OSHAWA MIRACIE INVESTIGATED.

A Sworn Statement of Facts Almost Beyond Bellef.

The Toronto Mail and Empire sends a Reperter to Oshawa His Inquiries Result in Complete Vertification of Original Story. Very many startling stories of wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills have been published in these columns, and in other newspapers all over the country from time to time. Every case has been so well authenticated as to leave little froom for doubt, and yet the statements made and the cures reported, have, in many cases, been so nearly miraculous as to be almost beyond belief. Recently, The Mail and Empire of Toronto and other papers, published a despatch from Oshawa, in which it was said that a mechanic in the Oshawa Malleable Iron Works had been cured of paralysis by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and that, after he had been absolutely helpless for four months, and had been given up by the physicians at the Hospital in Toronto.

This was too much for many peopl to believe, and numerous demands were made on the paper in question for a verification or correction.

One correspondent signing himself "Medicus," in a letter to the Mail and Empire openly disputed the possibility of such a cure.

To get at the real facts a reporter was sent to Oshawa, and the result was a complete, and very satisfactory confirmation of the original despatch. To put the matter absolutely beyond question the following sworn statement was secured:

THE STATEMENT OF MR. BROWN.

In the fall of 1897 I was taken ill with what most of the doctors called paralysis, and others nervous prostration. It commenced with a stiffness and soreness in the calves of my legs and gradually increased till I could not move either of my arms or legs, having lost all power in them. I could not have raised my arms to my head to save my life. For over four months I could not stand or walk alone single step. I doctored with all the local doctors, and then with a Bowmanville doctor. Each one gave me some different medicine, but the more I took the worse I got.

At last the Bowmanville doctor told me that nothing could be done for me unless I went to the hospital in Toronto, where they might perhaps have some later treatment for paralysis which would fit my case. I went there toward the end of January, 1898, and remained under treatment in that institution for a little over four weeks All was in vain. I got worse. Twelve doctors told me I could not recover, and that nothing could be done for me, so as I was getting worse every day, and there was no hope of their being able to help me in the least, I was removed to my home here. I was like a baby, unable to move.

At this extremity someone advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and my wife bought a box. We had not the slightest idea that they would help me, but like a drowning man I grasped at every straw. After I had used the first box, the numbness began to leave my finger tips, and I felt a little better, and kept on using the pills. By two months' time I could walk a little, and shortly afterward was able to go short distances without assistance. The first time I went down town, one of the doctors who had given me up saw me across the street, and not being able to believe his eyes, went to my brother, Robert, and asked: that your brother Joe?" Robert told him that it was I, and he said in astonishment: "Well, I never expected to see him around again."

I used, altogether, twelve boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and by the first of May I was able to start to work again in the shop here, and I have never been sick or off work a day since, and that is over three and a

I am glad of the opportunity to make this statement, for I am sure I owe my life, health and strength to work to that great remedy, Dodd's Kidney SWORN CONFIRMATION. CANADA:) I JOSEPH BROWN, Province of Ontario, of the Town of Osha wa, in the County of Ontario and Province County of Ontario, of Ontario, Do Solemnly Declare, That the above statement, signed by me, is absolutely true, and I make this solemn declaration, believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act.

(Signed), JOSEPH BROWN. Declared before me at the Town of) Oshawa in the County of Ontario, this 15th day of January, A. D. J. F. GRIERSON, a Notary Public. SEAL

This, therefore, is the true story in detail of this most remarkable case No room is left for doubt or dispute and the original Oshawa despatch is confirmed in all its particulars.

If this is possible and no one can now doubt it-then one can easily understand how any of the many wonderful cures reported have been accomplished by the same means, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

WOLVES IN YORK COUNTY.

