HALIFAX POLICE HAVE SNAP COMPARED WITH ST. JOHN MEN

St. John's Policemen are Underpaid and Have no Advantages ---Halifax Pays More Money, Gives a Grant for Clothes and Has a Patrol Wagon.

In conversation with the Times a prominent citizen said: "Perhaps no department is so neglected and so poorly remunerated by the city as is the police department. When one considers the hours of duty, the nature of the work he is called upon to do, the dangers that must necessarily be attached to his duties, it is any wonder that policemen register a kick." Compared with cities throughout the province it will be readily ascertained that it is no high time the common council should listen to the complaints of the police.

LATE LOCALS

Sergeant Hastings, who for some time has been afflicted with rheumatism, visited Central Station this morning.

The Swedish bark Wabfield, Captain Hallberg, arrived today from Gothenburg, Sweden, to load deal for the other side.

The Norwegian bark Undal, Captain Gabrielsen, arrived last evening from Liverpool, G. B., with 10,000 bags salt for Andrew Malcolm.

There will be no game of baseball in the West Side Baseball League tonight, owing to some trouble with the Jubilee team, which has retired to play.

The Dufferins and the Sharks are doing battle this afternoon on the Victoria grounds and Pete McAllister is holding the indicator. Anyone who makes a home run will be fired.

The large three-masted schooner C. W. Mills, Captain Mailman, arrived from Antigonish, Florida, last night with 20,000 feet of pitch pine lumber for Joseph A. Likely.

In the estate of Helen M. Bell letters testamentary have been granted to Giles Osgood, the executor named in the will. The estate values at $2,000 real and $1,000 personal property. E. T. C. Knowles, executor.

Steamer Senlar, Captain McKinnon, arrived in port early this morning from Halifax and call ports, with a number of passengers and a good freight. She sails again on her return trip this evening with a full freight.

Martin Warn has been reported by Officer Finley for assaulting Robert I. Garnett on Brunswick street on the 24th inst. between nine and ten o'clock. Robert Lawson, William Galbraith and the complainant will be the witnesses when the case comes before Judge Ritchie.

There is a good supply of fresh fish in market for tomorrow's trade. Choice mackerel are being offered at 20 cents each, harbor salmon is quoted at 16, 20 and 24 cents a pound according to cut, and is selling at from 20 to 35 cents. Bass are offered at 10c. lb.; cod and haddock, 5c. lb.; gaspereaux, 20c. doz.; smelt, 10c. lb.; halibut, 12c. lb.; lobsters, 12c. each. There is the usual supply of smoked and salt fish.

A telephone message reached central station this morning to the effect that a cat had been run over and badly injured on the corner of Union and German street.

A communication having been sent to Officer Bowes, the latter went to the place where the injured animal was supposed to be, but the cat was gone. The officer had his gun in order but no shots were required under the circumstances.

BASKET BALL IN WEST END

There was an interesting game of basket ball in the City Hall, West End, last evening, when the St. George's defeated the St. Paul's team by a score of 8 to 7. The teams were very evenly matched. The lineup was as follows: St. Paul's, St. George's. Forwards. St. Paul's: G. Johnston, W. Knox, W. Sampson. St. George's: R. Stevens, Centre. C. Burrell. Defenders. J. London, D. Deane. A. Starkey, Jas. Belyea, Jas. Burrell, R. Schofield.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Cotton futures opened steady; June 19.47; July, 19.52; August, 19.65; Sept. offered, 19.67; October, 19.81; Nov. offered, 19.84; December, 19.85; January, 19.29 bid; Feb. 19.40, 41, March, 19.47.

Miss Gertrude McDonald came from Fredericton this morning.

"The police department in this city numbers 40 strong, and the men receive no allowance per year for clothes. Each policeman, however, receives an overcoat free every three years, a helmet every three years, and a cap for winter. They have to buy their own suits both winter and summer, and very often suits are ruined in a difficult arrest. If their trousers happen to be torn while making an arrest they have to replace them at their own personal expense. Every three years each policeman in Halifax receives the sum of $120, and it will readily be seen how ill the St. John officers fare compared with the cops in the Nova Scotia city.

