WINNIPEG, MAN.—No. 320 Main St. Wilson Bros., Managers.

Business in connection with any of our publications, or the Auxiliary Publishing Company, can be as well transacted with either of our branch establishments as with the head office in Toronto.

The Auxiliary Advertising Agency.
Manufacturers, Wholesale Merchants and other large advertisers will advance their own costs by getting our estimates for any advertising whether for long or short date.

Advertisements inserted in any paper published in Canada at publishers' lowest rates, we pay "spot" cash for all orders sent to us, and the class of advertising we do is all of the best, publishers much preferring with our establishment to any other. Publishers will kindly send their papers for examination.

Do not advertise till you get our quotations.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING.

To clip the following from the Strathroy:

PRIZE.—Toronto TRUTH's prize for answers to Bible questions struck a blank for the first time with the number July 12th of this present year of Dr. Joseph Armstrong, second line up, was the winner. The prize (which had not been promptly) is described in it as a "solid com silver hunting case, price $2," and agrees with the description in every particular.

KELWOOD, ONT.

FRANK WILSON.
Dear Sir,—Accept my best thanks for the prize in Competition No. 10, a fine silver watch, which came to hand all right. It is a good time-keeper. The old hero thought it would not be so, but they have changed their minds on it. I think that the paper, TRUTH, worth the money without any prize.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH ARMSTRONG.

TORONTO, Sept. 24th, 1884.

FRANK WILSON,
Dear Sir,—Many thanks for the prize silk dress awarded to me for answers to the Bible questions. Wishing great success in the future.

Yours respectfully,
S. COLEMAN.

MONTREAL, Sept. 27th, 1884.
Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of silver watch, which I received as a prize in Competition No. 10. It is a good time-keeper.

Yours truly,
THOMAS LEE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 19th, 1884.
S. FRANK WILSON,
Dear Sir,—I have received Tennyson's Poem, my prize for Competition No. 10. I did not expect it, for I am very ignorant. I am pleased with it, and like it.

both. I intend to subscribe for them every year whether I get a prize or not, although it is very nice to get a prize. Many thanks.

Yours truly,
Mrs. H. DUDLEY.

KETTLEBY, Sept. 27th, 1884.
S. F. WILSON, Esq.

DEAR SIR,—Please excuse me for not acknowledging the beautiful volume of Tennyson's Poems, awarded me in Competition No. 10. I am equally pleased with it and TRUTH.

Yours truly,
W. F. PEARSON.

Jumbo and Others.

"He knows nothing besides eating 700 pounds of hay, 2½ bushels of oats, 70 rounds of Graham bread, a bushel of carrots or turnips, and drinking three barrels of water each day," said the trainer. "He does that as regular as clock work, in two installments, and begs the rest of the time from every one who comes near him. He never goes off his feet not even when he sleeps, and he never lost his temper while we had him, except once, when something had angered him. That was in winter quarters at Bridgeport, but I soon got him quiet by putting an additional iron clasp on his tusks."

"But how can you handle such a colossus?" asked the reporter, glancing up at the fourteen feet in height which represent the 24,000 pounds of elephantine matter.

"We drive four stakes in a square, and fasten ropes with pulleys to each leg. Then we pull the legs apart until His Majesty's belly touches the ground. In that position we throw him and leave him fastened down until he begins to beg off. After that he is treated with kindness until another dose of pulley becomes necessary. But, as I say, Jumbo is a very pleasant fellow and well behaved."

"I presume the elephants soon learn to know their keepers," suggested the reporter.

"That they do, but not every elephant is kind. They grow wicked as they grow old, especially the bulls. We are more or less in danger all the time, but we become attached to them as a man will to a horse. They all have a special hobby or liking. For instance, Hebe, one of the herd, some years ago developed a great liking for a camel. Whenever the latter lay down Hebe would stand over him, put her trunk around his neck, blow on him, and express her love in shrill trumplings of delight.

"Gypsy, another of the herd, took to children, and when Frank Melville, the bare-back rider, travelled with us, Gypsy showed a remarkable fondness for his little son. The animal recognized the child every time it came into the tent, and was almost frantic if the boy didn't come up and fondle his trunk."

Mrs. Fanny Keanle, who ought to know pretty well what she is talking about pronounced Signor Salvini's delivery of "Ophelia's" farewell to be the finest of all readings of that passage, and beyond all question finer than Edmund Kean's.

Mr. and Mrs. Gratian Guinness, who for more than six years have managed the Livingston Island Mission, on the Congo River, West Africa, have arrived in Boston, where they will lecture on that region. Mrs. Guinness is the editor of a missionary journal, The Livingstone Record.

Miss Margaret Mather has been highly successful at the Court Theatre, Buffalo, the new theatre opened last Monday night under the management of Mr. James M. Hill. In her acting of Lady Macbeth it is declared that whatever may be the deficiencies of her present work, "she has given abundant evidence of unexpected power, and has acquired a role that will prove to great results with time and experience." Her Sophia in "The Honeymoon", is very thoroughly commended.

To disinfect a room, place an ordinary house shovel over the fire until it becomes thoroughly hot (but not red hot); then take it to the centre of the room and pour on the shovel so that no fluid can fall to the floor, and the carbolic will be readily given off in vapor sufficient to fill an ordinary room. This will disinfect the air of the room, and as genuine carbolic (more properly called phenol or phenyl alcohol) is not a mineral corrosive acid, the vapor will in no way injure pictures, metals or fabrics.

The City of Romeo has probably a greater proportion of ecclesiastics among its people than any other city in the world. Among its 180,000 inhabitants there are, besides the 170 parishes and vicariates, thirty-four bishops, 1,333 priests, 2,404 monks, 1,872 members of various orders, 2,709 nuns, and 1,500 lay brethren.
