

15 YEARS A DYSPEPTIC

Forced to Live on Stale Bread and Porridge.

'FRUIT-A-TIVES' CURED HIM

Avondale, N. B., October 15th.

"I have been a great sufferer from indigestion for fifteen years. I was forced to deny myself all such hearty foods as beans, meats, potatoes and could not drink tea or coffee. For the past two years, I lived on porridge, stale bread, etc. I had treatment from two doctors, and tried nearly every kind of medicine, but got worse. Finally I saw a testimonial of 'Fruit-a-tives' and concluded to give them a trial. I took nearly four boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and they have made me feel like a new man. I can eat all kinds of hearty foods without suffering, and am no longer constipated."

LEWIS A. W. BROWN.

MODERN EGG TESTER IN USE AT APOHAQUI

Apoahqui, Dec. 5.—Seth Jones, poultry expert for the provincial department of agriculture, was in the village on Friday and installed an up-to-date egg tester in Jones Bros. store. This is the first egg tester of its kind in the province.

Frank Humphrey, of New York, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Humphrey. Apoahqui is well represented at the Amherst winter fair. Amongst those who went yesterday and today are Col. H. Montgomery Campbell, M. H. Parlee, Reginald Raymond, Howard Raymond, Howard Patterson, James McAdams and Walter McAdams. The lumber cut in this section will be smaller this year than for many years past. Jones Bros. will only cut about half their usual amount.

Mrs. C. W. Weyman's condition remains unchanged. Painful Accident. Chas. Cooley, a brakeman on the C. P. R. had an ankle badly sprained on Tuesday evening while at work about some freight cars, when his foot caught in the truck and he was knocked down. At the emergency hospital Dr. Kenney attended to his injuries.

Incipient Strike.
Work of unloading sugar from the Cromarty at the I. C. R. pier was held up for a short time on Tuesday night by an incipient strike of the men employed on the steamer. Satisfactory arrangements, however, were agreed upon and the work was resumed after a short delay.

FRENCHMAN COMPLICATES SITUATION

Paris, Dec. 6.—That question of who is entitled to the middleweight championship of the world, never of late an easy puzzle to solve, has been further complicated by the entry of Georges Carpentier, formerly welterweight champion of Europe, into the ranks of the 155 pound boxers. So rapidly is this marvellous fighter growing that he refuses any longer to make the welterweight limit, and is now out to sweep all before him in the middleweight division as he has done in the lighter classes during the past four years.

No one who has seen Carpentier in action can get away from the fact that, of the form he has already shown, he is the most remarkable fighter of the present generation. All the men of authority on this side of the water pronounce him the best boxer since Young Griffe. He began fighting when he was fourteen years of age and at a time when France was producing world-beating brands of mitt-punchers and England was turning out the classiest men of several generations. Carpentier has been successful as a welterweight champion of France. For more than five years he has beaten the bantam, feather, light and welterweight boxers on the other side of the channel, as well as the best of the native French crop. Since he began fighting he has never been knocked out of his feet, and as for seriously shaking him up, no less an authority than Young Josephs, the holder of the Lord Londsdale belt, declares that he believes it impossible.

Carpentier's last fight in the welterweight class was in his recent battle with Young Josephs in London, when the latter's second round was spoiled at the finish of the tenth round. Before that time the English champion had taken the most one-sided of his battles with Josephs. From the first to the last round with Josephs is not, perhaps, a world-beater, but he is a good, tough hard-hitting boy who was believed to have excellent chances for any other welterweight in the world. He was so good that his backers were laying odds of six to four on his clinches a few hours before his clash with the Frenchman. Keeping this in mind, it will give you some line on Carpentier to look into his battle with Josephs. From the first to the last round with the exception of a single blow, the English champion never laid a dangerous glove on his opponent. As early as the second round, Carpentier, with his uppercuts, had Josephs, the toughest of the tough, in serious trouble. Before Josephs had been down eight or nine times, and only his remarkable ability to assimilate punishment saved him from a knockout. Carpentier absolutely toyed with his supposedly able opponent, and at the finish was as fresh and unmarked as when he jumped through the ropes before the first round. This, despite the fact that he had been seriously weakened by two days of practically starvation to bring him down to the limit. After the fight Young Josephs said to me: "Carpentier is absolutely the best man I have ever seen. I found it utterly impossible to reach him because of his wonderful defenses, except on one occasion when I caught him flush on the jaw with as hard a punch as I am capable of delivering. It never even knocked his head back."

