

responsibility which we are bound to accept, to do what it can to restore and improve this situation, and this item and the resolution which will result from it will give us that opportunity.

Accordingly, the Canadian Delegation commends this item for inclusion in our agenda. It is moderate in tone and substance. It is just, and it is humane. It makes possible action by which the United Nations may be able to secure the release of these prisoners and thereby further as well the interests of peace.
