MORE FIRES IN NORTH END YESTERDAY

GOLDEN BALL CORNER HAS SEVERAL FIRES

Both are Said to Be the Work of Firebugs.

DAMAGE IN NEITHER CASE WAS GREAT

The action of the police in bringing before the court a number of the public in general in searching out and punishing the guilty parties seems to have little effect on the incendiary work which has sprung up in the city, and the fire bugs are still at work flourishing their destructive brands.

While evidence of incendiarianism has been found in many sections of the city the number of fires in the North End, which have been traced to the work of firebugs is greater than in any other particular quarter of the city.

About six o'clock last evening a fire was discovered burning in a barn the property of St. Peter's church, situated in the rear of the dwelling of the Redemptorist Fathers. In response to an alarm from Box 123, the North End fire department arrived on the scene. The fire was located in the upper story of the barn, and soon worked its way through the roof. After the hose had been plying on the flames for about half an hour the firemen had the fire under control. The horses and carriages which were on the ground floor of the building were removed before any damage had been done. Besides the destruction to the building itself, a quantity of loose hay was burned, the damage, about $150, is covered by insurance.

To all appearances the barn was clearly a case of incendiarianism. A few minutes before six o'clock Brother Benedict was in the kitchen of the young lady known as the widow of a shadow of a person passing outside. It was not unusual for boys of the St. Peter's parish to go to the rear of the building to do their work, and thinking that it was one of the young ladies known as the widow of a shadow of a person, he saw a strange boy in the yard. As soon as he had caught a glimpse of him he ran hurriedly out into Douglas street and, on going to the gate, the brother saw him running in full speed towards Main street. The boy was slightly built and about fifteen years of age. Brother Benedict did not suspect anything was the matter until he returned to the building and, hearing the crackling of wood a few minutes later, turned to the windows to see smoke shooting out the sides of the building. A telephone message was sent to No. 5 station and the apparatus arrived after an alarm was rung in from Box 123.

The side gate leading to the yard on Douglas street was open during the afternoon, and it is thought that the boy slipped in this gate and, entering the barn by the front door, which was open, set fire to the loose hay in the loft.

A week ago last evening a fire, which showed positive proof of incendiary origin partly burned the St. Peter's school.

Another night

About eleven o'clock last evening a fire burned a barn on Metcalf street owned by Walter Murphy and rented by Pollock and Robinson. It is

WATER DEPARTMENT IS DOING MUCH WORK

The Department of Water and Sewerage is carrying on a lot of work this summer and good progress is being made on the various jobs. There are more streets torn up at the present time in the city than probably during any other summer in its history. The outlet for the Adelaide street sewer will be completed next week and work will be started on culvert across Newman's Brook, which will be built of concrete and so arranged as to carry the sewer pipe and to form part of a new bridge sometime in the future. The work on Douglas street is proceeding satisfactorily. The men who have taken contracts for making re-walls of water mains have all started work, and some parts of the city streets present a rather busy scene.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday we will sell at sale prices Untrimmed and Ready-to-Wear Hats, Flowers for trimming purposes in the newest colorings. This is our second midsummer millinery sale and you are sure of bargains. Visit the millinery department of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd.

Alarm was rung in from Box 123 and the firemen made short work of extinguishing the flames. The horses were taken out of the barn before the fire had gained any headway. The loss, which is partly covered by insurance, is about $150.

Frank Hann, sergeant of Police, said last evening that the fire in his mind was intentionally set. That portion of the barn which was burned was used only as a place for storing lumber. No hay was in that part of the building, and a kindle fire would be necessary to set the barn.

Mr. Gervan, who was one of the first to see the fire, said last night that she saw a man running from the yard when the fire was first discovered, but she was not sure that he had not run from some of the neighboring houses.

While going to the fire on Metcalf street last evening a horse attached to No. 4 hose to the corner of Elgin street, and slid along the paved street, receiving a wound in the hind leg. The horse was rescued by No. 4 station, where his injuries were attended to.
