

The United States will have in the future a more important part to play than it has at present. It is a fact that the United States has been a world power since the beginning of the century. It has been a world power in the sense that it has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world.

The United States has been a world power since the beginning of the century. It has been a world power in the sense that it has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world.

The United States has been a world power since the beginning of the century. It has been a world power in the sense that it has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world.

The United States has been a world power since the beginning of the century. It has been a world power in the sense that it has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world. It has been a power which has been able to influence the course of world events in a way which has been beneficial to the world.