FOR THE TILLERS OF THE SOIL.

THE DAIRYMAN.

The recent rise in the prices of feed-stuffs has played havoc with the makers of milk who are bound by a contract price, says The Breeder's Gazette.

It is reported from one of the dairy districts near Chicago that a loss of nearly 35 cents a can is now suffered by the farmers who contracted their milk for the winter at $1.15 per can, as fixed by the Milk Shippers' union. The prospect of meat and milk making does not ordinarily afford enough profit one year with another to enable its followers to recoup the loss of one season with the profits of a previous or subsequent season. The price of living had been forced down to so low a basis in cities that the farmer worked on a very small margin of profit.

A very marked advance in the cost of his feedstuffs was accompanied by a corresponding rise in the price of his marketed products close to the home. Relief is possible only through an advance in price to the consumer, and it is for the most part sufficiently prosperous to share with the farmer the loss resultant from an abnormally unfavorable crop season. In a year of great prosperity the merchant and the manufacturer can generally lay by a surplus against a season of dull trade, but the American farmer has for years been working on so close a margin that he has not been able to do this except in cases which may properly be termed exceptional, considering the vast number in which the opposite is true. No reason exists why city people, with increased incomes consequent upon the war, should not be able to buy milk at a lower price than they are now paying. They have had cheap milk and cheap meat, and it will hurt them at the present time to enlarge their appropriations for these necessities of life.