In style Carpentier reminds one slightly of Jimmy Clabby. He does not cover up like the American boxer, but there is the same lightning-like change of pace that is so dangerous to any unwary opponent. The Frenchman's best punch is a right uppercut, which he can deliver from any angle, and which travels so fast it is impossible to follow it with the eye. He also has a straight right and left uppercut either of which is good for a knockout, and a damaging straight left. He is a cool, deliberate fighter, a great ring general, and although he carried into the ring the whole bag of little courtesies for which the French are famous, he can be cruel and unsparring in his punishment of an antagonist.

LARRY CONNOLLY.
The great number of fans who remember Larry Connolly's fine work as backstop for the Marathon baseball team last season will be pleased to hear that he is making good as a polo player in Providence, R. I. A Providence paper in speaking of a recent game, gives Connolly great credit for his work on the forward line, which did much towards winning the game for his team. The team on which Connolly is playing is called the Alcos and they are well in the lead in the four team league standing, having won seven games and having not yet been defeated.

Successful Function.
In Fairville Methodist church last evening a successful supper was held at which Rev. W. W. Wallace, a returned missionary from China, was present. In the course of the evening Dr. Wallace delivered an interesting address on the revolution being waged in China. Rev. J. H. Arupp, secretary of the Methodist Missionary Movement, and Rev. Dr. Flanders, were also present and spoke briefly. A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Mr. Wallace for his interesting address, and also to the ladies of the Missionary Band, who provided the dainty supper.

CONVERSION OF THE HEATHEN IN CANADA
The Rev. J. H. Arupp, the secretary of the Methodist Laymen's Missionary association, addressed a large gathering in the Portland Methodist church last night in the interest of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. Rev. J. D. Marr, the pastor of the church, presided, and the speaker was introduced by the Rev. Dr. Flanders.

The Rev. Mr. Arupp's address was particularly on home missions, and he showed the opportunities that existed in the home churches for the people of Canada to assist the foreign element. God had waited many centuries for the home church to send out and help the heathen, but now He is causing the heathen to come here, and this affords work for the home church, and it is possible that these heathens may be converted and sent back as missionaries. The speaker dwelt at some length on the question of the heathen in Canada and stated that he had been in a heathen temple on Canadian soil where they worship their idols. That might be taken as a mockery, but it might also be taken as an opportunity for the home workers.

He said that if the men of the church would only grasp the missionary problem with the same degree of earnestness and set themselves toward solving the task the missionary problem would be solved.

He closed with a strong appeal to the men to give to their money, but themselves for all missionary enterprises and efforts to consecration to the life of Christ.

WALTER CAMP'S ALL-AMERICAN FOOTBALL ELEVEN FOR 1911

TOP—Duff, Fisher, Wendell, Hart, White, Ketchum.
BOTTOM—Devore, Dalton, Howe, Bomelsier, Thorpe.

(Walter Camp, who picks the all-American eleven team, has been Yale's last word in football for 30 years. He is on the rules committee. He played for Yale and his son is now on the varsity. Camp edits Spalding's football guide. His all-American team is considered the country's best.—Editor.)
By Walter Camp in Tuesday's Collier's Weekly.
Not a westerner was placed on Walter Camp's all-American eleven. His selection is printed on this page, through the courtesy of Colliers, out today.
The season of 1911 was one of miracles. Favorites lost; nor was there consistency in these upsets. Principal contests were lost by fumble or fuke.
The forward pass was no more prominent than of old. It was not productive of spectacular plays. The outside kick was a matter of luck.
The season will cause discussion of the rules and four instead of three downs, within the 25 yard line, will be advocated.
Carlisle took big chances on attack while Princeton took no chances.