(Fredericton Herald.) As Henry Currie of Royal Road and his brother Samuel were chopping on Monday, their attention was attracted by what was supposed to be three dogs running over a clearing several hundred vards distant. The animals had their noses to the ground and were giving utterance to piteous howls as they trotted along. Their peculiar actions caused the Chirries to investigate more closely, and they were not long in arriving at the conclusion that the animals were not dogs but wolves. They described them as being about as large as a Newfoundland dog, dark grey in color, with long, shaggy hair. They growled savagely as the nien approached, but did not attempt to attack them. Deer are quite plentiful in the locality where the savage animals were seen, and it is supposed that they were out searching for a meal of that kind, Wolves were quite plentiful in the but there is no record of any having been seen in the province of late years. The Curries, however, are confident that the quadrupeds they saw were real, genuine wolves, and they are going to try to shoot or trap them.

CAUSE OF THE MOOSEHEAD AC-CIDENT.

Superintendent Oborne returned yesterday from Moosehead, where he had been since Monday's accident overseeing the repair work. The replacing of the six derailed cars was greatly facilitated by the work of the new steam crane which has been attached to the wrecking train. The last three were replaced Thursday.

It has been decided that the accident vas due to the breaking of the tread of a wheel on the rear car, in such a manner as to form a wedge, straining the truck over so much that the flange of the opposite wheel broke, throwing the car from the rails and dragging the others with it.

"SCARRED FOR LIFE"

Skin diseases in many cases may need the "inward" application to remove the taint

Only needs a few applications of this magic healer to any skin disease to clear away all signs of outward disorder and leave the affected part as smooth and soft as an infant's cheek.

KING'S CAMPAIGN.

The Opposition Candidate's Rattling Speech at Bloomfield.

Mr. Sproul Discussed Live Issues in Calm But Most Forcible Manner.

HAMPTON, Kings Co., Feb. 14-Last evening Fred M. Sproul, the opposition candidate in the approaching by-election, addressed the ratepayers of Bloomfield in MoVey's hall, H. H. Cochran in the chair. The night was stormy, with a strong northeast wind, which made travelling anything but a pleasure. Still there was a goodly number present, and most of them representative men of the surrounding listricts.

Mr. Sproul's address occupied about wo hours and was received with hearty applause. An opportunity was ccorded for the audience to ask questions, but there was only one respons to the invitation.

Mr. Sproul was asked by Oscar Wetmore: "If elected, will you favor a prohibitory liquor law?"

To which Mr. Sproul replied: "Most eartily; and more than that I will not support any government will not undertake to promote such a measure. I may say, however, that I am more strongly in favor of a dominion than of a mere local act, because, as with the present Scott Act in the municipalities. liquor can be manufactured or brought from adjoining districts or provinces where similar legislation is not in force, while with a general prohibtory act, the manufacture and sale would be entirely excluded, or violations be severely punished. Still, a provincial act would be beneficial, and I am heartily in favor of it." This declaration elecited prolonged The address itself was a clear and forcible presentation of the speaker's views and position in regard to the public acts of the provincial parliament and their bearing on the general welfare. He opened by deprecating selection of the winter months for holding the election, a time a great electors-bread winners-were absent from their homes in the New Brunswick woods, or scattered through the lumber camps of Maine and Nova He referred to the attorney general's appeal to the young men of the county who would for the first time exercise their franchise, but such professions of interest were easily made. It was for them to judge their sincerity from the facts. Since October, 1900, there had been no insur-mountable difficulty in bringing on the election at a time when a larger vote rould have been polled than is possible at the present season ,and Kings county had been partially disfran chised as a consequence of the delay. However, the time had come. He had government, and Mr. King as the candidate in its favor, more than a year ago, but the developments of Rothesay non-resident list caused the government to hold the election over Now the time had come. The private life and acts of a candilate formed no reason why one candidate should abuse or offensively characterize his opponent. These matters might affect the personal views of voters, but formed no ground for one to claim pre-eminence over another. itical acts, tergiversations and wanderings of a candidate were, nowever fair matters for attack, and, so far as Mr. King was concerned, to these he should confine his remarks. He then read a quotation from Mr. King's nomination speech, in which he stated that the opposition had no policy and was buried as deep as the ruined cities of Herculaneum and Pompeli, with no Miramichi country many years ago, power of resurrection. Surprised at the poetic imagery of the speaker, he naturally looked about to find from what source he was indebted for such highflown expressions, and discovered that Mr. King was quoting liberally from a letter written by Martin Coleman to Mr. Osman, the member for Albert in 1898, as recorded on page 107 of the Sypnotic Reports of Legislative Proceedings for that year. He had no objection to Mr. King's seeking for knowledge, even in the erratic and verbose writings of his old friend

