

I also take this opportunity of soliciting a renewal of subscribers for "The Princeton Review" in 1869, which is henceforth to be under the joint editorship of Rev. Dr. Charles Hodge, (who has conducted it for forty years), and Rev. Dr. Lyman Atwater, with a large staff of contributors. The terms of the "Review" will be still two dollars, remitted with the order.

There is to be published, as early in 1869 as possible, an INDEX volume to the "Review" in its bygone course of forty years, which will form a digest of the past forty volumes, and be valuable and useful. See cover of the October number. This volume will be furnished by me for two dollars; and early orders are requested.

Further, all orders from Ministers, Sabbath Schools, and others, for the books of the Board, will be carefully attended to, and catalogues sent to those wishing them. The publications are a rich mine of Bible truth for adults and young.
