

THE SPECTATOR.

ESTABLISHED, 1836.

Published Weekly, at the City of Toronto, by D. McLELLAN.

THE SPECTATOR. A WEEKLY JOURNAL OF THE MOST COMPLETE IN THE BRITISH EMPIRE. Its extent and variety of type, the number of pages, and all the latest and saving appliances, are considered as being fully equal to any of our English Publications.

It is published by D. McLELLAN, at the City of Toronto, at the office of the SPECTATOR, No. 26, King Street, East, Toronto, Ontario.

SOLELY PROPRIETOR.

Now being published by the Convention of the

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION,

of the Province of Ontario, and of the Diocese of Toronto, for the purpose of publishing a series of

D. McLELLAN,

BOOK-SELLER,

No. 26, King Street, Toronto, Ontario.

It is desired to inform the public that the following works are now in stock at the office of the SPECTATOR, No. 26, King Street, East, Toronto, Ontario, and may be had on order from the same office.

FOR THE USE OF

SABBATH SCHOOL TEACHERS.

AT THE WOLEYAN BOOK-BINDING, TORONTO,

Notwithstanding the fact that the works mentioned above are now in stock at the office of the SPECTATOR, No. 26, King Street, East, Toronto, Ontario, and may be had on order from the same office, it is desired to inform the public that the following works are now in stock at the office of the SPECTATOR, No. 26, King Street, East, Toronto, Ontario, and may be had on order from the same office.

Published by D. McLELLAN, at the City of Toronto, at the office of the SPECTATOR, No. 26, King Street, East, Toronto, Ontario.