River: St. Lawrence.

The distance from Kingston, by the St. Lawrence, to Montreal is 210 miles. The fine scenery along the river, of lakes and rapids, of islands and rocky shores, of wild and picturesque views, of rising towns and elegant seats, and the many scenes made memorable by historical events, always charm and amuse the traveller.

Besides the many objects which the city of Montreal affords to attract the attention of the tourist, the village of Varennes, on account of its medical spring and fine prospect, has become a place of much resort. The village is 15 miles from the city, and the spring is about a mile from the village. A steam-boat runs from Montreal to this place twice a day, and the boats that ply to and from Quebec usually stop.

Pursuing the route down the river, William Henry is 40 miles from Montreal. It is on the bank of the river Sorel, where it unites with the St. Lawrence.

The next place of importance is the Three Rivers, at the mouth of the St. Maurice. Some miles up the St. Maurice, are the falls of the Shawinnegame, of 100 feet.

The Richelieu rapids commence 7 miles below the Three Rivers. The navigation is considered dangerous in the night, and by steam-boats the rapids are always passed in the day time.

The distance to Quebec from Montreal, by steam-boat, is 180 miles. The traveller having arrived in this city, so celebrated for the many great events of which it has been the theatre, and for its strong fortifications, will, at his leisure, accompanied by some well-informed citizen, or hired guide, visit all the locations and objects of attraction within and around the city.

The Falls of Montmorenci are eight miles northeast of Quebec, on the river of the same name, and near the