Coleman, but it seemed a pity that he did not extend his investigations a little farther and learn the truth as to whether the opposition was really dead and without a policy, for he would have found on an earlier page of that same report the platform of the opposition clearly laid down, the leading planks in which were: 1st-A demand for a strictly secret 2nd-A demand that no contract for public work should be entered into without tender, the lowest reliable tender to be accepted. 3rd-A demand for a radical change n the system of auditing the public accounts, and the appointment of an auditor general, unremovable from ffice except for cause. 4th-A demand for the wise and efficient conservation of the forests and fisheries, and so on.

Surely these, and such matters, do not indicate the want of a policy, nor that the promoters of such principles are dead and buried, or that a modern New Brunswick Vesuvius has over-whelmed them. No, these are vital questions from the standpoint of the Mr. Sproul proceeded to examine these planks in the opposition plat-form more minutely. He contrasted the ballot in the hands of the voter at the provincial and dominion election in the former openly in the hands of me heeler who never left his victim till his object was accomplished, and in the latter alone, with his conscience to guide him to a right use of his God given heritage. Under the provincial act all the penalties are inadequate. Personation is punishable by a civil action for damages. The result is well illustrated by the Rothesay bogus list roul) cor dssioners which the attorney general says was dropped. Of course it was dropped, for that gentle man brought in an act with such penalties attached that if the case had been carried on to a successful issue the whole commission would not have had means enough to pay the penalties, and the laugh turned on the complainant. No doubt this was in the mind of the astute lawyer when he drafted the bill. Another grievance was the power of the holder of a poll to count and de-stroy the ballots, leaving no means of etecting any wrong doing in the marking or casting of votes. All ballots should be returned with the statement and filed for use if needed. This was no imputation on the returning officers of Kings, but simply to render it impossible for dishonest men to do vrong in regard thereto. Mr. Sproul elaborated his demand for a redistribution of legislative seats in accordance with a fixed scale of population, going into the history of the province in the matter of representation. That some radical change in Sunbury county three men have the same voting power as eight men in Kings. There should be a redistribution, without interfering with present cipal boundaries, as to bring of members by five, and thus reduce

Many illustrations were given to show the need of a revised system of bookkeeping, and he claimed that not only could no representative tell, if asked, the cost of any public department, but the members of the government cannot tell what the debt is. And further than that, the premier himself does not know; for whereas in his estimates he stated that it would require $124,000 to pay the interest on the

does not know; for whereas in his settimates he stated that it would require $122,000 to pay the interest on the debt, it actually took $136,135, as shown by page $3 of the reports of 1901, and in the auditor general's statement in the Royal Gazette of December in that year. It is evident that in this matter the premier was either deceiving the public or that he did not know what the debt really is, for he could not come within $12,000 of it.

On page 6 of the synoptical report the lieutenant governor in his speech from the throne was made to say that the damage to roads and bridges had involved an extraordinary expenditure, the accounts of which would be laid before the legislature. That was in April, but the house adjourned and these accounts had not been submitted. In December the auditor general amnounced that the accounts for the year ending Oct. 31st did not include the full amount of expenditure by the board of works, as the cost of these damages was still in progress. So that no information on this important matter had been given to the people. Why should it be possible for the head of a department of the government to cause the auditor general to withhold a statement of the public accounts? Such a thing could not be done by the dominion government, because the auditor general to withhold a statement of the public accounts? Such a thing could not be done by the dominion government, because the auditor general to withhold a statement of the public accounts? Such a thing could not be done by the dominion government, because the auditor general to withhold as statement of the public accounts? Such a thing of joint meeting at the public accounts? Such a thing with the people's accounts. This matter is in the hands of the people. Or reading Mr. King's nomination speech, in which he claimed there was no opposition, Mr. Stewart's death has since taken place in the ship san Domingo, which was stranded of Bast with which we was called to Mrs. At the such place in the such place in the such place in the such plac
