Other teams not scheduled to play.
Local Men in Game at Shoreham. Fredericton boys have been taking a prominent part in athletics at the front, as well as doing courageous and valiant work on the battlefield. A recent communication from W. R. Clarke, 19th Reserve Battalion, C.E.F., Shoreham-by-Sea, gives an account of a ball game played recently at Brighton. The game was between teams of the 18th N. B. Reserve Battalion, who won the championship of the Seaford and Shoreham areas, when they defeated the Seaford nine by a score of 3 to 2. The N. B. team now has to play off with the champions of the Shoreham and the Branshott areas for the championship of England.

In describing the game Mr. Clarke says: “In clinching the championship last Saturday everybody played airtight ball, but with bases full, Corporal Teddy Burke, from Fredericton, came up to the plate and walloped the ball for a two-bagger, bringing in two runs, and then Watson, our pitcher, hit safe, and secured the third run. Weary of Woodstock, at short, played probably the best game on the field.

“The funny part of it was just about when the game was well started, an old English woman came out in front of the grandstand and started to, or rather tried to sell tea. Imagine a crowd of some hundreds of soldiers all on their toes at a ball game stopping to drink tea. I don't think I shall ever forget that day, was thrown against a post and trampled. Moleworth, his physicians said, suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and was badly cut about the face and body.

Victoria's Performance.
The opinion of James W. Power, sporting editor of the Acadia Recorder, and one of the best sporting authorities in Canada, says the Sussex Record, is that Dr. D. H. McAllister's trotting mare, Victoria, is not only the fastest trotting mare ever bred in the maritime provinces, but that she also holds the world's record for her performance at the recent Halifax exhibition races in having won three races within one week, and having trotted every heat better than 2:20 on a half mile track.

The following is taken from the Acadia Recorder of the 28th inst. What is thought by a number of horsemen to be a world's record was made by the trotting mare Victoria, owned by Dr. D. H. McAllister, Sussex, N.B., at the recent provincial exhibition at Halifax, is made in having won three races, within one week, and having trotted every heat better than 2:20 on a half mile track.

On Sept. 14, driven by Marzatti, she won the 219 trot in 1:14. 219%, 2:18% (second heat won by Cochato Lady in 2:19%) and on Sept. 17, won the 224 trot in 2:18%, 2:20, 2:19%. On Sept. 20, driven by Boutiller, she won the free-for-all trot in 2:18%, 2:18%, 2:18%. Three years ago, Helen R., owned by Captain D. A. McKinnon, Charlottetown, won two races at Halifax within a week, with every heat from 2:16% to 2:19%, but she was a pacer. Noted turf statisticians will be asked if Victoria's Jockey Fatally Hurt.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 28.—Little hope for recovery was held out last night by physicians attending to George Moleworth, a widely known jockey, who, while riding Rafferty, favorite in a race at Douglas Park race track here yesterday, was thrown against a post and trampled. Moleworth, his physicians said, suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and was badly cut about the face and body.

HOLDING THE BALL THAT BEANED TRIS
The ball with which Tris Speaker was recently beamed is to be Exhibit A in the coming winter campaign for the total abolition of sliding ball. The ball is now in Chicago, in the hands of President Ben Johnson, of the American League, to whom it was forwarded by Umpire Brick Owens.

“It's half white and half black,” are Johnson's words describing this ball, “and it doesn't look like a baseball at all when it comes to the plate.”

“My recent order against discolored balls was directed against pitched balls, not the fire of world scelerity,” Danforth, of the Chicago White Sox, who beamed Speaker, is one of the offenders.

“After being warned against discolored balls in that game, he came right back and used another one which had been blackened in the ways,” Danforth said.

“My order didn't refer to the shine ball, but only to the discolored ball.”

Twelve Round Draw.

Boston, Sept. 28.—Fred Dyer, Australian middleweight, and Tommy Robson of Malden, fought twelve rounds to a draw last night. Robson forced the battle, but was unable to penetrate Dyer's peculiar style of defense for a decisive blow.

HOCKEY.
No Matches This Year.
According to present indications there will be no hockey games in St. John this winter. Murray Jarvis, the well known promoter, said that a local team may be organized and may go abroad to play, but that there would be no opportunity of playing any matches here. He signified his willingness to assist any junior organizations in learning the inside points of the game.

WHO'LL BE HEROES OF THE SERIES?

World Championship Games Usually Produce Some

Glance Back At Other Years

More Veterans With Giants Than White Sox Have But Some of the Youngsters May Turn Trick in Game of Series

New York, Sept. 29.—One of the outstanding features of world series history has been the fact that almost every contest of this baseball classic has developed one or more so-called heroes—players who have uncovered what has been termed a superman type of game under the stress and excitement of the struggle.