"Unlike Halifax, St. John has no superannuation fund for her officers, and when they become too old for work, they are forced to retire and can they retire comfortably on the savings of the small wages they receive."

"Chief Clark is appointed by the local legislature and receives a large salary. He has the power of appointing and discharging men and the authority does not lie in the hands of a commission. Much has been said late about the need of a patrol wagon, and yet the common council has not made any move in the matter. Women and men still continue to be dragged through the streets by policemen, who have no option in the matter."

"The citizen, with whom the Times talked, said that he gleaned the above information to satisfy his own personal curiosity, and was surprised to find how the policemen here were treated."

ROSELLE KNOTT at the Opera House in "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

The settings of Sweetly, Shipman & Co.'s great production of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," five in number, are gorgeously handsome and appropriate; the atmosphere striking and handsomely contained in the Tudor style, and there is much to charm the ear and satisfy the eye about the play. Yet, after all, Roselle Knott, as Mary Tudor, permeates the entire substance so completely that she becomes more than the Hamlet of the piece. She is the Hamlet, Ophelia, Polonius and almost all combined into one central figure. A creature of many contradictions, yet radiant in the grace and power of true womanhood, the daughter of a line of kings, a woman more profound than Rosalind, more real than Juliet, and altogether splendid in her possibilities, is the alpha and omega of the play which Paul Keeter has drawn with great art from the story which Charles Major wrote one time in Indiana.

POLICE COURT

Samuel Allen, who was arrested yesterday by Officer Collins in the I. C. R. yard for drunkenness, was fined $8 yesterday afternoon by Judge Ritchie, but the penalty was allowed to stand, the condition being that Allen would leave the city and betake himself to Bonnie River, where he is employed.

This morning in the police court Daniel Fitch, for drunkenness, was fined $8 or 100 days in jail with hard labor. James Lance, hailing from England, was found wandering about Dock street by Officers White and Ross last night, and as he did not give a satisfactory account of himself to the police he was placed behind the golden gates.

This morning Officer White stated that on Tuesday night Lance slept in a box car on the I. C. R. wharf, and when found this morning he was in a dull condition. The prisoner admitted that he had no regular place to go, and this morning he was fined $8 or two months in jail with hard labor.

Three prisoners were brought into the police court at noon today and disposed of as follows: Thomas Dunlop, arrested some time ago for drunkenness and for carrying a revolver was fined $8 for drunkenness, which penalty was paid, and he was also fined $25 for carrying the weapon. The latter fine was allowed to stand against him for his future good behavior.

Joseph Clacey, who was arrested for being drunk, was allowed to go on suspended sentence, the condition being that he take the pledge for six months. If found drunk again he will be sent to jail without the option of a fine.

Johnny Curran was fined $8 for drunkenness, and as he promised to do better he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

FABIO ROMANI

One of the most important engagements of the season commences this evening with the presentation of "Fabio Romani" by E. R. Sellers company, and will continue Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee. The play is a dramatization of Marie Corelli's most popular and famous novel, "The Vendetta," and will be interpreted by a company all of whom have been engaged with reference to their special ability for the characters assigned them. Every city where this production has been seen, it has been greeted by applause and well filled houses. The play is now in its fifteenth year, which should be a sufficient guarantee of the merits of the entertainment, which, about double, ranks with the best romantic dramas of the day. Seats are now on sale at the box office for the entire engagement, which is limited to three nights and Saturday matinee.

T. M. Davidson, Halifax; W. E. Cochran, C. J. Cochran, Windsor; Edwin R. Beals, Boston, and A. E. Thompson of Chance Harbor are at the New Victoria.

Rev. Fr. Poirier, of Quaco, arrived in the city yesterday at noon and is at the Palace.
