Wanted Money Transferred Before Marriage PLAINTIFF NOT THERE

enced by Friends in Bringing Suit--Judge Says This in Jus-Went to the Courts.

pearance.

"So she and her brother-in-law went to his house. She looked through the window and saw him. They went in and as soon as he saw them he seemed suddenly overcome, and declared that he could not marry. He said he was ill, and could not think of wedding. So the plaintiff and her brother-in-law went home, and subsequently the plaintiff received a letter from the defendant. It related chiefly to his health and was burned. On Nov. 25 the plaintiff wrote another letter to the defendant. It was kindly, and the writer appeared concerned about the defendant's health."

Judge McLeod produced the letter, and read extracts.

read extracts.
"Now this letter of itself," said his hon or, "does not strike me as being the kind of a letter a young lady would write under TO HEAR VERDICT plaintiff, in which she complained that the defendant had treated her badly. One of the letters bore date Dec. 3.

"On the evidence, I feel obliged to con-defendant promised to give the plaintiff chide that the plaintiff refused to go on his money before marriage. The defendant with the marriage ceremony, unless the defendant with the marriage ceremony, unless the defendant first transferred the money he had in the bank to her." Judge McLeod gave his decision against the plaintiff, Miss Ethel Gibbons, Wednesday afternoon, in the breach of promise case brought by her against George Rowley, the eighty-three-year-old Carleton resident.

In rendering the decision, he spoke for about half an hour, and expressed regret that the case had come before the courts, and am constrained to say that this woman, Ethel Gibbons, in bringing suit, was influenced by her friends. I say this in justice to her, for she conducted herself in court with much propriety." His honor then formally concluded with a decision against Miss Gibbons, and the court adjourned.

Governor Guild announced the appointment of five members today to make up this commission. Besides Miss Keller, who will serve on the commission for four years are: Dr. E. A. Hartwell of Boston, five years; Miss Annetta P. Rogers of Boston, three years; Dr. J. H. Matte, of North Adams, two years, and Robert L. Raymond, of Milton, one year.  Under the act of legislature, the new commission may establish a bureau for the employment and registration of the blind; for the education of adults in the useful arts and trades, and for the establishment of workshops in which the blind may be employed and made self-sustaining.  Miss Keller wrote to Governor Guild today, in part as follows:  "It is an event charged with great meaning to all the sightless and to their friends who have thought, planned and labored so earnestly for the betterment of their condition. At last my long hope has been fulfilled that the blind may be strengthened to master by the useful toil of their hands the calamity which has robbed them of their equality with their secing fellow citizens."  Equity Court.  Application was Thursday afternoon made to Mr. Justice Landry, sitting in the equity court room, for a supersedeas to set aside an absconding debtor's warrant issued by his honor on June 21 to the sheriff of St. John and directed against the estate of Leonard B. Jufts, lumber dealer, of this city. The warrant was issued upon the application of J. E. Humphreys, of Petitodiac, and the application made yesterday afternoon was founded on the ground that Mr. Tufts was neither an absconding nor a concealed debtor. It is	was talked about, and from my view of the evidence there was not any new agreement or contract entered into. What was said was just a continuance of what had been agreed upon."  Judge McLeod here read the two counts in the plaintiff's declaration, and mentioned the Franklin vs. Franklin breach of promise case in a Massachusetts court.  "But I do not think," resumed his honor, "that the evidence in that case covers this case."  He further sketched the circumstances succeding Miss Gabbons' return from Boston. "The plaintiff wanted the defendant to move to Portland," he said, "but he did not wish to do so. He suggested that he pay for her board in Portland, and that he would live on at his own home in Carleton. As to the question of money, if my memory serves me, the defendant was asked by the plaintiff to go to the bank and transfer his money to her. The amount in the savings bank, I believe, was $6,000. The plaintiff made complete or partial preparations for her wedding, but it seems that the defendant cased coming to see her.
