

20. Where do I go for further information?

We hope we have addressed all your questions about Canadian policy on the export of military goods. Below is a list of publications and Web sites where further information or other points of view may be found. The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (DFAIT) produces the following relevant documents:

- Export of Military Goods from Canada — Annual Report
- A Guide to Canada's Export Controls

These are available from the DFAIT Export Controls Division at:

Telephone: (613) 996-2387

Facsimile: (613) 996-9933

Visit the Export and Import Controls Web site:

<http://www.dfait-maeci.gc.ca/~eicb/epd.home.htm>

Links to a variety of DFAIT and other sites relating to arms control and international security issues can be found through the DFAIT home page at

<http://www.dfait-maeci.gc.ca/menu-e.asp>

Some other web sites with data and diverse views on this and related issues include:

Canadian Aerospace Industries Association: <http://www.aiac.ca>

Saferworld: <http://www.gn.apc.org/sworld>

Prepcom (devoted to small arms): <http://www.prepcom.org/low/index.html>

Canadian Firearms Centre (includes information on firearms control in Canada):
<http://canadianfirearms.com>

The United Nations: <http://www.un.org>

The Stockholm International Peace Research Institute: <http://www.sipri.se>

Project Ploughshares: <http://watserv1.uwaterloo.ca/~plough/>

The Canadian Defence Industries Association: <http://www.cdia.ca>

The Conference of Defence Associations: <http://home.iSTAR.ca/~cda>

Wassenaar: <http://www.wassenaar.org>

Information and application forms may be obtained from the Export Controls Division at DFAIT or from our International Trade Centres, found in most major cities.