a Vest,
 They know they'll have the very best; Neighbour and friend have told them the same,

Declared they would be entirely to blame,
 If the N. P. they should fail to promote,
 By investing forthwith in an Oak Hall
 coat;

Discreetly they act on good advice, Discover they purchase their goods at a price

So low as may safely defy competition, Though yielding to buyers the fullest fruition.

*It is as good as a play to watch some of the transformations of daily occurrence in our Boys' Department, where business grows brisker as the need for Spring Clothes increases and people learn what advantages are secured by dealing here.
 Do not spend your precious time and strength in ransacking the shops for your Boys' Clothes when you can come here and find everything at your hand.*