The pitching of Christy Mathewson in the series against the Philadelphia Athletics in 1904; the heavy batting of Franklin Baker against the Giants in the Philadelphia-New York contests of 1911, when he pounded out two home runs at critical periods in the play and drove in five runs during the series; cannonading of Hank Gowdy's bat in the Boston Braves' victory over the Athletics in the struggle of 1914 when the Braves' catcher startled the baseball world with his terrific hitting that gave him an average of .446 and an assortment of drives which constituted one home run, one three bagger, three two-bag hits and five singles, in eleven times at bat, all made world series history.

The same can be said of the field play of Harry Hooper in the famous eight-game series between the Boston Americans and the New York Nationals; the work of third baseman Rube of the Chicago Americans in 1906 when that team defeated the Chicago Nationals four games out of six; Eddie Collins' remarkable showing at second base for the Athletics in the series of 1910 and 1918 and Pitcher Geo. Witte's one-inning stand that beat the Giants in 1918. The list might be continued almost indefinitely if all the stars were to be given their due.

Various reasons have been advanced for this marked lifting of their game and they have been referred to as “star players” “series cracker” and “game breakers” to distinguish them from the men whose work in the big contests is neither more or less sensational than their seasonal play.

There is a wide field of speculative possibilities among the players of the Chicago Americans and the New York Nationals and world series heroes may spring from unexpected positions in the coming contest. In veteran material tested in the fire of world series struggle the New York Giants have a decided advantage over their rivals. Whether all of these players will get into the series, however, remains to be seen.

In addition to Manager McGraw, who has led four teams in the big leagues, Pitcher Terreau was a member of the Giants' team which figured in championship play of 1912 and 1918; Herndon and Fletcher, infielders, participated in the series of 1911, 1912 and 1918; Zimmerman was a member of the Chicago Nationals when that club met the Philadelphia Athletics in 1910; Catcher George Gibson was behind the plate for the Pittsburgh team when that combination played the Detroit Americans in 1909, and Pitcher Demaree and Outfielder Burns played with the Giants in the series of 1918 against the Athletics.

In sharp contrast the White Sox have but two players who have participated in any of the series. The Chicago second baseman, Eddie Collins, the Chicago second baseman, was a member of Connie Mack's famous pennant and world series machine a few years ago and figured prominently in the struggles of 1910-11-18-14.

Eddie Murphy was also a member of the Athletics for several years and was a factor in the series play. Infielder Robert Byrne was enrolled with the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Nationals in 1909 and 1915 when these teams won the right to play the American League pennant winners for the world's championship.

There is also much promising material among the younger members of the series and it is not at all unlikely that one or more of these players, united in the premier diamond conflict, may prove the deciding factor in either a game or the series as a whole. Certainly some of them have excellent records to support the supposition. Benny Kauff, the star batter of the defunct Federal League; Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, football player and former member of several major and minor league clubs; Pitcher Fred Anderson; Walter Holke and others of the younger Giants all appear as possessing possibilities in this direction.

The White Sox roster includes the names of several players who have sprung into baseball prominence within the last season or two and it may be from this list there will appear one who by a spectacular fielding feat, long hit or brilliant piece of base running will gain a place in the world series hall of fame at a bound. Infielder Charley Risberg and Outfielder Oscar Felch have played remarkable baseball this season and should maintain the pace during the series. In addition the White Sox have many players of far greater big league experience, who have never had a chance to figure in the most important of all diamond clashes and it is not surprising if one or more of these men leaped to the fore in the race for world series fame.

RUSSIAN POLITICS
Voting in Democratic Congress—
Levine Stays in Hiding Place
Petrograd, Sept. 29.—The Maximalists and Social democrats at yesterday's session of the democratic congress voted 81 to 17 in favor of a coalition cabinet to include representatives of the Bourgeois, and by 86 to 81 against the inclusion of the constitutional democrats. The revolutionary socialists voted in favor of a coalition excluding the constitutional democrats, 91 to 87. Premier Kerensky conferred with the representatives of the Moscow industrial group regarding their possible entry into the cabinet. They replied they would participate if the cabinet was wholly independent of any party or political association.

The government in replying to the demands of the Maximalists for the involability of Nikolai Lenine at the congress, said he would not be arrested in the hall of the congress, but would be apprehended if found outside the hall. The Maximalists therefore decided not to bring Lenine from his hiding place.
