NOTES AND COMMENTS

CANADA'S HEAD IS LEVEL

(Toronto Star.)

Canada is now occupying the centre of the stage, a pleasing, but also a trying orical. The presence of the Prince of Wales, the message from the King, the speeches of the French Admiral and the Vice-President of the United States, the congratulations from the sister colonies are all gratifying to the pride of a young nation. But better than all these is the assurance that Canada is not being spied by success and by praise; that her pride is not vanity, but a more solid and sterling quality.

Visitors have written many books and articles about Canada, and it is strange that not one of them has hit upon the distinguishing Canadian characteristic which is coolness, freedom from hysteria, and the ability to strike a middle course between extremes if the national character had been more inflammable, there might have been some big fires. There was danger in the relations between the French and English races, danger in the relations between Protestant and Catholic, danger in the relations between Canada and the United States, danger in the relations between Canada and the United Kingdom. Considering the danger, the fires were wonderfully small and easily extinguished.

There was war with the United States nearly a century ago, before either Canada or the United States had taken the conception of national responsibility. There was a flare of rebellion in 1837 and 1838. The flame was no sooner extinguished than the cool common-sense of Canadians asserted itself in a steady unswerving, dispassionate endeavor for self-government. Self-government was granted about sixty years ago. Next arose the need for settling the relations between the French-Canadians and those who traced their descent from the British Islands. The foundations of a peaceful settlement were laid in the federal principle, which was adopted in 1867.

Today all the relations to which we referred are of the most satisfactory character. And why? Because they have all been settled upon a basis of justice and reason, because in every case the distinguishing characteristic of Canadians, cool, hard common-sense has asserted itself. When the question was raised whether one race or another should dominate, the answer was "None." There must be no denomination, but equality and justice. When the question was raised whether we should quarrel with the United States, the answer was that we should maintain our independence with a friendly attitude toward our neighbors.

And the remarkable thing is that the more we have asserted our independence the more friendly have been the relations between Canada and the United States.

SPORTING NEWS

LONDON AND POWLING.

London Free Press.—The reason that the bowling tournament in London every year is the greatest of them all is because the city is just the right population for such an event. There is no loquacious like that of being alone in a crowd, and it is for that reason that there will never be the number of cranks at Toronto that London annually entertains. In this city the coming of the bowlers is one of the events of the year. In fact it is the one big sporting event, and for weeks the bowling fraternity are preparing to take care of their prospective guests. Consequently when they arrive they find the finest little city in Ontario tickled all over with itself to have them and entirely devoted to the pursuit of giving the invaders the absolute time of their lives, no matter what line of enjoyment they may prefer. In a large city it is impossible for although perhaps the drop in the bucket makes quite a little splash, still it is just a drop after all, while in a city of the size of London it's a cloudburst.

A smaller city could not entertain them, so Londoners can congratulate themselves that their city is just the proper measurement for a bowling tournament, anyhow.

BARRETT HAL WINS.

Detroit, July 31.—What proved to be the most brilliant and successful grand circuit meeting ever held in Detroit ended today.

The 2,077 race stake was the feature, and it threatened the record in the first four heats. Copa De Oro, the favorite did not compete. Darkey Hal, the Canadian filly, owned by Art Brown of Leamington, went by the others in the stretch in the first heat and won handily in fast time. In the next heat Auto took the pole very soon and held on, winning by a neck from Copa De Oro in a fierce drive with Darkey Hal at the second horse's ear. Another hard drive and Lumber finished third. Snow did not offer to try very hard with Darkey Hal in this mile, but in the fourth he came fast with her in the stretch and sending Auto to a break near the finish won handily. The fifth was easy for Darkey Hal. Auto broke badly, and was distanced. In the stretch George Gano fell in a heap, throwing Driver Cox, but neither horse nor driver was hurt.

Origin of the Postal Card.

In 1869, while Professor Emanuel Herrmann of Vienna was seeking a vast amount of information by correspondence for the Study of National Economy," the thought occurred to him that many advantages would result from the adoption of a means of correspondence cheaper than the sealed letter. On Jan. 26 he went before the Austrian post director with his idea, an open, stamped card, and his suggestion was almost immediately adopted. Within a month the Austrian postal authorities printed and sold 1,000,000 postal cards and thus established this indispensable means of communication.

An Unconscious Toast.

Lord Clyde one day after dinner asked a chaplain to one of the regiments in India for a toast, who, after considering some time, at length exclaimed, with great simplicity: "A lass and a lady! What can I give?" "Nothing better," replied his lordship. "Come, gentlemen; we'll give a bumper to the parson's toast, 'A lass and a lady.'" "A lass means 100,000 rupees, or $25,000, which is certainly an income to make one happy.—London Chronicle.

Exercising the Dog.

"Justin," said Mrs. Wynn. "Yes," read Mr. Wynn. "Will you speak a kind word to Fido and make him wag his tail? He hasn't had one bit of exercise all day."
