CORONATION PICTURES AT LYRIC

The Lyric and Lyric both exhibited the coronation pictures last Saturday, there by establishing something of a record for the progressive management of these houses. All possible arrangements had been made some time in advance of the great event, and on the evening of June 22 two different copies of the great pageant were run from London addressed to P. G. Spencer. The Gaumont Company in Paris, represented locally by Allan McBeath, supplied the Lyric, and a London manufacturer the Lyric. Mr. Spencer's local house to give a photographic reproduction of the scenes which have recently occupied the attention of the entire world. The greatest picture features will be seen in the Lyric and Lyric mid-week at least, and the management wishes to emphasize the fact that the pictures in each theatre are entirely different, and patrons should see both.

ANNOUNCEMENT

This simple announcement will be at once apparent to every clothing buyer in this vicinity. We put the bare of trunks, flannels, shirts, and blouses of tin horns, we put out our grand mid-summer sale on Friday morning, July 7. In these days of recession, we are dealing with a multitude of elegant garments that tax the imagination for their unusual price. In reading our plain announcement, you know the old adage says "Empty wagons always make the most noise." Read the daily papers for further particulars and keep the opening date in mind.

PICTURES DELAYED

Coronation Views for Gem Theatre Expected Tomorrow or Wednesday

It is a matter of much regret with the management of the Gem Theatre that they are compelled to make the announcement that the coronation pictures which had been due to arrive today, did not come, but will probably reach the city tomorrow or Wednesday. It is through no fault of the Gem management, however, as the pictures were delayed in transmission. The pictures in question are declared the only official pictures taken of the coronation festivities, and were secured under a royal warrant by Charles Ibbotson of London.

VIOLATING BY-LAWS.
Abraham and Meyer Lavigne, reported by I. C. R. Polhemus Smith for loitering about the Union Depot and interfering with passengers, were before Judge Ritchie in the police court this morning and were fined $5 each. Louis Keszely, reported for throwing banana peels on the sidewalk in Main street, was fined $2, and Scott Silliver was fined a like amount for throwing potatoes on the same street.

POLICE COURT TODAY

Nine prisoners were arrested by the police for drunkenness on the holiday. Six of them were allowed out on deposits and did not appear in court this morning. The three to face Judge Ritchie this morning were John Fitzgerald, Cornelius O'Leary and Thomas Davis. All three were remanded.

The young fellow arrested a few days ago for stealing two sets of clothes from the Halifax House in Mill street was also before the court. The evidence of Detective Killen was taken after which the prisoner pleaded guilty. His Honor told him that he was liable to five years in Dorchester, but on account of letters received from his home in New Glasgow, he would allow him to go home. Rev. G. A. Kukering was in court in the interest of the boy. The latter left for his home on the 12:40 train.
